allegiance. . .

A simple sign may point to the building known as Bishop Miege. Once here, though the students see other signs more subtle in their directions. One of the most subtle of these signs is spirit. To the visitor the spirit is obvious, whether at a pep assembly or in a classroom. These signs tell him - "This is Bishop Miege High School, its faculty, and its students."

Remembered along with football games, assemblies and major school activities will be the personal trials and triumphs that made the year of '67 unique for each student and each faculty member. The seniors and freshmen will always remember the loss they felt when Maxine Cramer and Kenny Lutz died. In this aspect the Spirit of '67 was dampened yet united more closely.

Spirit of Learning

This year new methods of teaching were used to make learning more interesting for the students, and teaching more enjoyable for the faculty. The student's response was astonishing. Willing to help achieve a better unity, they went to their teachers not only with matters of homework, but also problems of their own.

The faculty, solely responsible for a new understanding, together with the student's co-operation, developed a far better relationship at Miego than there has been in previous years.

Father motivates the spirit of learning through class discussion.

Principal Is Nucleus

The nucleus of school activity is our principal, Father Robert Sullivan. This year he sought to instill spirit not only in the student body, but also in the faculty and administration.

Father's goal, which he successfully reached, was to become closer to the students. This year he did everything possible to put an end to the myth that a principal must be a formidable figure in the minds of the students, and he succeeded in this undertaking, too. In order to have more contact with the student body, he worked into his busy schedule two Religion classes. It was not an easy step to go from being principal back to being a teacher and, at the same time, to keep abreast of the demanding tasks of chief administrator. It was thought by some that problems might arise with this regarding the students' reactions to having the principal for a teacher. This fear, however, proved to be unfounded. Any doubts students may have had were dispelled by Father Sullivan's sincere and personal approach to teenagers' problems. By treating them as equals, he gave students someone with whom to identify.

This year seemed to be a year for changes; besides those in Father himself, he brought about many changes in the school and its policy. One very obvious alteration was the shorter day. The purpose was to make more time for outside help available to students. Another unique change affected National Honor Society members; they were allowed optional attendance at their classes in order that they could do outside research or sit in on other classes that interested them.

Through the efforts of our principal, Bishop Miede became a more unified school for all concerned with it.

Father portrays his desire for school unity at Homecoming Mass.

Of Spirit

An important role of a principal is counseling. Fr. Sullivan enjoys this task and readily gives advice.

Assuming his role as Vice-Principal, Mr. Frazier's specific duties include discipline and building maintenance.

Vice-Principal's Duties Divided

Mr. Dalton, Vice-Principal in charge of academics, tries to organize the perfect schedule for each student.

This year a change occurred in the administration: we had two vice-principals. It was felt that this task was too demanding for one person to handle, so the job was divided between Mr. Robert Frazier and Mr. Patrick Dalton. Their duties were clearly divided: Mr. Frazier was in charge of discipline and building maintenance; Mr. Dalton took care of academics and schedules.

The guidance department this year had a new addition. Mr. Messina took on the responsibility of college counselor. He advised college-bound seniors on which colleges to attend, available scholarships, and which subjects to take. He also advised other seniors on careers to pursue.

Sister Georgetta remained as head guidance counselor. She advised students on which courses to take, helped them to make necessary schedule changes, and advised them on any problems they had.

Mr. Messina, college advisor, also took charge of helping students prepare for college entrance exams.

Guidance Helps Students Adjust To School Life

Sr. Georgetta planned and organized programs for the students.

At Miego, as in all high schools, four years of English are required. In order to hold the student's interest and to keep lessons from becoming repetitious, teachers employed new methods of presentation and class projects in teaching English.

English III and IV were reorganized this year. During the first semester, upper classmen took courses in either basic or advanced composition which emphasized expository writing and improvement of written communication. For the second semester, each student chose the type of literature he wished to study. A wide variety was offered which included Mythology, contemporary novels, short stories, and several other types of literature. By choosing his own course, each student was able to study what interested him.

Underclassmen studied American literature and composition. Teachers emphasized the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading, and writing, with thinking as a basis for all four.

In order to prepare students for the business world a full schedule of business courses was offered at Miego. These included Bookkeeping, Typing I, Shorthand I, and Secretarial Science, which included Typing II and Shorthand II. In order to improve these practical skills, students used modern office equipment such as the dictaphone, adding machine, and electric typewriter. Teachers employed daily exercises in order to help students build up speed. They also gave lectures on innovations in the advancing business world in order that students be aware of these changes.

Students who did not wish to use these skills in pursuing business careers took courses in Notehand and Personal Typing. These semester courses were taught for personal use.

The study of languages opened the door to the understanding of the cultures of other peoples.

A deeper understanding of people in foreign countries was emphasized by the language department this year. The students were given a choice of three languages which they were encouraged to take. Latin, Spanish, and French constituted the languages offered.

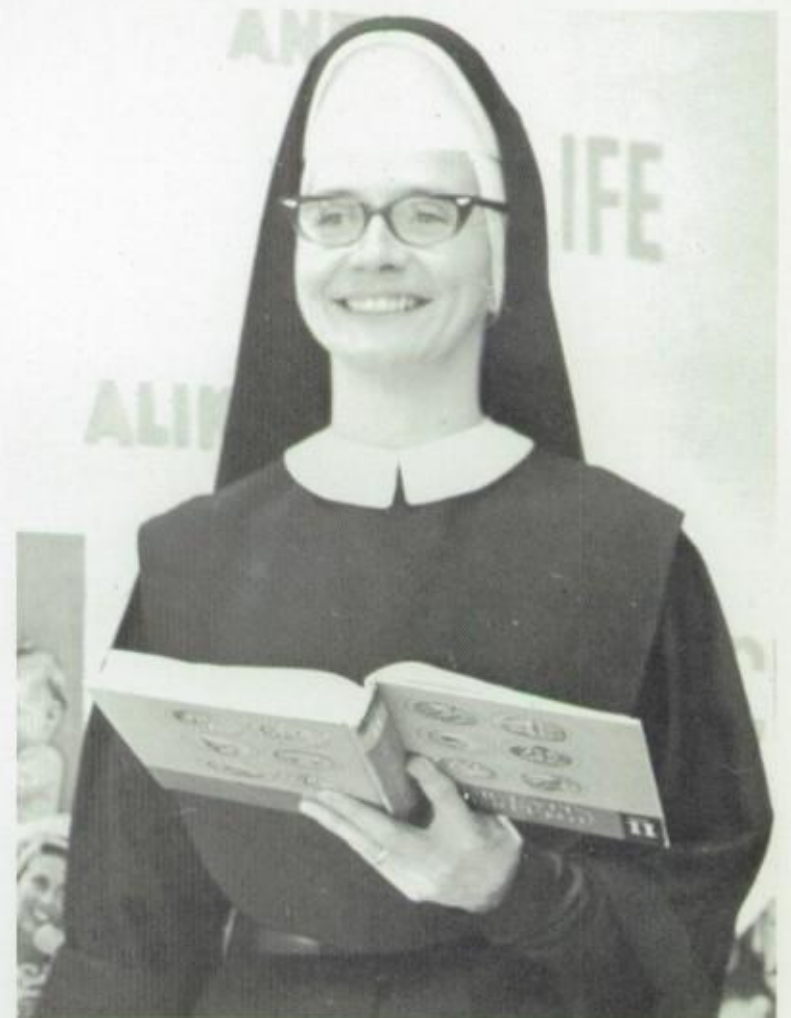

Each language class was taught in a different manner. The Spanish and French classes used similar methods; the Spanish teachers used the Audio-Lingual method, and French was taught by the Aural and Oral method, both of which employ the listening and repeating method.

Memorizing was only part of the Latin classes this year. The discovery method, taught by questions and answers was even more challenging. All of these methods helped to arouse the students' curiosity to know more about other people and their native tongues.

Mathematics not only comes in handy when drawing triangles, measuring distances, and plotting graphs, but it also trains the students to think logically and clearly.

The Bishop Miege math department was well equipped to help students acquire important math principles. A variety of courses were offered: General Math, Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II, and Analysis. For accelerated seniors, a course in Calculus was taught using a college-level text.

The most widely used methods of teaching were testing and discovery. Students were encouraged to "learn by doing," accomplished by working independently in solving problems before seeking help.

Observation And

Miege's students delved into the mysteries of human knowledge in the various science courses offered this year. Five different courses were taught.

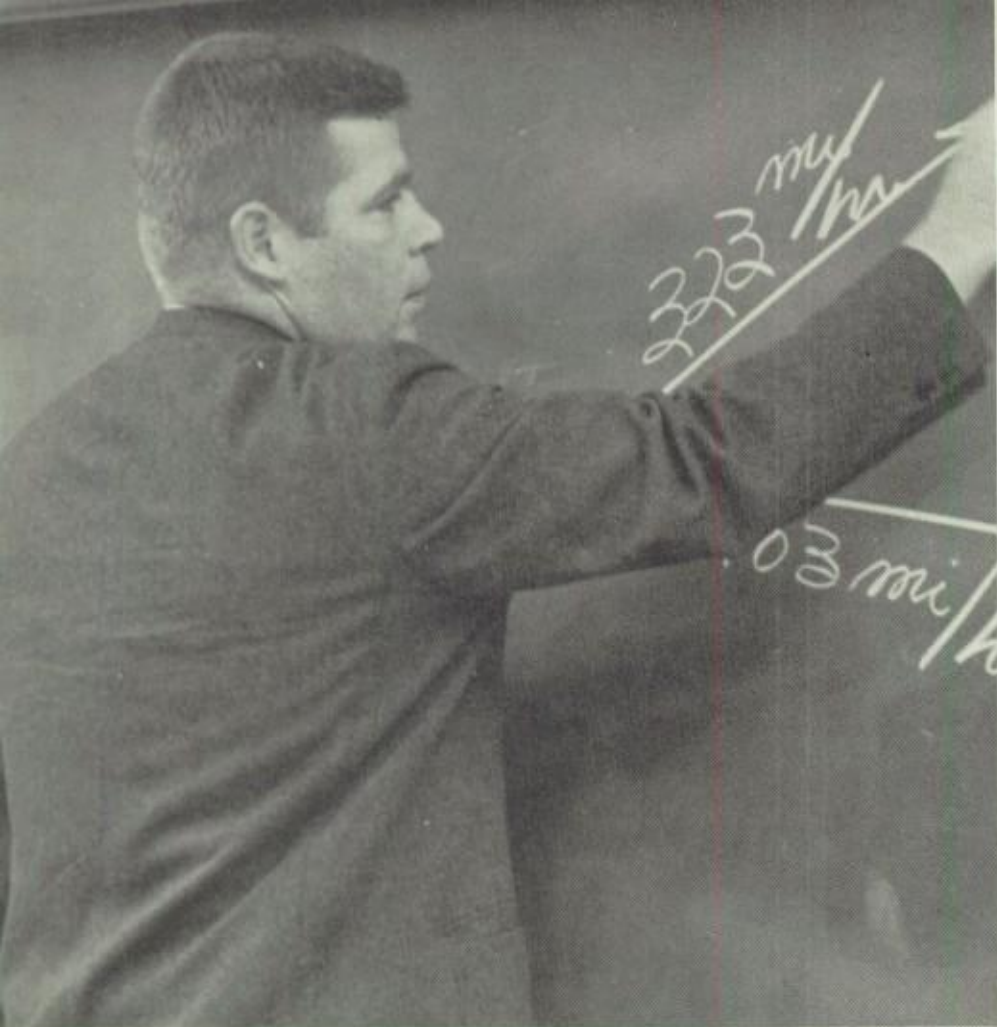

"Science On the Move" was the new text used by Science I classes. The text covered four major areas: Chemistry, Biology, Physics, and Space, giving a basic background in all four to the students.

Evolution, DNA, and multicellular organisms were terms familiar to Biology students this year. Through the use of an up-to-date text, laboratory experiments, audio-visual aides and class discussions the students became involved in the understanding of scientific problems concerning living organisms.

Biology II was a new course this year. Experiments were conducted daily and the results were recorded in lab notebooks.

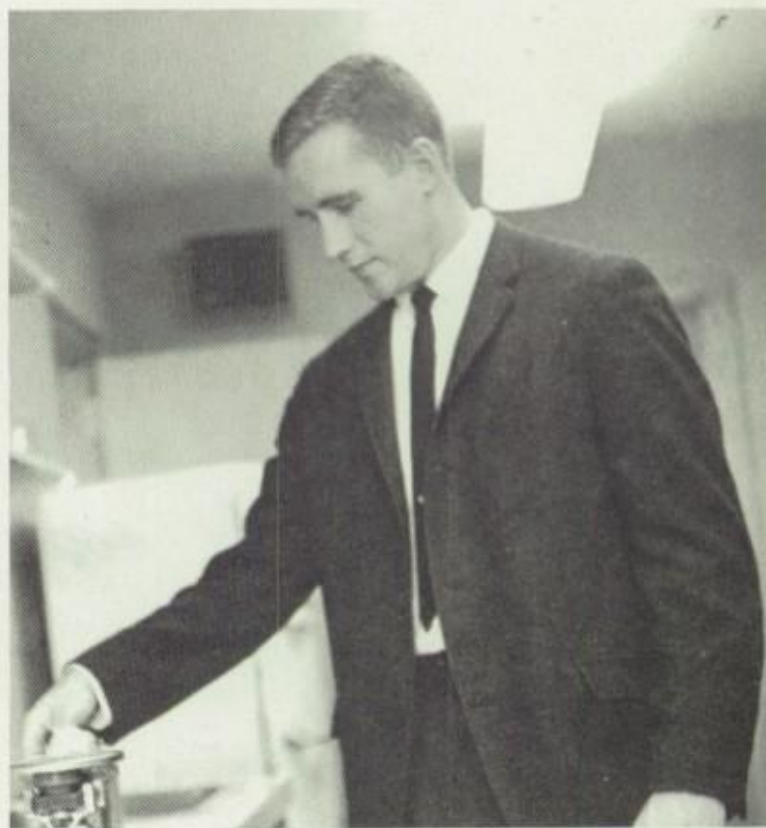

The nature of the universe was explored in Physical Science classes. This course presented the basic principles of all the physical sciences (Chemistry, Physics, Astronomy, and Geology).

Chemistry was offered to juniors and seniors; all classes were accelerated. In them, the aspiring "chemists" investigated the properties of nature through use of a text and through laboratory experiments.

SISTER ALOYSIUS — World History, American History

MR. FIORELLA — American Government, Latin I, World History

MR. KING — American History, American Government

SISTER MAUREEN — English, American History, Social Studies

Linking the past with the present was a major goal of the Social Science department.

Freshmen and sophomores were offered World History, which included European history and the early civilization of Asia.

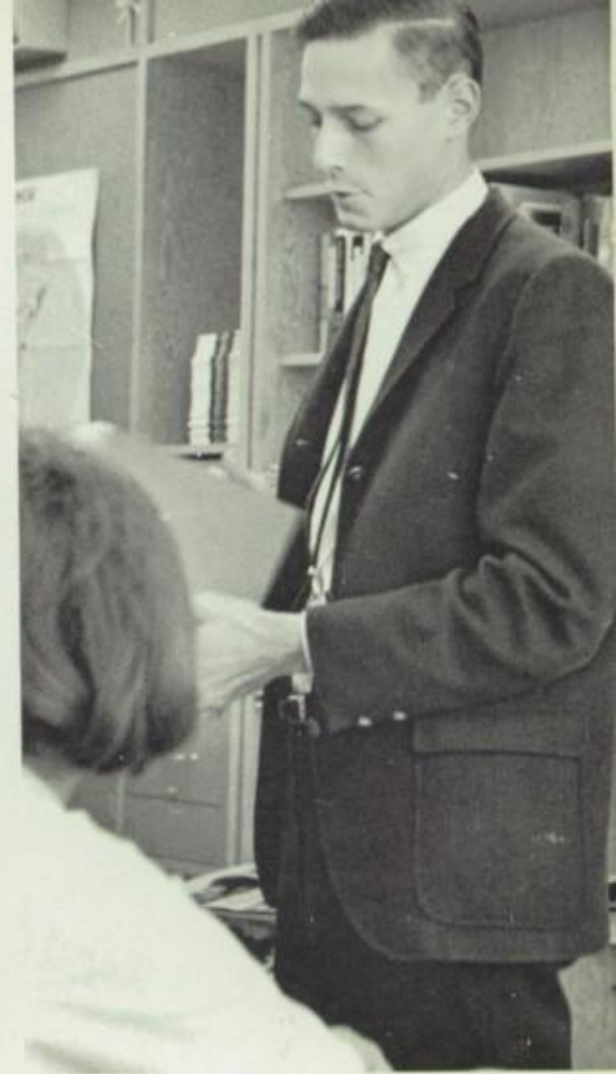

American history, a course required for all juniors, dealt with the discovery and the growth of America. The Revolutionary war, Civil War, and the Constitution were topics highlighted.

All seniors were required to take American Government. This course analysed the basis of our government—the Constitution. The laws and traditions the American people abide by were also included in the first semester. Second semester was divided into three topics for government students. They studied Communism, Civil defense, and economics. This gave them a well-rounded basis in Sociology.

New this year was Social Studies IV, taught by Mr. Reardon. Only students who had completed all other social studies courses were allowed to take it. They had no text, instead, they studied current events. Students were permitted to study any phase of current events which interested them, and they were required to make weekly progress reports on their studies.

MR. REARDON — American Government, Social Science IV

MR. MESSINA — World History, Advanced Math

MR. MCGILL — American History, American Government

While some students were developing their minds, others were perfecting themselves in the field of Vocational Arts. Through Clothing, the girls had a chance to express themselves by creating a new fashion, and the boys learned the principles of house design in Drafting. Speech and Music allowed the student to gain poise in front of audiences. Classes in Music Appreciation tried to listen to all forms of music and evaluate them. Finally, Phys. Ed. helped keep students fit while they also learned good sportsmanship.

At the end of the year final results were shown in form of an art display and fashion show. Speech classes will have performed to many appreciative audiences, making the whole program worthwhile.

Ecumenical Movement

Highlights Religion Courses

Fr. Hasenkamp and Fr. Zawacki build up each other's morale before attempting their next class.

The Ecumenical Movement in the Catholic Church was the topic for discussion in this year's Junior and Senior religion classes. During their semester on the "Church In the Modern World" the students obtained a practical use of religion as regards our modern society. "Love and Marriage" was the course offered second semester. This subject involved relationships with other people.

Underclassmen tried to discover how they fit into God's plan of life. They re-evaluated the sacraments from a new perspective, that of a modern high school pupil. This gave more meaning and purpose to the liturgy.

Mr. O'Connell's psychology classes helped students to understand the basic reasons for their actions. This year's advanced classes used a college level book. Group discussions and special reports were part of the required work.

Logic introduced students to the science of correct thinking. Recognition of fallacies and analysis of arguments were emphasized.

Fr. Lickeig, Fr. Krische, Fr. Burger, Fr. Sumpter, and Fr. Doeble discuss amusing anecdotes from their classes.

As head of the office, Mrs. Scofield handled all business transactions for the school and assisted Father Sullivan in many areas.

Mrs. Koob worked exclusively in the guidance department this year, handling all records and transcripts.

Although this was Mrs. Gannon's first year at Miego, she proved herself indispensable in the daily functions of school life.

Spirit Of Participation

Through Student Congress, clubs, and special projects, greater unity was achieved within the student body. These extracurricular activities allowed students to exhibit their enthusiasm and spirit of cooperation. Participation helped all to develop the important qualities of leadership, teamwork, and creativity.

Honor M, a new addition to the Varsity Pep Club, has been successful in completing its new activities proposed this year.

Each member of the Freshmen Pep Club worked hard this year by attending all the Freshmen, Junior Varsity, and Varsity games. Each girl had to accumulate a certain number of points in order to become a member of the Varsity Pep Club next year.

The Freshmen Pep Club was distinguished from the Varsity Pep Club by their outfits. They wore their gray uniform skirts with a red sweater.

Under the leadership of President John Silady, the Student Congress effected many projects. One was the one-day exchange programs with area schools, these including Ward, Rockhurst, and Immaculata. Other STUCO projects included a patriotism assembly, a new and improved school directory, and the sponsorship of the three foreign exchange students. Another successful project was the Chocolate Sale, which made a large addition to the STUCO bank account.

The Student Congress Committees were very active this year. An all school clean-up day was sponsored by the Beautification Committee. New this year, the Publicity Committee took charge of posters, announcements and the calendar in the cafeteria foyer. Another addition to STUCO was the Student Evaluation Committee which was composed of Non-Congress members, whose job was to review Student Congress projects, decide if they were successful, and decide whether or not the project was worth repeating in the future.

After months of rehearsal, Lisa Miller and Bill Weiss hoped, and succeeded, to do their best at the Talent Show tryouts.

Dressed in costumes, the student's excitement rises as they prepare to leave for the K.U. Medical Center for a Halloween Party.

To Community

The Service Committee has completed a year of which all can be proud. In appreciation of the outstanding work Miego students have done in the area, the Optimist Club in Corinth presented an award to the Service Committee.

Frequent visits to various homes for the aged, hospitals, and orphanages were only minor functions of the Service Committee. The major projects were launched by the kick-off in September. Three hundred and fifty students, dressed in costumes, took the spirit of Halloween into medical centers to the patients. Beginning on December 2 and continuing throughout the year on the first Friday of every month, canned foods were collected and given to families who were in need of food. The largest project and the greatest success was the Talent Show, sponsored and supervised entirely by the Service Committee.

Every year the Service Committee grows and improves, but this year it reached even greater heights in accomplishing its goals.

Kathy D'Agostino and Kim Kirkland spend the afternoon with patients at a convalescent home.

Unanticipated Weather

Pep, enthusiasm, and hard work made the 1966 Homecoming the best Miede has ever had.

Homecoming festivities began on Thursday night November 3 with a Mass sponsored by the senior class. After Mass, the choir led everyone in a lively pep rally.

Friday night, activities continued with the Homecoming game, this year against Hayden. Although it rained during the entire game, Miede spirit was not dampened, as the Stags defeated the Hayden Wildcats 30 to 7.

To conclude the Homecoming weekend, the dance was held on Saturday night. The theme this year was "Homecoming Past and Present," and decorations conveyed this theme through banners. This year's turnout of about 600 was the largest ever, with more alumni attending than in previous years.

The uniqueness of the Homecoming Mass, the victory at the game, and the success of the dance made Homecoming '66 the best ever.

Enrich Student Body

Silence pervaded the gym as the Kansas City Philharmonic began to play a concert.

This year Miede was fortunate to have several serious assemblies. It was the school's privilege to play host to several visiting groups. During the first assembly, The Pem Day Glee Club sang songs both old and new for the enjoyment of everyone. Later, the school welcomed the Rockhurst College Glee Club and Stage Band who were also very entertaining. At Christmas, Miede's own Choir and Glee Club sang for the student body. Miede students also planned and presented the Annual Patriotism Assembly. A visit from members of the Lyric Opera proved both interesting and educational. Perhaps the highlight of our serious assemblies was the presentation of the entire Kansas City Philharmonic for the entertainment of the students.

In addition to being enjoyable, these enabled the students to advance themselves culturally and to develop a true appreciation of fine art.

Mrs. Dennihan led the Choir during another successful Christmas assembly.

Paper Staff relaxes after deadlines are met.

And Paper Staffs

Broken scaleographs, lost copy, no headlines, cracked pictures, many headaches, and coming deadlines. . .haunted the HART Staff throughout the year. However, in spite of all difficulties encountered, every deadline was met, not with ease, but they were met; and a yearbook was made.

It was a never-ending job for the editors who this year took up residence in room 236. Although each member had his assigned task, nothing could have been accomplished without the cooperation and concentrated efforts of the entire staff.

It takes creative writing ability, humor, and much patience to put out a good newspaper, and this year's MIEGIAN Staff had an abundance of all of these. Perhaps this is why the MIEGIAN took second place in the Kansas City Photo-Journalism Contest judged by the KANSAS CITY STAR. They also attended several Journalism workshops and took a tour of the Artmaster Company to watch their paper go to press.

Moderators and editors of paper and yearbook staff meet to discuss final preparations of the year.

Journalists

National Honor Society was probably the most controversial subject at Miego this year. In order to preview the modular system, NHS members were given the privilege of optional class attendance. This experiment enabled students to have longer periods for research and study. The only stipulations accompanying this privilege were the maintenance of a "B" average and normal attendance at school.

Election to the National Honor Society is one of the greatest honors a Junior or Senior can attain. Eligibility requirements are a "B" average, and proof that the candidate is outstanding in the areas of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Another national organization open to Miego students is Quill and Scroll. The requirements for membership are a "B" average and outstanding work in the field of Journalism. This year's Quill and Scroll Awards were presented to members of the "Hart" and "Miegian" staffs.

Joe Dold

It is truly a great honor for one boy to be singled out to receive the much coveted Jerry Clifford Award. The recipient this year was Joe Dold. During his four years at Miego, Joe has participated in basketball and track. He received his letter in basketball as a sophomore and was co-captain of the varsity squad as a senior. Also he has been active in cross-country for three years. This award, in its fourth year of presentation, has cultivated sportsmanship and helped to carry the athletes through victory and defeat.

The purpose of Girls' and Boys' State is to seek out students with leadership qualities and to help them develop these qualities. Five students were chosen from the Junior class to spend a week learning about government. They not only discussed the workings of it, but actually participated by holding primaries, campaigns, elections, and finally, by legislative activities. Through Girls' and Boys' State, Miego was able to have more and better equipped leaders to bring organized government to their fellow students.

Seniors Singled Out For Highest Honor:

Aquinas Award

Seniors who have combined scholastic ability with character, leadership, and service to the school and community are chosen by the faculty members to be awarded the Aquinas Award. It is considered the highest honor at Miego, and since only five percent of the senior class are eligible, its recipients must truly be worthy. Those who receive it are in a sense immortalized, for their names are engraved on a plaque which remains in the trophy case for future students to see. Honors were bestowed upon students receiving this award at the Annual Awards Assembly, and again at graduation ceremonies.

Organization And Determination

Mark Culmination Of 1967 Jr., Sr. Prom

Teri Patterson caught in a more serious mood.

Flower carts, Topiary trees, and wishing wells were not the only preparations used to create the atmosphere of the Prom. Hard work and determination were first necessary, and the Junior Class supplied these. Lois Ruhl, having thought of the theme, along with the combined efforts of the committee chairmen, made all necessary arrangements far in advance. The early planning was the reason for the Prom being the success it was.

After months of planning and preparing, the long-awaited day at last arrived. As the couples arrived on Prom night, they entered into an atmosphere of enchantment; it was not that of the World War II Memorial Building, but that of a "Central Park by Moonlight."

The excitement mounted as the announcing of the 1967 Prom royalty drew near. The crowning of Queen Ann and King Daryl and their court highlighted the evening.

The Juniors were not the only ones getting ready for Prom night. The Seniors were making plans, too. This was their last Prom at Miego, and the Juniors were determined to make it the best they ever had. The Junior's unity and the cooperation they gave to this dance made it a very memorable event for themselves and for the Seniors.

Late in February the Juniors voted for Prom royalty, but the results were not announced to anyone until Prom night. The Juniors, as well as the Seniors, were anxious to know the results.

Joe Dold caught in his usual humorous mood.

Spirit Of Competition

Through the athletic program this year Stags developed a clearer concept of the true spirit of Miego. As on any team a feeling of unity, a mutual devotion to attain the same goal was achieved. Not only were the athletes affected by this feeling but it spread throughout the entire school. Besides the Pep Club and Moose Pack, the student body and administration supported the teams throughout the year. This spirit of unity developed through sports spread to all phases of student life.

This year's spirited Stag football team, under the direction of Coach Bob Frazier, came through with an even 4-4-1 record. Also guiding what Coach Frazier called the most improved team he's ever seen, were assistant coaches John Pat McGill, Ted Dickey, Bob Murphy, Len Mohlman and the team's only returning assistant coach, Steve Ryan.

This year's Stags, considered a small football team, were seemingly lacking in talent and experience but through much diligence and hard work offered a performance this season exceeding even Coach Frazier's expectations.

We thank the Stags for a most exciting and interesting season of hard-fought football.

Mike Mercer twists back for a Bob Hrzanak pass.

The offense, led by quarterback and most valuable player Bob Hrzenak, did an outstanding job in all of their wins this year. Only two times this season were the Stags held from being close to a win over their opponents.

The passing of Bob Hrzenak and the hard-running of backs Steve Scanlon, Rick Cain and Mike Mercer gave Miede an ample attack behind the blocking of such linemen as Terry Dunn, Gary Brenner and Bob Cellitti to name a few.

Junior Fullback Rick Cain bulls out of Cyclone tackle for a first down.

Stags provide "rough weather" for Ward Cyclones.

The Stags' defensive unit, although erratic at times, was very effective. In all of the Miede victories, the first-team dynamic defense did not allow their opponents a single tally.

The tough defensive line, composed of such stalwarts as Lineman of the Year Terry Dunn and Most Improved Player Gary Rittenhouse, were backed by the alert linebacking of Pat Larkin and John Shigouri. Complementing the unit was the speedy secondary corps consisting of Mark Geraghty and this year's co-captain Tom Koob among others.

J. V. offensive team proved to be STAGgering.—

"Many of the Junior Varsity boys have never played football before, but I feel that a number of these boys will probably play varsity ball next year," said Mr. Mohlman's Junior Varsity coach, in commenting on the team.

Although their first game didn't give much hope, the team never gave up. They steadily improved, as the players became more enthusiastic and the season progressed. Every boy won the respect of his teammates by doing his best in every game.

This year the offense ran a Wing T slot formation. The defense ran a Wide-tackle six, and used 5-2-4, and 6-2 formations.

Hank Bauer, Larry Thies, John Miller, and Mike Reilly suited up for Varsity this year, and will prove to be an asset to the team next year.

"Yes, it is definitely very promising for next year."

Coaches Mohlman and Murphy prepare strategy for upcoming J. V. game.

The freshman football team rode to the end of a victorious season, winning four games and losing only three under the reins of freshman football coaches Bill Reardon and Jerry Gannon.

At the Father and Son football dinner at the end of the year, Coach Reardon mentioned that he had thought that the line would be a better asset to the team than the backfield. But as the season progressed, he found that the backfield showed surprising strength.

Coach Reardon also noted that judgment could not be passed on the prospects of the team in the future. Although there were many outstanding players, there is room for improvement in all the members of the team.

Coach Zimola adds up another victory.

Jim Noon finishes first lap still going strong.

Due to the excellent coaching of Mr. Zimola and the leadership of captain Mike Bock, the Cross-Country team had a record season.

They came in third in the Lawrence-Sumner Meet, in the Ottawa Invitational, took second in the Rosedale-Olathe Meet, and made a good showing in the Shawnee Mission Invitational. They won the Turner Meet and came in first over Turner and Argentine, and also took first in the Paseo, Pem Day, and Rockhurst Meets. Coach, Captain, and team feel that if this season is any indication of our team for next year, our prospects are very good.

The eight members of the team showed enthusiasm, cooperation, and a spirit of competition which led them to success.

Intramurals Spark Enthusiasm

Possession of the ball changes hands as a pass is blocked.

Dick Soenen puts up a free throw for an extra point.

Last September when school began the Intramurals got right underway. Any boy from Miego who was interested in basketball and willing to give up his time after school, could play. Under the direction of Mr. Dick Henner ten teams were organized. The chief goal of each team was to be named champion of the school. After much hard work and enthusiasm the team, the Knicks, won. Towards the end of October tournament games were held between the winning teams. This event climaxed the Intramural season.

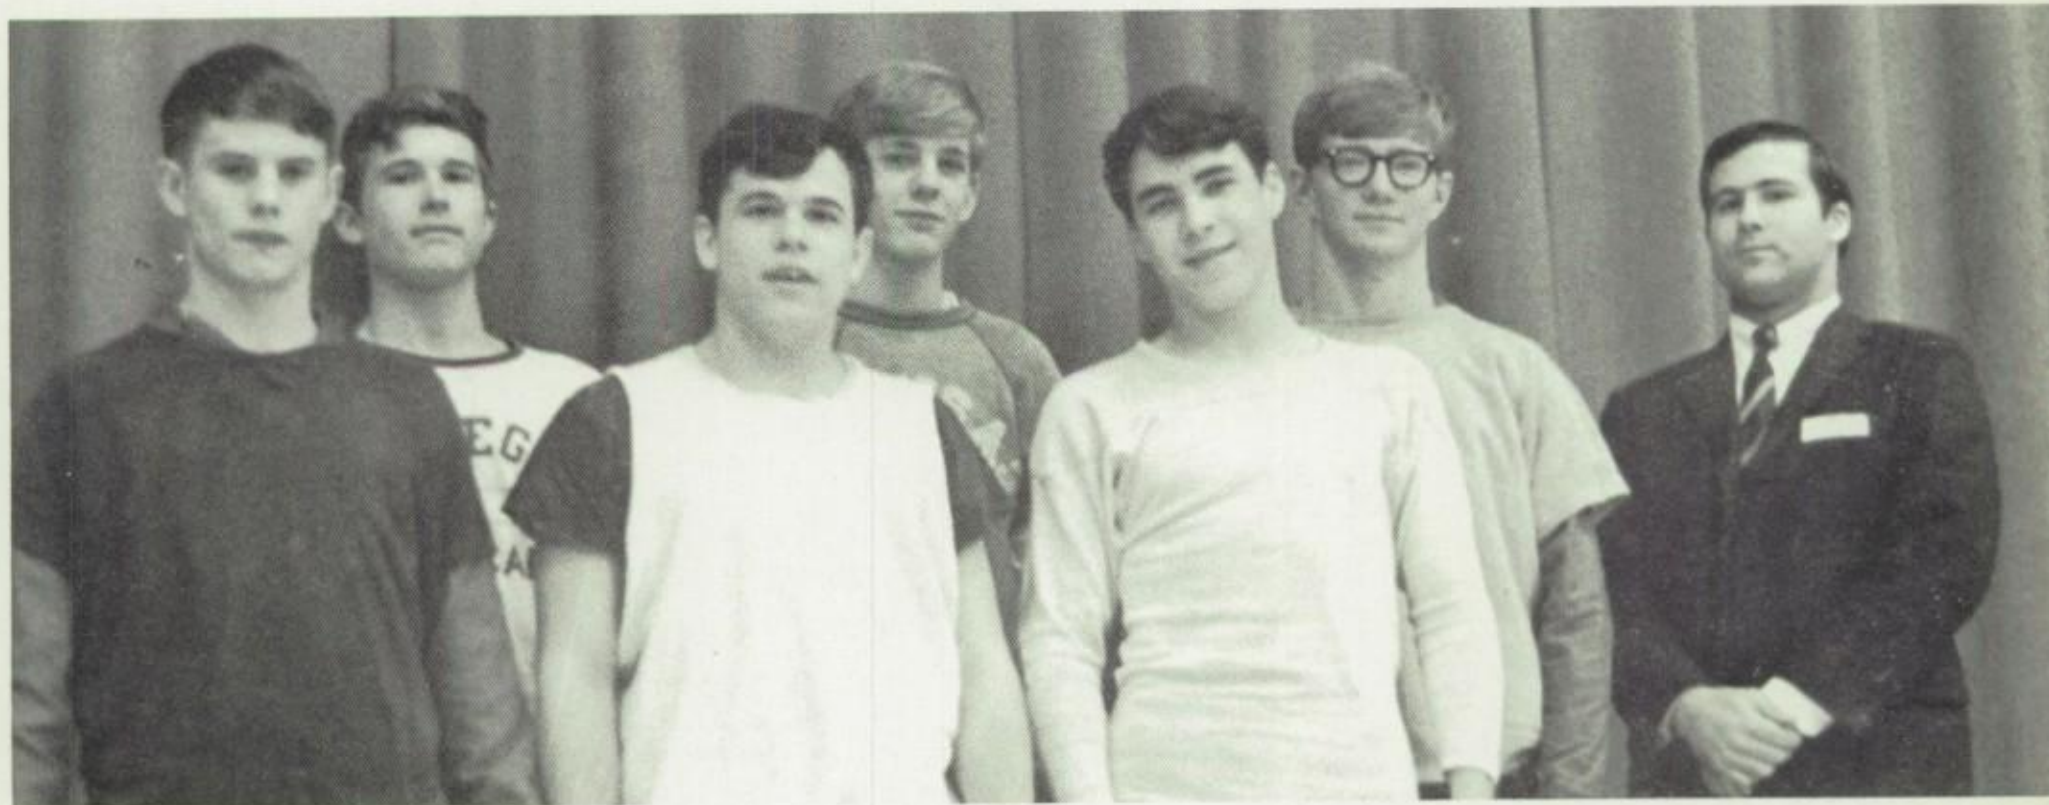

The ball goes up as helpless opponents look on.

Wrestling Widens Sports Program

Starting wrestlers were: Top row-S. Schowengerdt, D. Hickman, W. Hickman, Coach Ron Riley; Bottom row-M. Andwander, T. Rudloph, R. Bartowski. Missing: J. P. Hildebrand.

The wrestling team had a very successful opening year. For example, when Miego was matched against Pem-Day, who has had a wrestling team for seven years, the Stags were victorious, Miego 5, Pem-Day 4. Also, Wes Hickman and Mark Andwander took part in the District and Regional meets in Topeka.

With the expert coaching of Ron Riley, and with the outstanding start of this year, it looks as though wrestling is at Miego to stay.

With the 66-67 football season completed, it was time for the mighty Stags to begin another victorious soccer season. This year Coach Mohlman guided our toe-men throughout the new season. From six intramural teams, 44 players were chosen to make up Miede's varsity and junior varsity squads. There were approximately five varsity and three junior varsity games played this year. The opening games played against Rockhurst on January 7 at Swope Park.

Coach Mohlman seemed quite optimistic when questioned about this year's soccer team. He replied, "We're a young team with only eight seniors out, but with the great number of boys participating this year we have the potential for a very good season as far as our win-loss record is concerned."

Miege's 66-67 basketball squad substituted speed for height in putting together 15 wins against only seven losses, the best basketball record Miege has ever had. Praise must undoubtedly begin with Coach Jerry Gannon, who has developed the Stags into champions after only two years at Miege.

Mike Whitmore puts one up as the fans h-owl!

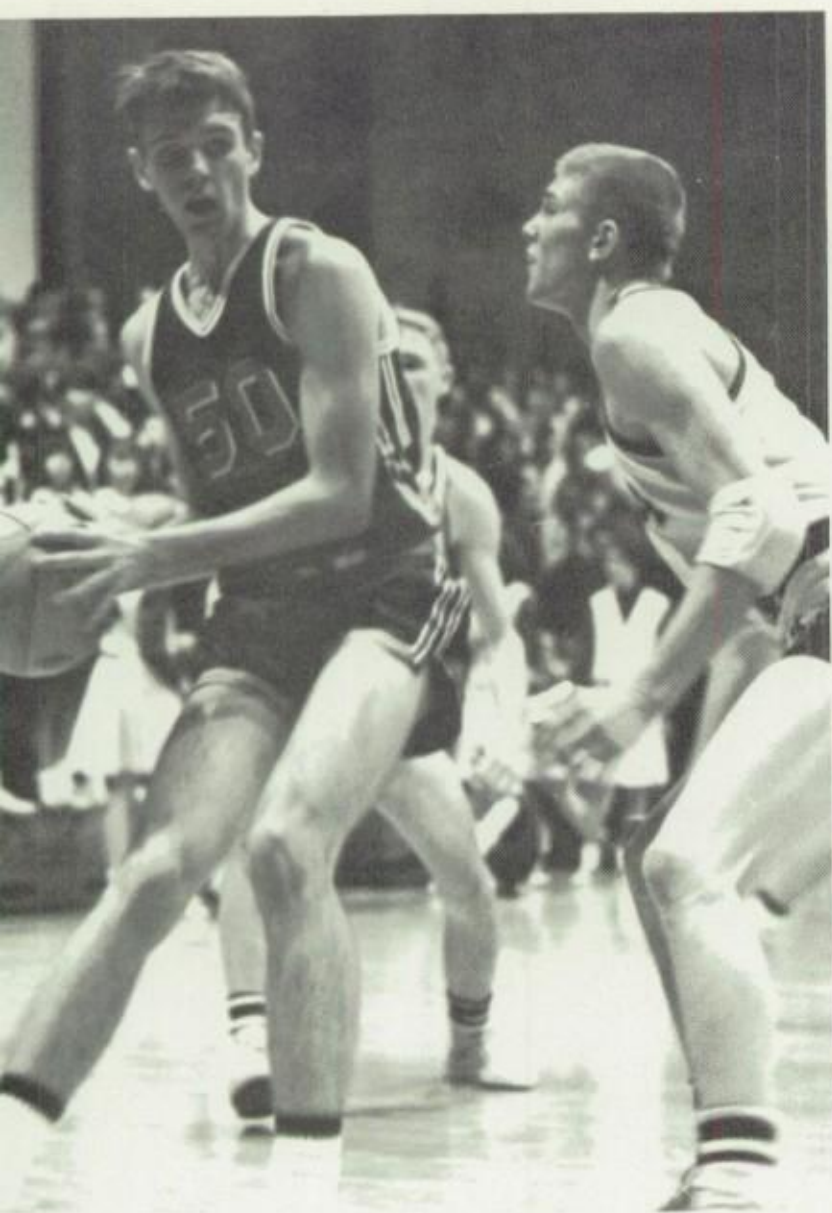

This year one of the contributing factors to the Stag's victorious season was the spirit displayed by the Moose Pack. Extra Coaches Improve Track Season

This season's track program has been greatly improved by the addition of extra coaches. This addition enables the track participants to have more attention and guidance by their specific group coach.

Head Coach Art Zimola heads the hurdle group and distance group. Bob Murphy guides the high jumpers and pole vaulters. The Stag javelin men and sprinters are led by Len Mohlman while John McGill runs the quarter-milers and broad jumpers. To round out the program, there is Steve Ryan who takes care of the shot putters and discus men.

In spite of losses from last year's squad, Miede is anticipating another successful season on the cinders.

Spirit of Unity

Many faces—each different, each unique. They remain individuals, yet they are not alone. They strive for union with their own age-groups, and with the other classes. All are a part of the Miego student body.

Senior leaders for '67 were Jim Gendron, President; Mary Hetzel, Secretary; Joe Dold, Vice-president; and Daryl Thies, Treasurer.

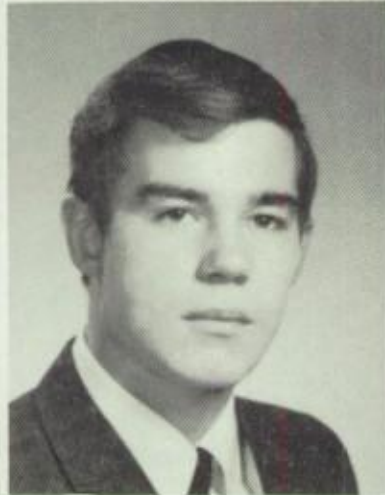

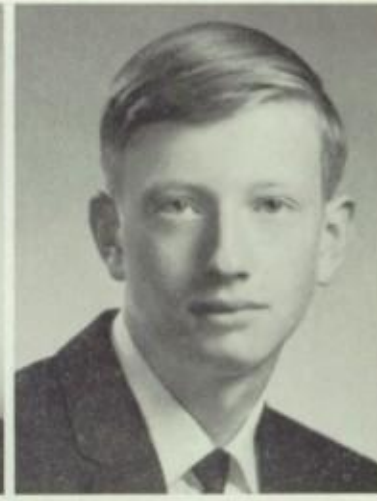

The Class of '67 ended their final year at Miego with as much pep and enthusiasm as they had when they started. Now as graduation nears we look back and remember all our anticipations, and joys of the last four years.

As upperclassmen we assumed new responsibilities, and with them came anticipation and joy. High hopes for our prom proved rewarding by being the highlight of our junior year. Through hard work and determination we were also rewarded by being the Class of the Year. As seniors this year our joys were many. We eagerly anticipated the arrival of our senior rings, pictures, and announcements in preparing for graduation.

We would like to thank the junior class for the wonderful prom they dedicated to us and to Father Sullivan and the faculty for all the endless hours they spent in helping us make our four years at Miego so rewarding.

All Right!

John, Bill, Tony, and Dave leave OUR mark on the newly painted lounge.

In most classes, there are two groups: those who are active in class and all-school activities and, those who are not. But this year, in the class of '68, this problem was nonexistent. Everyone worked together to make it the most successful year in the class' history.

Surely that traditional affair known as Prom was the hub of the spirit shown in this year's junior class. As in previous years, Prom was traditionally filled with its own headaches and happiness. But through everyone's effort the headaches were at a minimum, happiness at a maximum, and Prom was truly a great success.

But Prom was not the only project for the juniors this year. Other activities, such as the Junior's carnival booth, the scrubbing and waxing of the lounge floor and the Talent Show kept everyone busy all year.

In every aspect, the Class of '68 showed and further developed school spirit and unity. By showing the same enthusiasm and effort that won them the "Class of the Year" award last year, the Junior class contributed its share and more to make Miede the fine school it is.

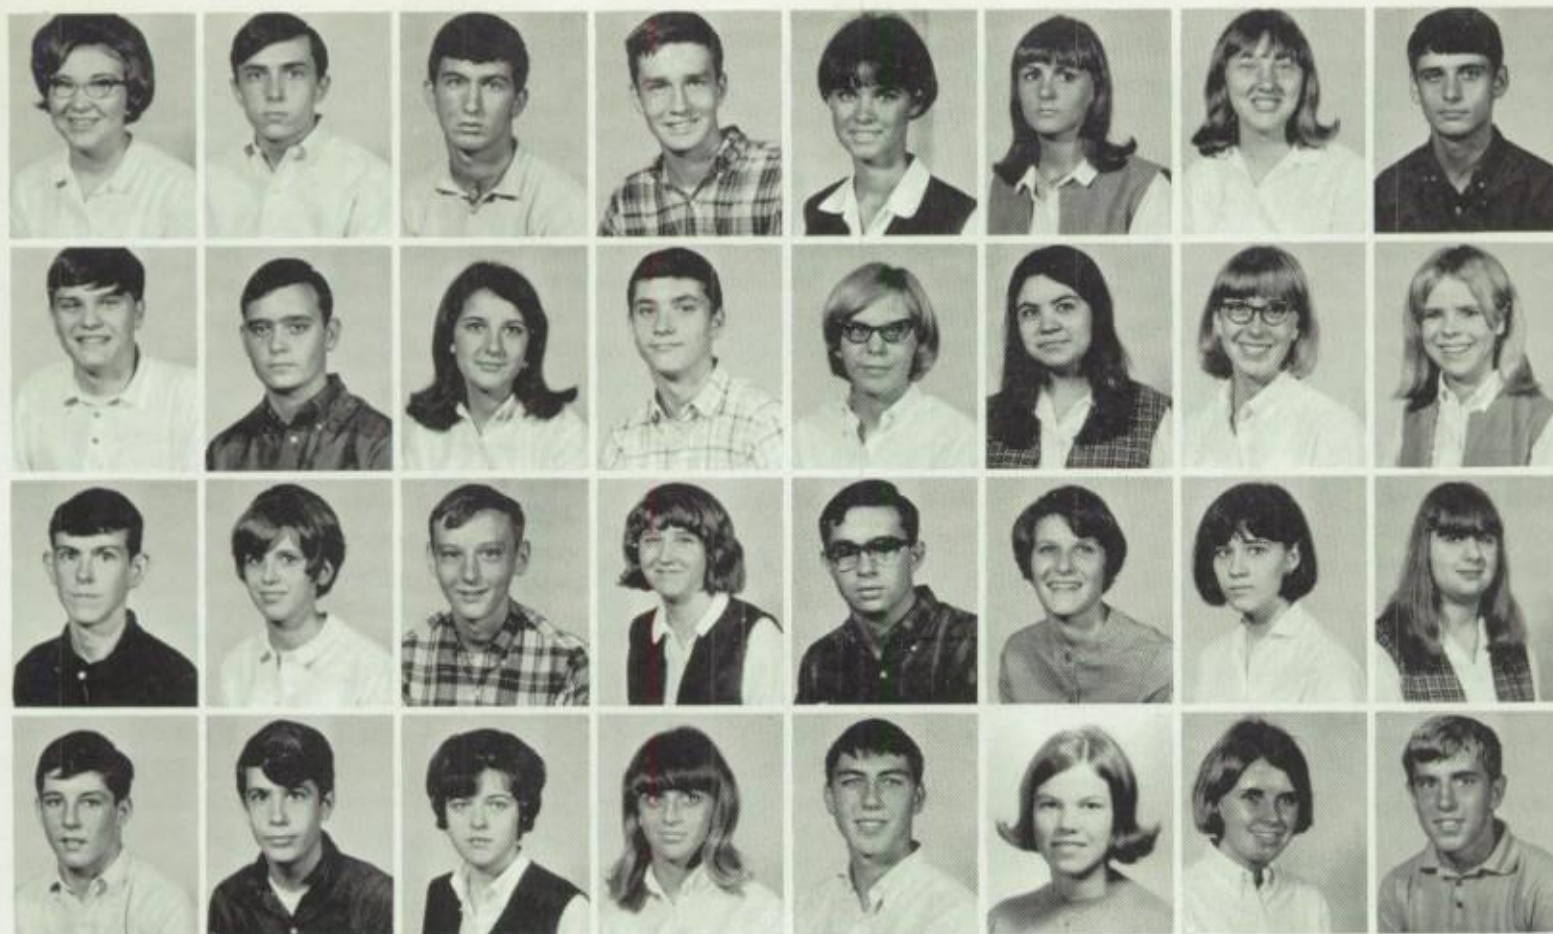

Enthusiastic leaders of the Junior Class were Barb Shannon Secretary; Jane Dewees, Vice-president; Tom Novick, Treasurer; and Ric North, President.

The Sophomore Class this year set as its goal greater unity among themselves and also with the other classes at Miego. Their first project of the year was a Bar-B-Que. This single project served their dual purpose: it enabled the sophomores to work together and show their cooperation; it also raised money which helped them to finance the Homecoming Platform. This, the Sophomores' second project, gave them the opportunity to work with the other classes in planning and carrying out these plans to produce a successful Homecoming. They also cooperated with the rest of the student body on cleanup day. As another class project they sponsored a mixer to which the rest of the student body was invited. This too brought them closer to their goal of greater class unity and further unity with the other students. It seemed that the Sophomore Class this year did not set their goals too high to reach, for through the hard work and cooperation they have shown, they truly deserve to be called "Miegians."

Freshman Class

The Freshmen, a very promising class, worked as a team from the beginning. They displayed their determination from the start and continued to do so throughout the entire year. Because of their hard work, the Freshman Class won first place in the Candy Sale. They didn't, however, stop with only one victory. They pushed ahead once again, in competition with the other classes, to win Clean-up Day.

The year wasn't all work for the Freshmen though. They had a mixer at the start of the year and attended all school activities second semester.

Freshmen quickly learn the traditional respect for the "Stag".

The Miegian

This year's newspaper staff has tried to make our paper worthy of the title it holds. . . THE MIEGIAN.

School unity was probably our main interest; to make the students feel that the paper belonged to the entire school, not to just a few; it is possessed by all and everyone has been invited to contribute. By mentioning and picturing as many different students as possible, the staff has supported and encouraged both individuals and groups by giving both equal recognition.

We have tried to bring to the students' attention Miego's weak points as well as its strong ones. By arousing the students' pride in our school, we hoped to encourage the continuation of school improvements and progress.

The paper was an instrument which entertained and informed. The staff tried to report not only Miego events, but also included activities from other area high schools. Athletic activities were given thorough coverage by our hard-working sports' staff. Through articles like "Feature Teacher", we have tried to develop a rapport between the students and the faculty. We hope that the paper has been a source of pride for all and that through it, these goals of school unity have become meaningful for all students.

THE MIEGIAN will be presented in the following pages with our hope that it will be a lasting reminder of the fun and excitement that took place during the 1966-'67 school year.

THE MIEGIAN

"OLD GLORY" VS RIOTS

Plastered across the front page of today's newspapers are headlines which read something like, "Students Picket White House," "Students Stage Riot on Campus," and "Teenagers Burn Draft Cards." From these anti-American activities by a minority of teenagers, our generation receives a bad image. To erase this bad impression, we must counteract these disreputable doings by positive, effective actions of our own. A good way to start is to renew our patriotism, which has become lax because we are in the habit of taking a lot for granted.

Miegians can play a large part in bringing back and instilling that determined patriotic pride, which carried Americans to success through many wars. A program promoting patriotism, can be initiated at Miego. We could have such activities as flag raising ceremonies on the front lawn, the singing of National songs, and projects to help the boys in Vietnam. Also, more meaning could be put in the now meaningless routine of reciting the Pledge of Allegiance, by reading a quote from an American statesman before the daily recitation.

To publically support and uphold the United States, which has done more for the freedom and prosperity of man than any other country, should be the duty of all Americans and not something displayed only in time of national emergency. Thus, Miegians should do a lot to spread this feeling of national pride in the community. So Miegians, let us not remain complacent like the majority of teenagers are now doing, but let us be innovators of something different and positive to overshadow the derogatory actions of some of our peers. As President Kennedy once said, "Every American today has his own contribution to make to the great fabric of tradition and hope which binds all Americans in a common faith in destiny."

OK, Miegians, What is your contribution?

THE MIEGIAN

Bishop Miego High School

Shawnee Mission, Kansas

Sept. 30, 1966

School Shapes Up

While students were vacationing from school this summer, things were shaping up at Bishop Miego. Improvements were made in many areas of the school campus: colorful curtains were put up in the cafeteria; the area between the football field and the school, which was a constant erosion problem, has now been asphalted; fences were built around the football fields; the school has been painted; shelves have been put in both boys' and girls' restrooms; and fluorescent lighting systems have been installed in the basement of the school.

The difficult work has been done, and the faculty feels that these improvements will instill in the students of Miego a sense of pride and value towards the appearance and upkeep of their school.

It is now up to the students to show whether or not the school will remain beautiful. ALL students must do their share to keep this school beautiful rather than scarred by vandalism.

STAG REBUTTAL?

This year at Miego we are faced with an acute shortage of debaters. Everyone wonders why, but so far no one has attempted to do anything about it. Perhaps, first of all, we should clarify the significance of debate, and then stress the importance of a debate team in a school the size of Miego.

As a course of study, debate is beneficial to the student who takes it. It teaches the methods of rebuttal and argumentation and how to apply them quickly and logically.

There is no question that there is definite talent at our school. Why, then, doesn't Miego have a debate team? Definitely one of the reasons is because a teacher has not been provided for the specific purpose of coaching the debate team. Because of the schedule and curriculum changes this year, the teachers who formerly had this duty cannot possibly take this added responsibility. Secondly, debate has never been considered very significant at Miego. This is probably because the majority of the students fail to realize that debate is an important facet of school life. A good debate team would promote healthy competition among schools and would publicize the fact that Miego excels in areas other than football, basketball and track. Last, but probably most important, is the general lack of initiative and co-operation on the part of the student body. Miego will never have a debate team if the students don't want it. Very few students who debated last year were willing to stay after school and work on it this year. Consequently, there are not even enough people to organize a good debate team.

So, fellow students, now is the time to take some positive action towards a debate team at Miego.

"And other seeds fell upon good ground and yielded fruit, some a hundredfold. . .", and so it is today in the fast pace set for success. There is opportunity for all, but we must break away upon our own if we are to gain triumph. Life is only what we ourselves make it.

Exchange Program Grows

The foreign exchange program has expanded this year with four new students, Chris Munch, Ivonne Rivera, Maria Elena Renteria, and Francisco Castro.

Both Ivonne and Maria Elena are from Guadalajara, Mexico. Although this is the second visit to the United States for Ivonne, she finds everything very new and interesting. Ivonne is staying with senior Carol Feldmann. She plans to become a bilingual secretary when she returns home, and is taking courses in shorthand and typing.

This is the first visit to the U.S. for Maria Elena, and she is very impressed with the friendliness of the people here. Malena is staying at the home of Mary Kay Marx, a former student of Miege. She also wants to become a bilingual secretary.

Chris came to Miege from Munster, Germany to study the American people and the American customs. Chris plans to continue her studies at the university in Munster when she returns home. She is now living with senior Cathy Daly.

Our fourth student, Francisco Castro, is also from Guadalajara. He came here recently as a tourist, and then planned to study for a year. He will continue his training to be a chemical engineer when he returns home. Francisco is now staying at the home of his uncle.

Leaders to Lawrence

On September 24, twelve delegates from Miege will attend a regional Student Congress workshop at Lawrence High, in Lawrence, Kansas. The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint more students in the area with student government. The delegates will learn student government through discussion groups headed by Student Congress members from this area.

AD GOAL SET

A general spirit of enthusiasm was invoked today in homerooms, as students received their final instructions for the 1966 Miege Yearbook Ad Campaign. This year's campaign will run from September 30 thru October 14.

The winning class this year will be rewarded with a free day, will elect the Yearbook Queen, and will receive competition points. Pictures of the top salesmen from each homeroom and each class, and also of the top salesman of the school, will be placed on a page in the Yearbook adjacent to the queen's picture.

All students are urged to bring in at least three $2.00 boosters or one ad in order to meet this year's goal of $6,000.00.

"Staters in Politics"

Boys' state was attended last summer by Tom Koob, Tony Dolman, Jim Gendron during the week of June 5-11. Girls' State was attended by Maureen Stapleton during the week of June 12-19. The site of Girls' and Boys' State was Lawrence, Kansas.

Sponsored by The American Legion Organizations, these students learned the meaning of citizenship and the process of running a state government.

The students were divided into political parties and held elections for positions in their "mock" government. Tony Dolman held the position of county judge and Jim Gendron and Tom Koob held the office of councilmen. Maureen Stapleton, a representative at Girls' State, took the position vice-chairman for the Nationalist County Party.

The 1966 Boys' and Girls' State came to a close with formal balls presided over by Governor Avery at which staters were honored guests.

In commenting on this year's campaign, John Bremser, student manager, stated, "It is every student's opportunity to contribute his share in making the 1966 yearbook the best Miege has ever produced."

MISS TO MRS.

Miss Jeanne Falke, Bishop Miege English teacher, was married August 13 to Mr. Dennis Meis at St. Theresa's Church in Westphalia, Kansas. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Sylvester Wietharn.

Mrs. Meis wore a gown of silk organza over peau de soie, with re-embroidered lace over the bodice and sleeves. Lace trimmed the skirt and train. She carried a bouquet of orchids and roses.

In past years, The Miegian has accepted contributions from the student body. The only requirement is that all papers be signed. The Miegian staff wishes to continue this practice. Give any contributions to Sister Baptista.

Father, it doesn't look like the new foreign exchange student is going to work out.

NEW FACES ON FACULTY

This year there are twelve new additions to the faculty.

Sister Aloysius will be teaching World History and American History this year. She has been principal of McGuiness High School and of Saint Agnes Grade School. During the summer she taught a course in Global Geography at Marillac College in Normandy, Mo.

Teaching Bookkeeping and Economics will be Mr. Richard Hennier, who is a former graduate of Miego and of Rockhurst College. He will coach the freshman basketball team and assist Mr. Gannon with the varsity B-ball team.

Sister Johanna, who is a familiar addition to the Miego faculty this year, is teaching French I and II classes plus an English III class. After four years of instructing at old St. Agnes High school, she continued teaching Latin, French, and English at the then newly completed Miego, for another two years.

THREE MILLION ENROLLED???

With schedule changes, blank schedule cards and people with no place to go, Sr. Georgetta and Mr. Dalton were sure they were responsible for three million students. After the smoke finally cleared from the first week, it was revealed that there was an enrollment of only 1,052. This shows a decrease from last year's 1,096.

The sophomores lead the other three classes with a total of 282 enrolled. The girls outnumber the boys 153 to 129. The freshmen are next with a total enrollment of 275, of which 158 are girls and 117 are boys. The seniors fall to third place with 255; 143 girls, 111 boys. The juniors hold last place with a total of 241, again the girls outnumber the boys, 123 to 118. The girls outnumber the boys in every class ending up with a total of 54%, while the boys have only 46% of the total enrollment.

Representatives from six Catholic Colleges located in Kansas were at Miego Tuesday, September 13, to assist Seniors in making their choice of a college. The colleges represented were: St. Mary's at Xavier, St. Mary's of the Plains at Dodge City, St. Benedict's at Atchison, Sacred Heart at Wichita, and Marymount at Salina. The representatives met with those Senior students interested in their college and gave them various information about admission requirements, enrollment, curriculum, fees, and housing.

bers this year at Miego. He teaches American Government to the Juniors and Seniors. He graduated from the University of Missouri at Kansas City. Although he has taught one year as a graduate assistant, this is his first actual year of teaching.

Mrs. Koch, the home economics teacher, received her degree from St. Mary of the Plains College in Dodge City, Kansas. She has new goals for her classes this year.

A member of the first graduating class of Miego, Sister Maureen is returning this year to teach English and Social Studies. This summer Sister attended Marillac College in St. Louis where she studied history.

Mr. McGill will be an American History and Government teacher, in addition to being new assistant varsity track and football coach. He has come to Miego from Saint Mary of the Plains College in Dodge City, Kansas.

Mr. Leonard Mohlman will be the boys' Physical Education teacher. He attended Washburn University, and is currently working on his Phy. Ed Masters degree at K. U. He will also be an assistant coach in track and football and the coach in soccer.

Mr. Murphy, a graduate of De La Salle and St. Mary College in Winona, Minnesota, is teaching a full English schedule besides coaching Junior Varsity and track.

Mr. Flynn Owens, who will be teaching General Math and Algebra I this year, received his degree from St. Benedict's College. Before coming to Miego he taught at Cardinal Cushing Grade School in Mansura, Louisiana.

Mrs. Schumaker, who is the girls' new Physical Education teacher, received her degree in Physical Education at the University of Illinois. For the last three years she has taught at Farragut High School in Chicago.

Mr. Winegart, who teaches Algebra I and Science I, graduated from K. U. with a B. A. and from U. M. K. C. with a Masters in education. He was at one time a teacher at Carballo Rural High School and was recently employed by the Railway Mail Service.

SORRY ABOUT THAT...

Little freshman in the hall watch your step for you may fall.

What's your hurry— never fret;
you may find your classroom yet.

Stop your pacing everywhere and ask that big guy over there.

"Hey, sir—Mr. senior man, can you please tell me where I am?"

"Look here, frosh, I hate to boast, but I'm no senior, I'm Mr. Rost!"

"MAY HE REST IN PEACE..."

The death of Phil Alieksaites, former graduate of Miego, came as a shock to many of his classmates and friends.

Phil graduated from Miego in 1965 and attended Rockhurst College last year where he was a member of the Alpha Delta Gamma Fraternity. Phil had been in the hospital since the end of May with a rare blood disease and died August 20.

Phil will be remembered by his numerous friends for many years to come and our deepest sympathy is extended to his bereaved family.

Summer Memories

Miego students and members of the faculty took part in various summer jobs and activities last summer.

Barb Swartz, senior, worked with the physically handicapped at Rotary a two week summer camp.

Pat Murphy, senior, worked as an aide in a recreation center in Rosedale.

Janet Faillace attended a Judo class in which she received the black belt.

Patsy Hickey, freshman and Kathy Smith attended Camp Ursuline Paola, Kansas.

Mr. Reardon worked as a Counselor at the Pem-Day day camp for primary students. Also, along with Mr. Schroeder, Mr. Reardon drove a truck selling Charles Chips potato chips.

Mike Boysen and Terry Busenbark took a six week course in mountain climbing at Grand Teton National park.

Carol Feldman, senior, spent the summer with the family of the exchange student Maria Elena Renteria in Guadalajara, Mexico.

A lost Freshman maybe, but a Senior?

"And Once Again..."

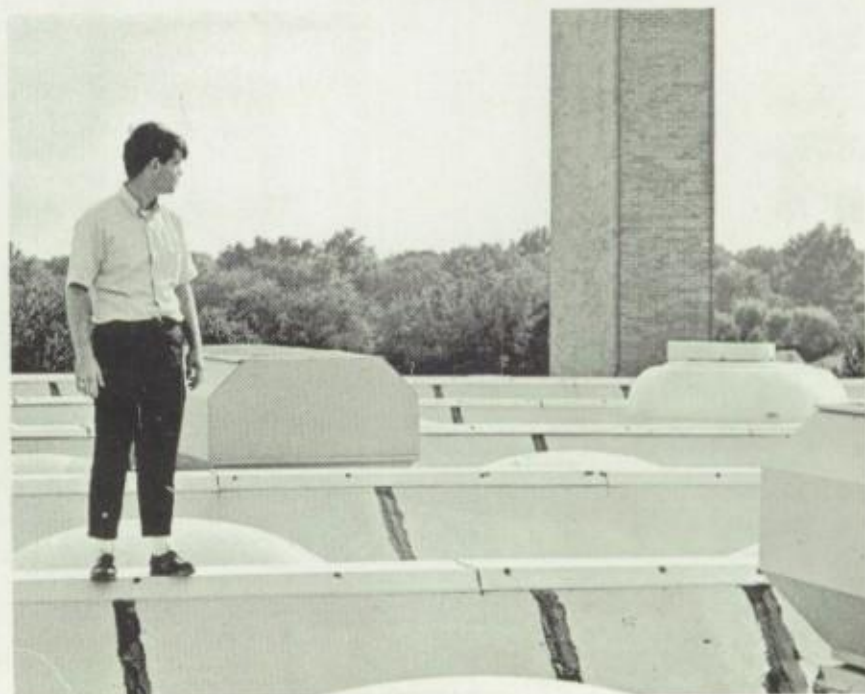

Don, do you mind if I borrow your weskit?

We're only kidding Joe, there is no fourth floor.

FROSH JOIN SQUAD

Patty Ponchur and Patti Hickey were announced to be the new additions to the B-Team cheerleading squad.

Starting Wednesday, September 7, all Freshmen girls who were interested, attended a clinic to learn the two cheers they had to try out with. Conducted by the Sophomore members of the squad, the clinic was held every night after school for one week.

Tryouts were held Wednesday, September 14, after school, at a Pep Club meeting in the lounge, where 44 Freshmen girls participated.

The ballots were counted and the results announced by Mal Nees, President of the Pep Club.

The two Freshmen regulars will join the Sophomores: Anita Martin, head; Hatty Ryan, regular; and Judy O'Connell, sub. These five girls will cheer at Junior Varsity football and basketball games during the year.

"OLDIES BUT GOODIES"

This summer, Sister Martina was awarded a National Science Foundation grant which entitled her to attend Loretta Heights College in Denver, Colorado. After applying for this grant, she and 49 other teachers attended a six week course which dealt with Genetics, Embryology, Ecology, Evolution, and cellular and mammalary physiology.

Constructing models of molecules, Sister Anna, chemistry teacher, worked with other teachers participating in the National Science Foundation's Institute in Physics and Chemistry at Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois. The models will be used in classes to show the geometry of molecular shapes and to correlate the shape with physical and chemical properties of the molecules.

Mr. Fiorella spent his summer at M.U. taking courses in guidance and curriculum. He plans to continue MACA except on a smaller scale.

During the summer Mrs. Wareham took a course in comparative English at U.M. K.C. This consisted mostly of comparing the literature of different nationalities.

In the English department, Miss Lucas still swears she's never been in the Marines; and, as usual, she will not reveal her age. However, she is planning something she considers a new approach this year; she's going to teach! In addition, she hopes to promote an interest in legitimate theatre even though composition is being taught.

Miege Hall Of Fame

Tom Koettinge

Simon Sheepish has attended 436 Miege mixers—without dancing a step.

Myrtle Mod has a picture of every single English group plastered on her locker door.

Donald Dum Dum—a senior—has bought 3,650 elevator passes.

Solomon "Wheels" Sturnley has "accidentally sat a little hard" on the lounge furniture 385 times.

Ricky Dink claims to have actually used the shuffleboard markings in the lounge—although this is unconfirmed.

"Love Becomes A Reality"

A summer in the slums may not sound like much of a vacation; but Sister Dolores, mathematics teacher, maintains that it can be a most rewarding experience.

Sister Dolores, along with many other nuns and lay people, took part in a summer program in "Kansas City's Harlem." Included in the program were opportunities for cultural and educational advancement for adults and tutoring, recreational activities, and Bible classes for youngsters.

The nuns stayed in the former Havana Inn and Brown's Hotel, 1705 East Twelfth street, and in the St. Aloysius convent at Peery and Montgall. Missouri high school students helped the nuns prepare Brown's Hotel for occupancy. Later, many helped tutor children who had shortcomings in reading and math.

Besides educational opportunities, the Sisters also provided recreational facilities. A Miege student, Barbara Glennon, helped in this area. Yoko Nagaoka, a guitar-playing Japanese exchange student recently graduated from St. Mary College, held weekly Hootenannies for anyone who cared to drop in.

Sister Dolores became an integral part of a Bible school for both Protestant and Catholic children. Classes were held at the Wayne Miner housing development and involved about 65 children from ages five to fourteen. High school students, including Miegian Barbara Shannon, helped teach these classes.

The main purpose of the program, however, was to make friends. This part of the program was also a big success. Men who knocked at the Sisters' door asking for hand-outs later found themselves sitting at the supper table with the nuns, and the occupants of the district soon found out how neighborly nuns can be.

All in all, the whole program was a big success. Many of the nuns are hoping to be allowed to return to Missouri next summer. Whether they do or not, though, they will remember the many friends they made; and those friends will certainly remember the hard-working nuns who spent their summer vacations making love a reality.

SENIORS DISCOVER ENGLAND

Can you imagine having to walk all over town just to get a coke with ice? Well, Nancy Carr and Barbara Brown can! The two former students of Miego are spending their senior year in London, England. Everyone in England drinks coke (and beer) at room temperature.

Can you imagine having trouble understanding English? This is another problem the girls have. The accents are so varied, they can't understand English unless it is spoken slowly. The natives say Nancy has a Dublin accent.

All this has happened since August 18, when the girls left New York with many other students on the M. S. Aurelia for a nine day-cruise to Britain. At the present they are living at a youth hostel and attending classes at La Sainte Union Convent School.

The English school system is a little different from ours. The students pick their majors early and concentrate their studies in their chosen field, such as math and science.

Frosh experience "Miego Beat" l to r Claudia Bizal & Hank Kaiser; Cindy Crimmins & Joe Miller; Dorothy Williams.

Welcome!

Student Congress said "welcome back" to all the sophomores, juniors, and seniors by sponsoring the Welcome Mixer, which was held September 2. The upperclassmen danced beneath pink streamers as the music of the "Ravens" filled the cafeteria.

A week later, on September 9, the freshmen were extended a special welcome. At their mixer, sponsored by the senior class, the Frosh were given an opportunity to meet one another while being entertained by the "Sterlings." A few seniors were around to help the Frosh make their mixer a success.

Another difference is no central heating. Instead, each room has a fireplace which serves as the heating unit for the entire room.

Hyde Park and Buckingham Palace are just a few of the places visited by Nancy and Barb. They are hoping to see Ireland and the continent before they return home next July.

SYMBOLS OF SENIORHOOD

"Smile, mon petite, just a little bit bigger. Ah, C'est vrai." This was a typical scene at Victor Berline Studio on Main where the Seniors had their class pictures taken in the last month of the summer. The girls wore black sweaters with a single pearl and the boys wore dark suits. Each person was given an additional four poses. Mrs. Berline commented that pictures will not be printed until everyone has their pictures taken and returns the proofs to the studio. The final prints should be back by the end of September.

While waiting for pictures, Seniors also anticipate the arrival of their rings, the symbol of Seniorhood. The date has been set around the first of October by Mr. Glenon, representative of Jaspen's. About 200 rings were ordered at the close of the '65-'66 school year.

Mm...You Smell Good

This will be chanted to all the football players since the successful soap scrimmage on Sept. 11. The sophomores gained 4 points for bringing in 58 lbs. of soap. The freshman gained 3 class points for 55 lbs. The seniors received 2 points for 37½ lbs. and the juniors received 1 point for 26 lbs. of soap.

There was a twofold purpose in having the soap scrimmage; one was to bring in enough soap for the football players to use in after-game showers, another was to allow a sneak preview of the football team in an intrasquad game.

Seniors...

Are you wondering which college you should attend or whether there is some other type of career that would suit you better? If you are puzzled by these questions you might find it helpful to contact Mr. Messina, this years college adviser.

Mr. Messina can help you decide which college is best for you, with reference to size, tuition, room and board, and a major. There are also many catalogues available for your convenience concerning various schools.

Those wishing to talk to Mr. Messina are asked to make an appointment with him before hand.

On The Air

The onederful WHB radio station has picked Mary Sue O'Connor to represent Miego this year. Mary Sue, who served on the yearbook staff last year and is co-editor this year, has taken on the roll of transferring all the information such as games' dates, scores, mixer, elections, and assemblies of Miego to the public.

Mr. Johnny Doland notified Mary Sue of their selection and she accepted.

This year the poll will be taken from the student body. A suggestion box will be provided for student opinions in the cafeteria foyer.

Mary Sue will be on the air every Wednesday between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock.

GRIDIRON REVIEW

The grunts and groans heard in the halls, expressing the pain of returning to school are nothing compared to the grunts and groans drifting from the Miego football field, which express great physical pain. This year's grid squad has been practicing for weeks and it promises to show us an exciting season.

The team is under the able leadership of Coach Bob Frazier. He is helped in the task by co-captains Daryl Thies and Tom Koob.

Coach Frazier admits that the line is somewhat inexperienced but says that they should gain power as the season progresses. This line is backed by a strong, speedy back-field, a combination of the talents of Bob Hrzenak, Tom Koob, Mike Mercer, and Steve Scanlon.

Optimism is the key word for our spirited Stags. Every member of the squad will do his best to give Miego a winning season.

HARRIERS SET FOR NEW SEASON

The 66-67 cross-country will be a good one this year, according to Coach Zimola.

Some of the runners, led by captain Mike Bock are Jim Noon, Allen Floyd, Paul Justus, Kevin Harris, Joe Dold, Bob Latz, Bob Floyd, Terry English, Dave Matthews, and John Dold.

STAGS SCALP WARRIORS

In the first game of the 1966 gridiron season, Miego downed St. Pius X 28-7. Starting early the Stags jumped into the lead in the first period 7-0 on a 20 yard pass play from quarterback Bob Hrzenak to junior end Steve McGill. Steve Scanlon, senior full-back, ran for the extra point.

The Stags also scored twice in the second quarter and at halftime led 21-0.

In the second half, the game was even because of inspired plays of the fired up St. Pius. The Warriors managed a three quarter tally on an intercepted Hrzenak pass, but the Stags iced the game on a fake punt and a 50 yard touchdown run by junior Rich Cain in the final period.

Among offensive standouts were also: Tom Koob, Mike Mercer, and Tom DeCelles.

The defense was sparked by the outstanding play of Cain and Pat Larkin.

Stags Place In Meet

The Miego Harriers took 1st place in a meet against Turner, by a score of 23 to 32. Mike Bock won first and Paul Justus third. In a three-way meet with Argentine and Rosedale, the Stags took 2nd place, with Rosedale first and Argentine 3rd.

Contest Displays Creative Talents

The Miegian will again this year conduct a literary contest for the purpose of encouraging the students of Miego to utilize and exhibit their creative talents. Starting October 31st and running through November 18th, students may submit as many entries as they wish in one or more of the following categories: short stories, essays, poetry, cartoons and photographs.

All articles must be typewritten and double-spaced and must be accompanied with a title. On another sheet of paper the contestant should type his name, the category he is entering, the title of his paper and his year in school. Then, with this information sheet attached to his entry, he should fold it in half lengthwise and place it in the box labeled, "The Miegian Literary Contest," which will be located in the cafeteria foyer.

The following are basic rules that should be observed in respect to each category:

1. Short stories — a maximum, of five typewritten double-spaced sheets.
2. Poetry — May be free verse or rhymed.
3. Essay — May be about any topic, treated formally or informally.
4. Cartoons — Must be done in India ink. For cartoons only, two persons may collaborate with one person giving the idea and the other person illustrating it. Cartoons will be judged on quality of thought and drawing.

Winning articles will be published in the December issue of the Miegian.

Religion Courses Updated

Hurray for the Religion Department! It has, at long last, come up with a religion course that promises to be significant for the students.

Every year the religion teachers have promised to make religion classes "meaningful experiences" for us students. We were then given books about the religion of the Old Testament or drilled in the practices of the Liturgy. It's about time that our religion courses have been brought into perspective. It's also about time that the teachers realize that studying Old Testament religion and liturgical procedure isn't going to help the students to know how to lead good lives of Christian love.

The new religion books, The Christian Experience

HOMECOMING, DEEP OR SUPERFICIAL?

It seems that with each passing year the real meaning of homecoming is being buried deeper and deeper in the hub-bub surrounding the Big Dance.

No longer is Homecoming what it was originally set up to be. It used to be a game and dance honoring all past alumni, given in order that all present may realize what went into our school to make it what it is today. No longer do we make a fuss over how to invite these alumni or how to instill a sense of pride in all present. The biggest worry now is "Should I get my hair fixed?" and "Will my shoes match my dress?"

In the last years a false pretense was also set up that it was unacceptable to go without a date. This, again, is destroying the true meaning of a coming home for all past alumni. You need not have a date to make the coming home of these alumni a success.

If something is not done and done soon then the whole purpose of Homecoming will take on a different meaning. One that could not possibly initiate the pride that the first concept of Homecoming was meant to instill. It is up to you, Miegians, to remember what and why we really have a Homecoming, then do your best to carry out its true purpose.

Series, is a fabulous innovation. It seems to be bringing religion back into reality, as is the new movement in the Church. It's nice to know that the Church has finally decided to bring itself up-to-date and, in doing so, to being helping its members instead of constantly condemning them.

Candles Light Up Mass

Instead of having the traditional bonfire, plans have been made for an all-school Mass on November 3 at 7:30 P.M. The purpose of this Mass is to instill a deeper meaning into this year's Homecoming.

The gym will be darkened with the exception of candles which will be held by the football team and the Honor M. Prior to the Mass, Father Sullivan, Principal, will bless the crown and the football. After the Mass is completed, the Homecoming Royalty and their parents will be introduced to the student body. The choir will sing the Mass and also perform after it is over. The Mass is the responsibility of the senior class.

WILDCATS

Majestic Review

As Miego again selects their Homecoming Royalty, memories take us back to past queens who have reigned over Homecoming festivities. These former queens have entered a wide variety of professions since their graduation.

The first queen, Marsha Hess, is now married to professional golfer, Jim Colbert, and is the mother of three children.

Since her days at Miego, Pat Vennemann entered the Ursuline Convent for five years and attended the Marillac College in St. Louis. She is now married to Bob Ferkenhoff, also a former student from Miego.

The next queen, Judy Arnold, also entered the convent for 1½ years, but is now presently employed as a Continental Air Line stewardess working in Denver.

Like her predecessors, Jeanine Allen entered the convent but later became a T.W.A. stewardess in New York, and is married to Dave Fortin.

Mary Fuchs, queen in 1962, attended Avila College for a year and later became a hostess for T.W.A. She is presently engaged to be married.

After graduation, Liliane Pintar entered Marymount College in Salina, Kansas.

Queen of '64, Dianne Carr, is now a resident of California and attends school there.

Homecoming queen last year, Pam Brosky is now employed at Hallmark Cards, working as an artist.

Who will be the next addition to this royal list?

Homecoming nominees Patty Lanning, Bobbie Jo Troup, Mary Venneman, Mary Pat Corcoran, and Cheryl Mehan await final decision.

Excitement Stirs As Homecoming Nears

With only four days left, Miegians are eagerly anticipating the Homecoming Weekend. This year's activities include a Thursday evening Mass, Friday night's game, and Saturday's dance.

Friday night's festivities begin with a motorcade which will be formed in Miego's parking lot. The parade will then proceed to Ward Field where the Miego Stags will play the Hayden Wildcats. Half-time activities will surround the crowning of a queen chosen from the five semi-finalists: Mary Pat Corcoran, Patty Lanning, Cheryl Mehan, Bobbie Jo Troupe, and Mary Venneman. These five girls were chosen from the ten finalists which included: Betty Brooks, Mary Pat Kelly, Barb Latz, Patty Porter, and Linda Sanders. The candidates will be introduced along with their fathers after the Honor M performs on the field.

The juniors are responsible for all activities surrounding the game, while the sophomores job is to build a float for the queen and her attendants.

The Homecoming Dance which is sponsored by the Pep Club, is on Nov. 5 from 9-12 P.M. "Homecoming: Past and Present" is the theme for this year's dance which will be reigned over by the queen and her court. The different committees and their respective heads are Jeanette Gorman—Decorations, Joan Bradley—Tickets, Lois Ruhl—Crown, and Cathy Svoboda—Refreshments. Music will be provided by the popular band, The Chessmen.

Extra effort has been put forth to invite all past alumni of Bishop Miego and St. Agnes High. Therefore this year's dance and game are expected to be one of the biggest Miego has ever seen.

Candy Sale to Begin

"World's Finest Chocolate . . . only 50¢ a bar" will again be the cry of Miego students when the Student Congress sponsors a chocolate sale as a major money-making project this year. The sale will begin November 8 and will continue until November 22.

John Silady, Student Congress President, stated that the chocolate sale was such a success last year that he considers it profitable to stick with it again this year.

The use of the money brought in will be decided by Student Congress at a later date.

As an incentive, cash prizes will be provided by the candy company. A cash prize as well as class points will be given to the class who sells the most bars of candy. The four top salesmen will be given cash prizes, and every person who sells his quota (a box of candy) will be eligible for a prize.

The chocolate will be distributed in the gym to homerooms on November 8, by homeroom representatives and chairmen.

Campaign A Success

The Hart Ad Contest ended Friday, October 21, after a two week run beginning October 7. The prized and promised free day goes to the winning class, as well as the honor of choosing the Hart queen.

High point salesmen of each class and the top selling homeroom will be featured in the yearbook, opposite the queen.

A goal of $6,000 was set for the all-school completion in the contracting of ads and boosters, although at the dead-line of the Miegian publication, the results were not yet known.

John Bremser and Joe Dold managed the campaign and "Really did a lot of hard work" stated Maureen Stapleton, co-editor of the Hart.

N.H.S. 'Skips' Classes

To go, or not to go to class; this is the question which is being posed to members of the National Honor Society.

Beginning with the second quarter, the student will be able to decide for himself which classes he wants to attend. For example: if he feels he does not need to attend a certain class one day he can go somewhere else to study. This will let students attend interesting lectures in another class and will encourage independent thinking on the part of members involved, according to Mr. Dalton, NHS Moderator.

The restrictions are that the participants will not be allowed to leave the school campus, and that everyone will be responsible for assignments and tests in their regular classes. Should grades drop below a B average, students will be dropped from the program.

Frosh Pep Officers are: standing, Karen Zeleznak, Val Helbing, and Sandy Meyer; sitting, Ce Ce Leary.

Frosh Pep Leaders

Karen Zeleznak was elected president of the Frosh Pep Club October 5 at their first meeting. Assisting her will be Val Helbing, vice-president; Sandy Meyers, secretary; and Ce Ce Leary, treasurer.

Moderating this year's freshmen Pep Club is Mrs. Koch, the clothing teacher.

A point system similar to last year's will be used again this year. Specific number of points will be given for each varsity and B-team game, and each girl must have the required total of points before she will be allowed to enter the varsity Pep Club next year.

Pem-Day Performs

Pem-Day Boys' Glee Club, under the direction of Mel Bishop, presented a concert at a special assembly Tuesday, October 11, at Miego.

Some of the selections included in the program were "Everything's Up to Date in Kansas City," "I've Grown Accustomed to her Face," "Oklahoma," and "Shenandoah." Negro spirituals and hymns were also included in their repertoire.

Feature Teacher

Mr. O'Connell, psychology teacher here at Miego experienced a very interesting trip this summer. Mr. O'Connell left on July 18 for a volunteer flight to Viet Nam, and several islands in the Pacific. His visit in Viet Nam itself was comparatively short, 5 hours, however it was long enough to leave vivid impressions of the people and of the country. The actual country, he said, is primitive compared to the U.S., for example, and dirty, but that the living conditions weren't too bad—considering what the people were undergoing. In De Nang, where he spent five hours, Mr. O'Connell met several service men whom he described as "tired."

One of the most vivid impressions that he can recall is when he went to eat at a small snack bar which had been set up by the men running Operation Hastings. He said that he could hear firing in the distance, and that the service men eating there had just come in off the active lines.

Mr. O'Connell's trip also included visits to other foreign countries as well. He was in Hawaii twice, and made stops at Guam, the Phillipines, the Midway Islands, and Japan. He arrived back in Kansas City the 27th of July—after nine days in what must have been another world.

Destination: Ethiopia

Attis Ababa, Ethiopia was the destination of Mayrose Tucci, a senior and her family as they left Kansas City on October 12. Mr. Tucci is an employee of TWA and was transferred to Attis Ababa where Mayrose will attend an American school.

Ethiopia is located in north-eastern Africa along the Nile and is ruled by Emperor Haile Selassie.

This is not the first time Mayrose has moved to another country. When she was eight she moved here with her family from Paris, France, where she was born.

Priest Joins Boy's Club

A building campaign is presently under way for a Boys' Club at 5240 Belinder, Fairway, with hopes of having it completed by spring. This $350,000 project, sponsored by many northeast Johnson County stores and individuals, will be open to boys and young men from ages 7 to 17.

The programs, some of which include a rifle and pistol range, a printing plant, a jalopy shop, an electrical laboratory, a wood-working shop, and a crafts area, are based upon interests of Johnson County boys and will be supervised. There will also be recreational areas and a Boys' Club Chaplaincy.

Father Krische, who will be Catholic Chaplain, said that it is an excellent idea and he will do all he can to make it a success.

Miegians Score

Mike Helvey and Tom Koetting, seniors, were named as National Merit semifinalists for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Mike and Tom rank in a group of 14,000 students all over the country. These semifinalists constitute less than two-thirds of one percent of all graduating high school seniors.

Besides these two semifinalists, Miego also had fourteen students receiving Letters of Commendation. These are Nancy Carr, Diane Dalton, Dennis Frey, Nancy Gaines, John Hedrick, Linda Hofman, Kathy Leary, Toni Massa, Mike Reed, Pam Santee, Susan Solem, Maureen Stapleton, Pat Swarts and Ann Williams.

Miego, as a whole, ranked very high in the National Merit program as compared with the state of Kansas. The percentage of students who were commended or semifinalists from Kansas was 4.6% whereas this same group from Miego ranked 10% higher at 14.6% of the students.

Although there have never been more than two semifinalists, this year's number of commended students more than doubles that of previous years.

Boys Outnumber Girls

This year the Student Congress representatives were elected a little differently from previous years. All of the homerooms met at the same time to nominate the representatives. Then two days later they met again and held the elections. The Representatives are as follows:

Seniors: John Bremser, Joe Crosterosa, Mike Helvey, Dave Lanter, John McMillen, Gary Rittenhouse, Bob Stone, Bill Weiss.

Freshmen: Karen Bomstad, Teresa Dagg, Robert Floyd, Mary Ann Hodes, Phil Larkin, Marilyn Miller, Steve Reyhle, Mark Scanlon, Dan Thoennes.

Mr. Schroeder, a Papal Volunteer in Lima, Peru for two years, has kept in contact with some of his associates there. This year his pupils are writing letters to Father Thomas Geraughty and another Papal Volunteer in Lima.

An assembly on October 7, aroused school spirit for the Rockhurst game. The senior girls put on a skit, and John Dold recited an informal prayer he had written.

Books, Please!

The National Book Week begins on October 30, and runs through November 5. This year marks the 48th annual observance of National Book Week. The theme is "Books Please," and Antonio Frascione has designed a four color poster to help promote this theme.

The general purpose of book week is to help stimulate love and appreciation of good books. The library will feature special bulletin boards and displays to help observe National Book Week. Students are encouraged to come and examine the new books on exhibit.

Mr. McGill has introduced a new aspect into the field of government and American history. That is, more personal contact with senators and representatives by writing to our congressmen concerning our state.

Joyce Named As Finalist

Joyce Tebbe, a senior, was chosen as second runner up in the "Miss Teenage Kansas City" contest. The contest was open to all girls in the Kansas City area between the ages of 13 and 18. All of the girls were required to take a test from which 25 girls were chosen to participate in the pageant. On October 8, twelve semi-finalists were chosen, and on October 15 the finalists were named. The winner will go to Dallas, Texas on November 5, to participate in the Miss Teenage America Contest.

Test Time Again

College bound juniors and seniors took the annual ACT and PSAT tests during October.

On October 15, the seniors took the American College Test, which consists of two parts. One part is the Student Profile Section which is not a test but merely asks for the kind of information colleges need to help a person make satisfactory educational plans. The second and major part consists of four tests—English, mathematics, social studies, and natural sciences. The test was not given at Miego; so those who took it went to other schools in the area.

Honor "M" Here To Stay

Honor "M," a division of the varsity pep club, is composed of forty junior and senior girls with Betty Brooks as president and Jan Dierks as secretary.

The duties of Honor "M," during football season, are to cheer the team onto the field and to form an honor guard for the royalty at the homecoming game. During basketball season they will stand in an "M" formation on the floor of the gym while the "Star Spangled Banner" is played.

Starting next year Honor "M" will be composed of the thirty girls with the most points according to the new amendment passed at the first meeting this year.

It's A Date

"Oh What a Lovely War!" by Joan Littlewood opens November 9 at the Circle Theatre. The musical will launch the theatre's 5th play season which will run through December 3.

"Ugly American" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick will be presented at Shawnee Mission North, November 18 and 19.

Shawnee Mission West presents "George Washington Slept Here" on November 18 and 19.

Shawnee Mission South will begin its first season with "Come Blow Your Horn" on November 18 and 19.

"Mad Women of Shaillot," a comedy, will be presented November 18 and 19 by Shawnee Mission East.

The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test was given at Miego on October 23 to the juniors. The PSAT is a shorter version of the SAT, which is required of applicants for admission to many colleges. It is divided into two parts, math and vocabulary.

Free Day Forced On Students

A relief in the now stale routine of the school schedule will be accepted by Miego students November 10th and 11th. The reason for this jolting setback is that the faculty is going to attend the State Teachers Conferences.

As always the brave Stags will face this sad departure with determined stamina. The tears shall be fought back and Miegians will return, undaunted.

Of course, the sleeping late and staying out late won't be enjoyed, but will be accepted in stride.

A happy note amongst so much gloom is that the students will have their mothers around to nag at them. Also, the girls will be able to help with the housework.

The faculty realizes that the understanding the Miego students have is renowned.

On Monday, November 13, all will return, finding Miego doors open wide to the happy faces entering.

Schools in The Spotlight

Homecoming at Pem-Day will be held on October 28. The Red Raiders will play Saint Mary's on Pem-Day's field. The dance will feature the music of the Chessmen. On November 23, the students will present their fall musical program. The Glee Club will also present the annual talent show, "Bravos." Pem-Day students are also making plans for guest speaker, Walt Disney, who will also speak for People-to-People. The Barstow and Pem-Day choirs will join on November 24 to sing at the annual Christmas ceremony on the Plaza.

Shawnee Mission South is now making plans for this year's operetta, "Oklahoma," which will be presented on January 26, 27, and 28. Tryouts are now being held.

On Friday, October 7, the first production of the year, "Induction," will be presented at Southeast. The induction, "The Making of a Knight," is presented annually for the new freshmen.

Junior Varsity cheerleaders will be chosen at Shawnee Mission North at the end of this quarter. The Varsity cheerleaders are invited to partake in the American Royal Parade.

On November 15, Ward High School will give the first presentation of the Senior Play, "I Remember Mama." Also during

LATEST DANCE?

The girls' phys. ed. classes not only are active in sports this year, but are also learning a new game called Philippino pole dancing. Another name for the game is tinikling.

The new bamboo poles needed for this game just arrived and the girls are presently learning how to play. Mrs. Schumacher plans to teach the girls a few basic steps, and from there they will be expected to make up their own creative steps. This rhythmical dance can be accompanied by music if preferred, and should teach the girls greater agility.

that week will be the kick-off of the chocolate drive.

St. Theresa's Student Council will have a Halloween dance and carnival at the end of October. They also will have a float in the American Royal parade to celebrate their 100 year centennial. The Avila, St. Theresa's largest dance will be held before Thanksgiving.

Stags To Clean Campus

Thursday, November 10, which is a free day for Miego, has been designated as Clean-Up Day. Students of the individual classes will clean certain areas around the school. The freshman class will have the area in the back of the school; the sophomores the area between the library and the cafeteria; the juniors the area between the new wing and the gym; and the seniors the area in the front of the school. The class doing the best job will receive four class competition points, the second best three points, and so forth.

Intramurals Start Again

Once again this year the steady dribbling of a basketball can be heard in the gym after school. The dribbling is accompanied by shouts, running feet, and the shrill blasts of whistles. Everyone knows it is too early for the regular basketball season, but then the source of the idea strikes them, Intramurals.

Yes, this year the Intramural basketball program is in full swing. The show is being run by Mr. Hennier, who also referees the games, with the help of Mr. Owens.

The purpose of the program is to provide entertainment for the boys who enjoy the sport, but aren't quite gifted enough to make the school team.

This year the eight teams are divided into two divisions, the Western and The Eastern. The Western division consists of the Hawks, Knicks, Warriors, and Chiefs, while in the Eastern there are the Bullets, Lakers, Royals, and Celtics. The eight teams are well balanced and an exciting season is in store for them.

Stags Fall to Helias

Miege suffered their second loss of the season at the hands of the Helias Crusaders, at a game played at Ward Field. Helias scored on runs of 35, 6, and a pass of 35 yards. Miege scored their only touchdown of the night on a 35 yard pass from Bob Hrzenak to Steve McGill. Offensive standouts for Miege were Tom Koob, Mike Mercer, and Steve Scanlon. On defense the standouts were Rich Cain, Daryl Thies, Pat Larkin, and Mike Mercer, who intercepted three passes. Helias', who is sixth rated in the state of Missouri went to 6-0. Miege's record is now 2-2-1.

Miege Matches Turner

The Stags knocked heads with the Golden Bears of Turner at Ward field October 1 in a contest which ended in a scoreless tie.

The first quarter was a tight defensive battle with the only scoring threat coming from the Stags as they struggled to the Turner 18. Then the Bear's defense tightened up and stopped the drive dead.

The second period saw much the same action with Miege again knocking at the door, but being stopped on the 11.

A fired up Turner team came back in the third quarter to come within striking distance twice, but the strong Stag defensive team stopped them cold, once on the 6 yard line and again on the 13. Miege did a little marching of its own but was stopped on the Bear 8.

In the final seconds of the game the Stags saw near victory turned into near defeat as the Bears snagged a Miege pass on the Turner 20 and ran it back 70 yards before being knocked out of bounds on the 10.

At the close of the game the Stag's record remained unspoiled at 2-0-1.

The Twelfth Man

A new trend has sprung up this year concerning the male spectators of Miege's sports. The "Moose Pack" is a vibrant section of boys on the sidelines of our games. This is to enable the boys not playing to get interested, and actually contribute to the support of our team by getting in a group and cheering together. The Board of Directors of this organization, John Bremser, Greg Marino, Bill Manger, and Pat Reed, started the group to add a masculine accent to the cheers in the girl's Pep Club. All boys are invited to become members of the "Moose Pack," to aid in the support of our teams.

Gridiron Spotlight

Although victories are a team effort, some individual standouts might like to see their names appear in our school paper, and by all means some of them should be spotlighted.

Dapper quarterback Bob Hrzenak has played magnificently in all of the games. Bob says that he will start holding his poses longer when going back to pass. This is for all fans who happen to have cameras.

Super-star Stevie Scanlon and Marvelous Mike Mercer are practicing diligently for future games, they are spending most of their time at practice trying to outsneer each other.

All-world end Pat Larkin says that he will not consider any offers from professional teams until senior year.

Congratulations to lineman Bob Celitti for being the only player on the team able to play without pads.

Since new and better techniques are always admired by coaches, Jim Martindale has added a noseblock to augment his vicious forearm.

Coaches say that Rick Cain is a shoe-in for "Most Frightening Player of the Year Award."

Stags Handed First Loss

A hard-hitting Rockhurst football squad handed Miege its first defeat of the season at Dasta Memorial Stadium on October 7. A highly inspired Hawklet offense penetrated Miege's defense line for six tallies.

The Stags, always deep in their own territory, were unable to move until late in the fourth quarter when they drove to the Rockhurst thirty-three. Time ran out leaving Miege with a 40-0 setback.

Miege Mauls Mustangs

Miege continued their winning ways over Argentine, as they beat the Mustangs 34-0, at Ward Field. This marked the eighth time in the last eight years that Miege has beaten Argentine. Bob Hrzenak threw three touchdown passes and ran for another. The fifth and final touchdown came when Mark Geraghty ran 20 yards to paydirt. This victory brought Miege's record to 2-0.

CANDY CAMPAIGN CLOSES

This year's "World Finest Chocolate Sale" closed November 20.

Secret ways and ideas were used by each class in their attempt to sell the most candy and come out on top in the contest between the classes. Sister Martina, head of the candy sale, stated, "Great enthusiasm and efforts have been showed by the students in making this the best candy sale ever."

Because of the Miegian deadline no class standings or winners' names were available for this issue. The result after the first day was a total of $1500 or almost 12 per cent of the goal.

Prizes were given this year to the student selling the most candy in each class. Every day the names of all students who sold at least one box of candy was put into a hat and one name was drawn. The winner received $5. Cash prizes were given to the teachers of the homerooms attaining the highest sales and the overall amount given out, including all the prizes, was $250.

The profit of 37 percent on the bars made from the candy sale is going for improvements around the school. Suggestions were made by the students and will be voted on by the Student Congress at a meeting held next week.

Some suggestions were new furnishings for the student lounge and completion of the lighting system in the old wing, a foul counter in the gym and a musical shell to help the acoustics, a new scoreboard on the end of the field and repairs and ventilation for the audio-visual room, new lights for the school gym, and in the spring new trees to be put outdoors in front of the school.

The candy sale started this year at an assembly November 8 in the auditorium of Miego. As boxes of chocolate bars were distributed each student was urged to sell his or her box and return for more if needed.

Head salesman for the company, Mr. Thompson, spoke at the assembly. He gave ideas and pointers to the students on how to sell the candy and what procedures to use to make this the best candy sale ever.

This year a new motto was put on each bar of chocolate. It read, "The World's Finest Chocolate Sold by the World's Finest School."

Karen Performs In Flower Drum Song

Karen Lorhan, senior, spent three weeks this fall as a dancer-singer in Flower Drum Song. Jack Soo and Pat Suzuki starred in the musical by Rogers-Hammerstein, in which Karen played as one of the twins. The show played one week in St. Paul and then toured in Des Moines. She also played in Flower Drum Song in Starlight Theater, as well as the other performances, and was employed at Circle Theater.

"It was a great experience to work with the people of the show because most of them were Oriental, and I learned something about the other half of the world."

Mixer Tonight To Aid Hart

The Bishop Miego yearbook staff will sponsor a mixer tonight to supplement funds for the yearbook. The dance will be held in the gym from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., and will feature the Emeralds.

On Friday, November 18, the Hart staff had a booster day, that is the students were encouraged to concentrate their efforts to sell boosters. The homeroom with the highest number of sales will be admitted to the yearbook mixer free. Tickets are $1.25 at the door.

Juniors Win Ad Campaign

For the fourth consecutive year, the junior class won the Yearbook ad campaign accumulating $1,290, 89 per cent of their goal. The seniors ran a close second bringing in $1,316, 86 per cent of their goal. Sophomores were third with $1,267, 75 per cent of their goal, and the frosh last with $510, 31 per cent of their goal.

The total amount of ads sold was $4,383, a little less than $2000 short of the $6300 goal. Bringing in the most money was Lois Ruhl's junior homeroom.

High point salesmen from each class listed in the order of the amount of ads contracted are Senior Bev Yeado, Sophomore Monica Aita (high point salesman of her class last year), Junior Barb Shannon, and Freshman Barbara Dorlac.

Because of their efforts, the juniors will be rewarded with a free day to be decided later by the administration.

The Lockheed Leadership Fund is offering 15 scholarships, which are worth more than $10,000 each to any college-bound, qualified senior.

Any senior interested in applying for these scholarships may obtain information by contacting the college advisor, Mr. Messina.

Teenage Image, Fair or Foul?

To the amazement and shock of the majority of Johnson County citizens — a teenage organization with the ignominious name of "The Rat Pack" was recently exposed to the public's eye.

"The Rat Pack" is a kind of gang which partakes in such activities as glue-sniffing, drunken orgies, and house burglary. The majority of the "Rat Pack" are young people who come from middle to upper class families who reside in Johnson County—a factor which is often overlooked when the question of juvenile delinquency arises.

The question at hand is that of whether or not the younger generation is conforming to the image of wildness, instability, and delinquency that they are so often associated with by adults who shake their heads and mourn, "What is the world coming to?"

From looking at the greater percentage of teenagers today, and more domestically from looking at Miegians, we can hope to evaluate the modern as one that can cope with the world's problems and overcome them rather than to create new ones.

Students Bring Joy To The Lonely

The spirit of Thanksgiving is upon us, and on that day, families will get together and celebrate. All generations will come together to give thanks for their blessings. But there are some people for whom Thanksgiving would mean nothing if it weren't for the generous donations of time by many Miede students—the members of the Bishop Miede Service Committee. This Committee was set up to give (of its time and of the school) to lonely, forgotten people in rest homes, or children in orphanages. The people in these homes are thrilled to see a new face, or talk to a willing listener. The committee members also donate their time to help with cerebral palsy victims, or as volunteers in local hospitals.

For the service committee, the spirit of giving does not start and end with Thanksgiving or Christmas. It carries its work on throughout the school year. Already there have been two all school drives, The Kickoff, and the Halloween visits, not to mention individual visits made by members. The committee does not ask for recognition or reward. They are displaying true Christian love and they are bringing Miede to the forgotten and lonely. "Many persons have a wrong idea about what constitutes happiness; it is not attained through self gratification, but through fidelity to a worthy purpose." Helen Keller

Miede's service committee is only one of the fine services to the community and to their fellow men that the majority of teenagers today are concerned with.

When you consider the volunteer work in helping with the handicapped and by candystrapping in hospitals it can be said that Miede students run high in the field of social aid.

The wholesome activities that so many teenagers today are participating in — plus the fact that nearly one-half of teenagers today hold jobs as reliable workers points to the conclusion that although there are stigmas such as the "Rat Pack" on the name of teenagers, however there occurs much more frequently such organizations as the Service Committee.

Class News

The SENIORS held a hootenanny on November 9 in the student lounge. Miegies own folk groups, the Chambray Singers and the Sages led the songs. This was not a money making project but a social event sponsored by the seniors.

The junior class officers urge all JUNIORS to pay their dues. They will be $6 after Christmas for anyone who hasn't paid.

The Homecoming float, decorated in red and white, was the SOPHOMORES contribution to the Homecoming activities.

The newly elected FRESHMEN class officers have many money making projects in mind, among them a mixer during the Christmas holidays for the sophomores and freshmen, the purpose being to raise money for the Holy Childhood. Another was a car wash sometime in the spring. Besides these the frosh also anticipate the go ahead for a fashion show and mixer.

Students Test IQ

On October 26, second hour was set aside for all students to take the Otis-Lennon Test of Mental Ability. The company that puts out the test said that it will actually serve two purposes. First of all, by taking the test the students were helping to standardize it. Secondly, the results of the test will be helpful to the students since it will give the guidance office more information so that they will be more capable of directing the students in the right direction. For both of these reasons, the students eagerly await the results of the test.

Me? Lose my hair? Never!

Protected by umbrellas are Cheryl Mehan and her court Bobbie Jo Troupe, Mary Pat Corcoran, Patty Lanning and Mary Venneman.

The Homecoming activities began Thursday evening with a Mass and assembly in the gym, sponsored by the Senior Class. The Mass began with a procession of the royalty and their parents, class officers, football team, a representative from the Moose Pack, and the coaches. The Pep Club officers and a representative from the football team, Terry Dunn, presented the offering. The Choir and the Glee Club made their debut after the Mass, singing rousing fight songs.

The motorcade, starting in the parking lot, led the Miede fans to the Ward field with the accompaniment of a police escort. Although rain poured down, the game and half-time activities proved to be successful. The activities were sponsored by the Junior Class. After riding around the field, the royalty and their fathers were presented. Finally — the announcement of the queen and her royalty: 4th attendant—Mary Venneman, 3rd attendant—Patty Lanning, 2nd attendant—Mary Pat Corcoran, 1st attendant—Bobbie Jo Troupe, and the queen—Cheryl Mehan. The excited girls were presented with flowers, crowned, and escorted to the float. Despite the rain, the float constructed by the Sophomore Class, was a beautiful one. After the activities the game resumed and ended in a victorious 30-7 score.

Saturday morning found many of the Pep Club members working busily in the gym, cafeteria, and foyer, putting up decorations for the theme, "Homcoming, Past and Present." The main colors used were red and white for streamers, balloons, and signs presenting the past Homecoming Themes and royalty. At 9:00 the dance began with music furnished by the "Chesmann." At 10:00 the high point was reached when the royalty was presented and escorted to the throne. After the presentation the queen and her court reigned over their own dance.

Although our victorious weekend is over, Miegians will always remember the 1966 Homecoming as the best Miede has ever had.

Mice Cured Of Cancer

In the past two years Betsy Centner, senior, has been conducting several experiments pertaining to cancer in mice.

This project was triggered last February by an article which appeared in Medical World News. According to the article doctors have successfully stopped tumor development in 26 out of 27 patients by removing tumor slices, incubating them in sodium bicarbonate solution to kill the cell, and planting the tumor in the patient's body.

The present project utilizes a type of tumor which exists in a fluid form in the abdominal cavities of mice and may occasionally appear as solid tumor growth. These tumors were transplanted into different animals than those from which they were taken. At the present time only 2 out of 8 mice have survived the operations for any length of time, the longest period being a little over a month.

Cheerleaders Attend Clinic

Members of the varsity cheerleading squad attended the third annual "Cheerleaders Day" at Kansas State University, on Saturday, November 19.

The first part of the morning was devoted to learning a pom-pom routine to the K-State fight song and several K-State yells. The second part of the morning consisted of a yell demonstration by each participating high school squad of cheerleaders.

The day proved to be an interesting and successful one to the cheerleaders and they obtained many new ideas which they plan to use during the rest of the year.

'Feature Teacher'

The teacher, who has done a lot of work to develop the talent of Miego students, is Mrs. Dennihan. When asked what she thought of the attitude of Miego students, Mrs. Dennihan said, "The potential here is great. The boys and girls love to perform, and they are willing to put forth the necessary effort to perfect their work."

Mrs. Dennihan directs the Choir, Girls' Glee, she also leads the Boys' and Girls' Ensembles, Chorale, and a folk singing group. She also teaches music appreciation, a class in which she encourages many outside activities in music.

Honors To Players

Last Thursday night, Nov. 17, the varsity football players along with their fathers attended a chili supper held at Miego. Awards to the Year's Most Outstanding Lineman and Back, Strongheart Award, The Most Improved Player, and the Most Valuable Player of The Year were presented. The chili supper is considered a tradition at Miego and is a close to the football season.

National honors are scholarships, gold medals, cash awards, and the honor of display at the National High School Art Exhibition held in New York. Drama Club Exhibits Ambition

The drama club is very active this year. Nancy Tipton, heads the group as president with Mrs. Sullivan as faculty moderator.

On November 13 the members attended the play "Man of Four Season," sponsored by the Jewish Community Center.

The organization hopes to work out a children's play. It will then be given at an orphanage after Christmas. Club members will try out for parts.

Convention Relived

George Washington would have been proud of Mike Weitkamp. Why George Washington? Well, Mike portrayed this famous ancestor in a presentation of the Constitution. All this took place in Sr. Aloysius' American History class third hour, November 9.

While Mike presided over the general assembly, Harry Satariano acted as secretary. The rest of the primarily sophomore class made the delegates from all of the states. Each state had three delegates who, after discussing the matter among themselves, cast a single vote.

The script was contained in a chapter of their American History book. All of the main issues which were brought before the Constitutional Convention were discussed and voted on. An interesting difference in the 1787 convention and the 1966 one was the final outcome on some issues. Our system of Government might be very different today if Sr. Aloysius' class had written the Constitution!

Ode To A Turkey

How do you go about Telling a turkey
His time's run out?

He begs and he prays
That he might find a way
To escape his end today.

It's not that you're mean,
Or that he's not nice
If he'd only been lean,
You would have thought twice.

To tell him you're celebrating
Somehow doesn't seem fitting
What does Thanksgiving
Mean to a turkey
Except he'll no longer be living?

President's Opinions

"The senior class is very high spirited and holds much potential," says Jim Gendron, senior class president. Jim expresses the hope that this year will be the best for the class. The senior class has already sponsored the Homcoming Mass, which was a success. The class project will be decided later in the year.

Enthusiastic, energetic, well organized, co-operative, competitive, and exceedingly ambitious best describes the class of 68, in Ric North's opinion. Prom is the biggest project taken on by the juniors this year. Proof of junior class unity can be seen in the results of the Ad Campaign in which they took first place.

"Sophomores plan to take things as they come," says Pat Fitzgerald, sophomore class president. He feels that through meetings and activities the sophomore class could achieve a greater unity

Pat seems to think that the majority of the sophomores are active, and the Homecoming float tests this.

"The freshman class is great as a team," comments Mike Milazzo, freshman class president. "We are working on becoming a single unit. We can and will be the best freshman class in Miego history, if the students and teachers will give us the chance." Class projects range from a fashion show to a debate team.

Attention Frosh...

With the first quarter completed and the second quarter well in progress we, the paper staff, feel that it is our duty, since we are the mass media of Miego, to inform the freshmen of some of the unwritten laws of our school. Since all of the upperclassmen were at one time subjected to the same rules then we feel it is only fair to torture this year's freshmen in the same manner.

Some of the main Do's and Don'ts are as lows:

- 1) Don't bow as the upperclassmen go by.
- 2) Do get down on your hands and knees.
- 3) Do say "hi" to the upperclassmen.
- 4) Don't say "hi" when their friends are with them.
- 5) Don't wear ties on Fridays hoping to convince everyone that you are on the team.
- 6) Do stick to your own section of the hallway in the morning which means between locker numbers 376 and 379.
- 7) Don't talk about Torey's latest jokes.
- 8) Don't flash your animal crackers around at the lunch table.
- 9) Do remember to lock your bikes and display your safety sticker in a prominent place.
- 10) Do make sure that your name and homeroom number are marked in large letters on your bookbags, lunch pails, and galoshes.
- 11) Don't stand when you are called on in class.

Freshman—Do not be discouraged by these stipulations. Hold your head up high and some day you'll be a senior with a crick in your neck.

FROSH LEADERS: M. Hartnett, M. Milazzo, S. Weitkamp, J. Geraghty.

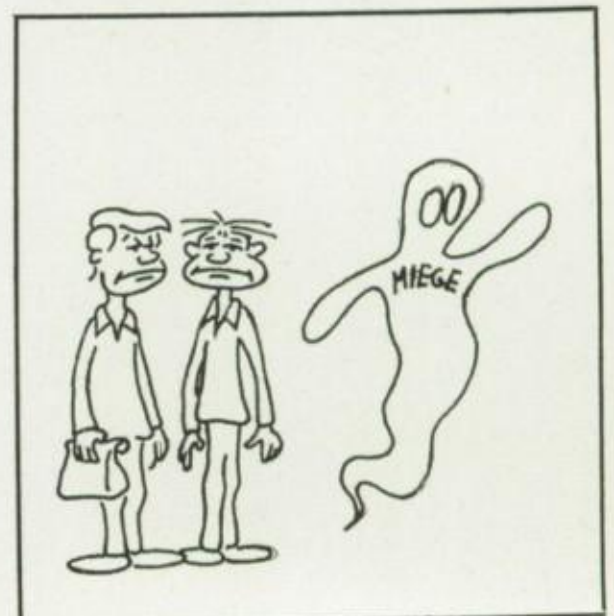

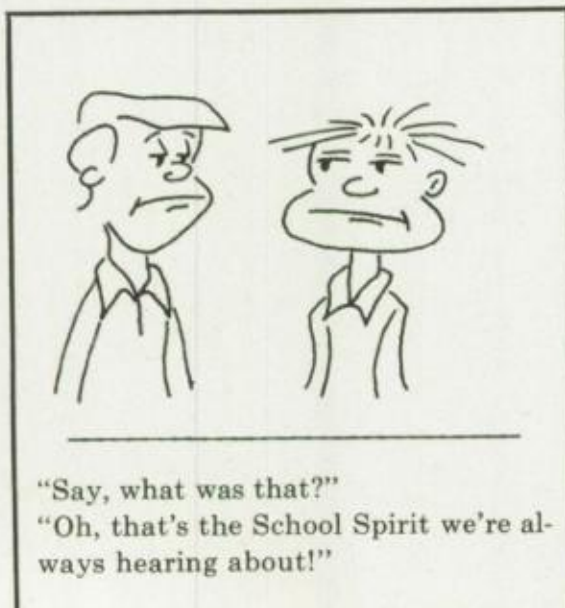

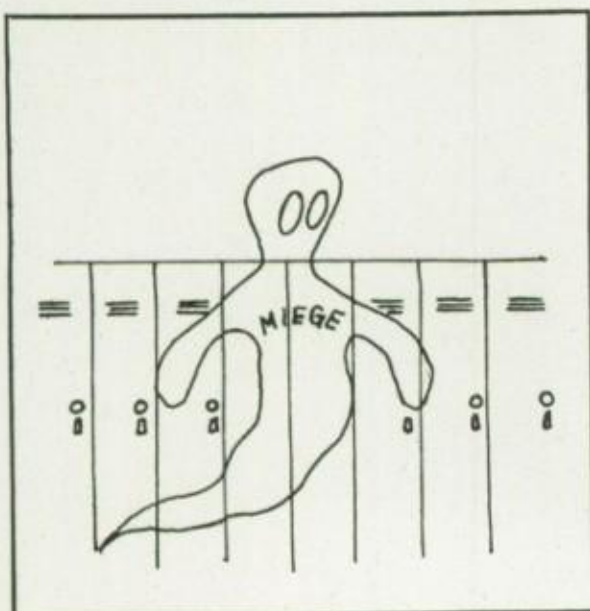

New Officers Elected

Freshmen held class elections and chose Mike Milazzo to lead the class as president. To assist Mike in his duties are Steve Weitkamp, vice-president; Martha Hartnett, secretary; and John Geraghty, treasurer.

Nominations were held in phys. ed. classes during the week of the ninth and campaign speeches were given on the 21st. The final elections were held on the 25th and the results were given on the 26th.

Frosh Take DAT

The Differential Aptitude Test was administered to all freshmen November 7 and 8. The DAT is part of the Kansas state testing program and measures ability in eight areas: verbal reasoning, numerical ability, abstract reasoning, clerical speed and accuracy, mechanical reasoning, space relations, and spelling and grammar. The results from this test will be available in early January.

Editors Chosen

Section editors for the Miegian have been chosen for this semester. These people are responsible for complete coverage of school activities and functions. Mary Ann Kathrens and her staff will voice student opinions on the editorial page.

The news section of the paper will be covered by Laura Booker's staff. Anita Daniels' staff is responsible for feature articles and picture pages for the Miegian. Kathy Flannigan, exchange editor, and her assistants cover current activities around town and send the Miegian to exchange schools. The sports editor is Greg Marino. His staff's job is to report all sports items.

Mr. Hennier Weds

Miss Carol Passatino and Mr. Richard Hennier were married October 22 at St. Charles Catholic Church in North Kansas City.

Following the wedding, 150 guests attended a dinner and reception at the Pickwick Hotel. From the reception the newlywed couple left for Las Vegas where they spent a 4 day honeymoon.

Mrs. Hennier is a graduate of Avila College and is now teaching elementary school in Lenexa, Kansas. Mr. Hennier is a graduate of Rockhurst College and is now teaching Bookkeeping to 5th and 6th hours at Miego. Mr. Hennier is also a coach of the Basketball team.

Honor Roll

What does it mean to be on the Honor Roll? To many students it means not being grounded for a week-end, to others it means something to brag about. Some people don't even like to see their name on the honor roll because so and so will think they are too smart. These are all false pretenses, however. To be on the honor roll is just what it says—an honor. It brings satisfaction and encouragement to those who make it. It is incentive for someone with slightly less than a B average to work just a little harder. It also helps B+ people work for that A.

The Miegian is printing the names of everyone on the honor roll at the end of each quarter as a means of saying "Congratulations, keep up the good work."

SCHOOLS IN THE SPOTLIGHT

This month Southwest will hold their football banquet and "The Red Skin Rebels" talent show. Southwest beat Paseo 47-0 for Homecoming last week and Christy Merrill was crowned queen.

Center High School will hold their College Night and their school play this month. The play this year is to be "By the Skin of Your Teeth."

The word at Shawnee Mission East is "Soul". Jerry Freedman and Bill Keller are organizing the "All-Souls" band, featuring two trumpets, organ, rhythm, and lead guitars, plus a pure soul singer. The group will make its debut at an upcoming East assembly.

Sunset will soon hold its annual Book Fair. Senior Jan Duramus was crowned the Pem-Day Homecoming queen. The Sunset hockey team tied John Burroughs of St. Louis for the first time in nearly twenty years, 1-1.

Pem-Day AFS candidates are Dan Tilson, junior and Fred Grubiss, senior. Many of the boys are now spending their Saturdays tutoring underprivileged children and helping them in hospitals. The Glee Club is to present the "Messiah" on December 11 at 415 West 13th St.

The girls at St. Theresa are playing intramural volleyball games between the four classes. Cheerleaders have been chosen for the games and Judy Donaldson was picked as the Purple Bear mascot.

Who's On Top?

This is the third year for class competition points which were inaugurated in 1964 by Terry Alley. The seniors won in the 1964-'65 school year, with a tie last year between the juniors and the sophomores.

In past years students had to wait until the end of the year to find out the standing of the class competition points. This year they will be printed occasionally.

It remains to be seen who will win this year.

"New Journalists"

Students may have noticed two new faculty faces, Mrs. Ann Ogden and Mr. Ted Dickey, around the school lately. These two people are here to relieve Sister Baptista of her third and sixth hour journalism classes after her recent illness.

Journalism has been Mrs. Ogden's main interest ever since her graduation from K-State University in 1954. Her first job in this field was as society editor on the "Lyons Daily" in Lyons, Kansas. She was off the journalism circuit for several years until she joined the combined staff of the "The Scout" and The Plaza Magazine. For about a year and a half she worked as assistant to the editor on these two publications. Presently, in addition to being the advisor of the Miege paper staff, she also teaches Developmental Reading classes to freshmen students at U.M.K.C.

Mr. Dickey, a former graduate of Miege, is also very capable in handling a journalism class. In his years here at Miege he wrote various humor columns, such as "Theodore Says" in 1961, and "Ted's Theories" in 1962. He now attends the University of Kansas where he is finishing up his degree on his major, business administration and political science. Aside from his sixth hour journalism class, Mr. Dickey also teaches a fifth hour senior English and is varsity line coach here at Miege.

It's A Date

"The Playboy of the Western World"; a comedy by J. M. Synge, will open at the Circle Theatre on December 7, and will play through December 31.

The Kansas City Philharmonic will present Marilyn Horn, mezzo-soprano, at the Music Hall on December 6.

Yoichi Hiraoka, xylophonist, will be featured at the Connoisseur Concert, Sunday, November 27, at Shawnee Mission East. The performance will begin at 4:30.

University Playhouse will present "The Italian Straw Hat" on December 1, 2, 3, 4, 8, 9, and 10.

Guidance Adds Something New

The Guidance Department is one of the more important places in the school—but it is also one which is seldom used by many of the students. With the help of Sister Georgetta and Mr. Messina, much can be obtained from this department, such as information on career choices.

One of the newest additions to the department this year is the "career file." The file is alphabetized according to each career. On each career file card is contained information such as: the specific duties involved in that career, requirements for that field, and even addresses of places to write for further information. The Guidance office would like to stress the usefulness of such a file, and would encourage students look through it.

It is for this purpose, in addition to the convenience for the student, that the outer office of the Guidance Department is set up like a sitting room. In this way the student can look both through the career file, and through the pamphlets of occupations on the rack located in the waiting room of the department. Use of both of these benefits offered by the department could be of help to each individual student.

College Corner

Fontbonne College is a four-year Catholic college for women located in Clayton, Missouri, one of the finest residential sections of St. Louis. It was founded in 1917 by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet. The College provides primarily an education in the liberal arts but also prepares for the profession.

Freshmen entering the College must take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board and must have graduated from an accredited high school.

Harriers Close Season

In their last meet of the season, the regional meet at Shawnee Mission West on October 29, the Miego harriers placed 10th out of 12 teams.

But earlier in the season, the Stags placed second in a meet with Rosedale and Argentine, after the Miego team had won their first three meets. They then took first place in a meet with harriers from Rockhurst, St. Pius, and Pem-Day, but came in last at the Shawnee Mission Invitationals.

At the Ottawa Invitational, in what Coach Zimola described as the "highlight of the season" the Stag cross-country team came in third out of ten teams.

Coach Zimola also commended Mike Bock and Paul Justus for their performances all season long, and ended up by saying that the whole team had a fairly successful season.

Stags Fall to Cyclones

In the last game of the season, the Stags lost to the fiery Ward Cyclones, 30 to 0.

The Miego defense played well but could not hold back the exceptional running of Mike Kolich and Dave Grosko plus the talents of quarterback Bob Janesko. Outstanding for Miego were Tom Koob, Pat Larkin, Mark Geraghty, and Terry Dunn. The strong Ward defense was penetrated once in a second quarter scoring threat. The Stags had to relinquish possession of the ball, however, when they ran out of downs.

Ward, top rated in the city, handed Miego its fourth loss, bringing the Stags record to 4-4-1.

Ward ended its season 8-0-1.

Cain breaks loose on touchdown gallop as Hayden pursues in vain.

Miego Clinches Homecoming Game

On Friday, November 4, the fans roared as the Stag grid squad pulverized the Hayden Wildcats on the rainsoaked Ward field, winning the Homecoming game with a score of 30-7.

Outstanding effort was shown by all of the Miego squad, especially by offensive players Rick Cain, Bob Hrozenak, Steve Scanlon and Tom Koob. Miego hustled in the first quarter, tallying 18 points.

Junior fullback Rick Cain made a powerful 30-yard run over Wildcat tacklers in the first quarter and another 85-yard run on an end sweep in the third quarter for two of the team's touchdowns. Senior quarterback Bob Hrozenak made a one-yard smash through Hayden and over the goal line. Senior halfbacks Steve Scanlon and Tom Koob both scored on runs of 58 and 57 yards respectively.

Hayden was unable to dent the Stags' tight defense until the last quarter when Steve Bennet ran for a touchdown from the two-yard line.

Stags Tame Cats

Miego Stags ended a three game losing streak by defeating the Rosedale Wildcats 13-0 on the loser's field. Mark Geraghty returned the opening kickoff 35 yards to the mid-field stripe. Three plays later Rich Cain ran 41 yards for the score.

The second and third quarters were defensive battles as neither team scored. Miego scored in the final minutes of the fourth quarter on a 10-yard run by Rich Cain; Tom Koob ran for the extra point. The victory brought the Stags' record to 3-3-1.

Titans Nip Stags

The De La Salle Titans squeezed by the Miego Stags in a 13 to 6 ball game at O'Hara Stadium. Mr. Frazier commented that overall this was one of our better games.

The offensive back of the evening was Steve Scanlon, who, besides gaining over 100 yards, scored our only touchdown. In Coach Frazier's opinion Scanlon played his best game of the season. Other outstanding performances came from Terry Dunn and Bob Celitti in the offensive line.

Concerning the game, Mr. Frazier said, "We should have and could have won the ball game except lack of execution on two plays. From the caliber of the De La Salle team, this is an indication that we would be able to play against most teams in the areas and do well."

Frosh and J.V.'S End Season

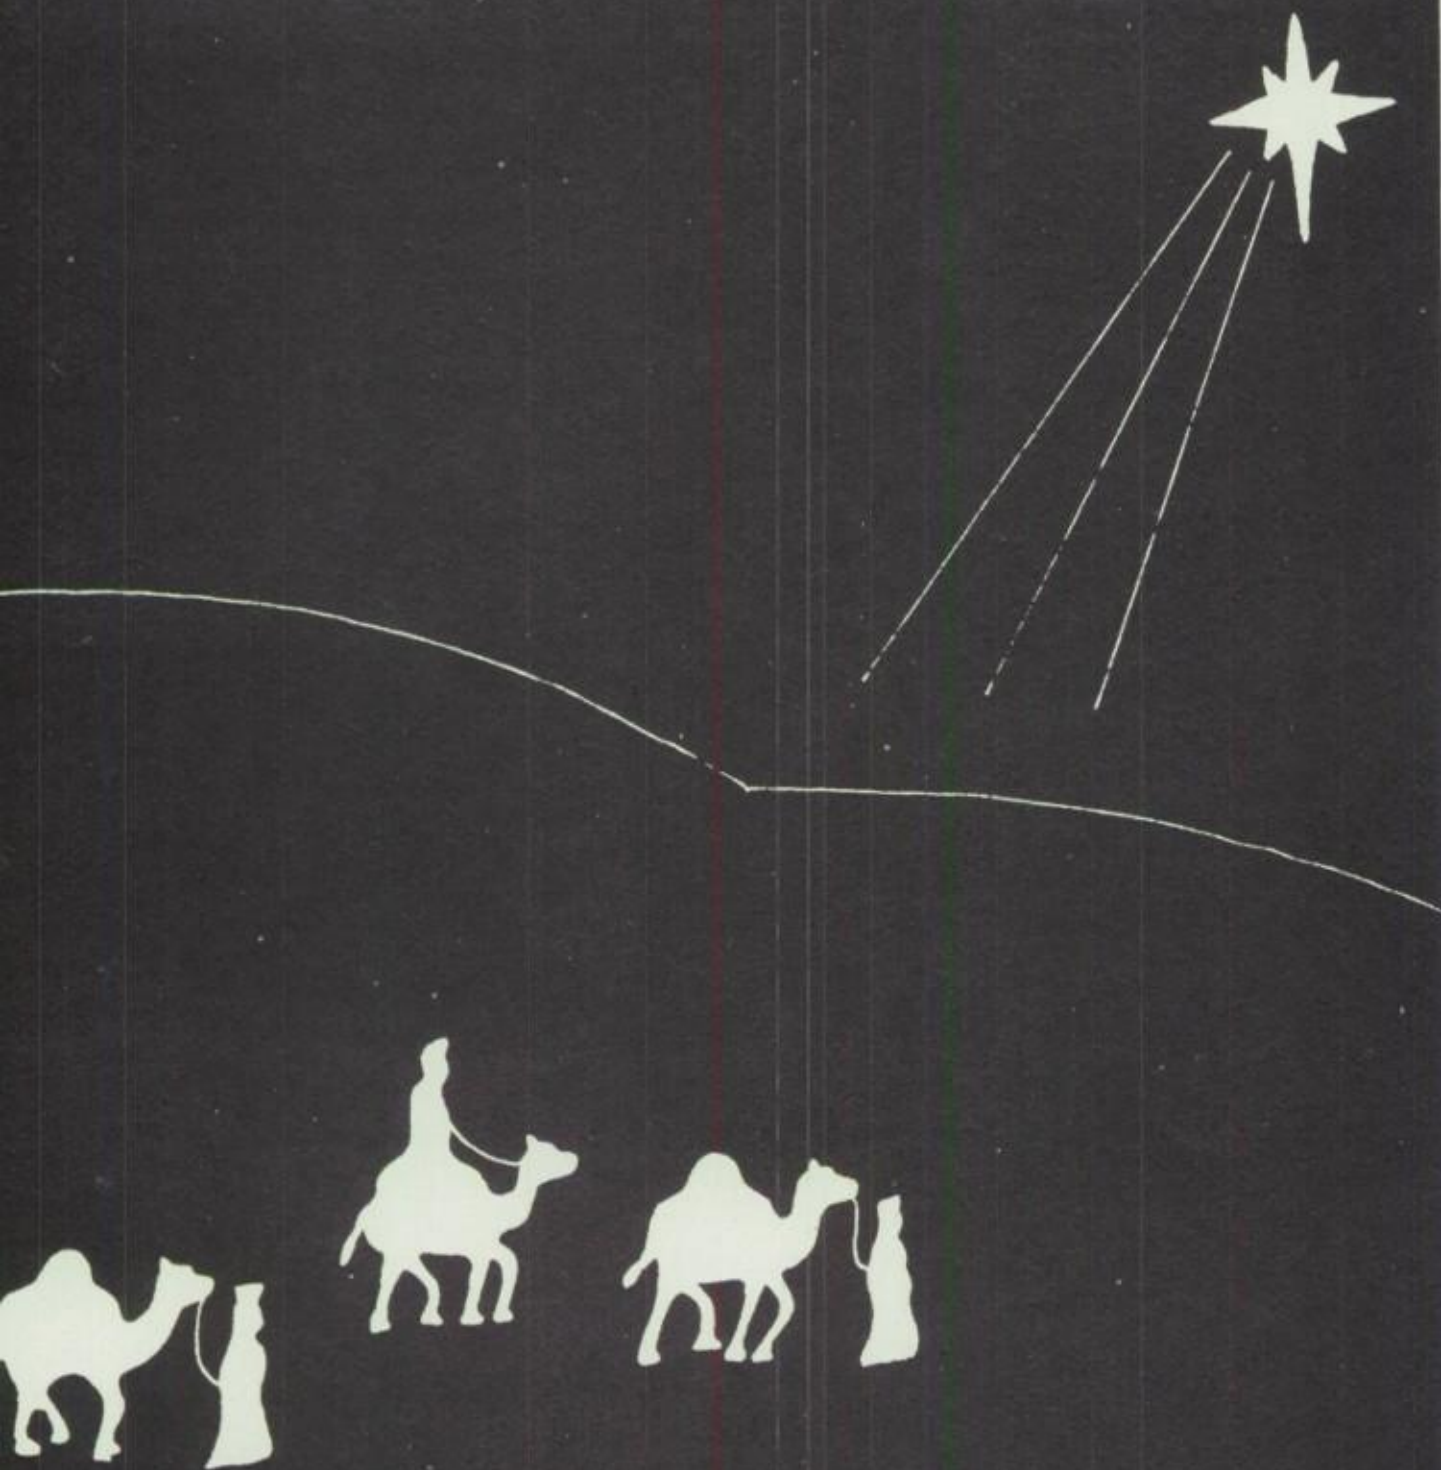

The Freshman record for the season was 4-3. Coach Reardon said that this was probably their smallest line since he's been here, and also his fastest backfield. Coach Gannon agreed also. The frosh games went as follows: Miego 19, St. Pius 6; Miego 21, Argentine 7; Miego 0, Ward 27; Miego 7, O'Hara 20; Miego 26, Rockhurst 13; Miego 13, De La Salle 14; Miego 20, Rosedale 0.

Things did not fare so well for the Junior Varsity team this year as they ended up with a 0-7 won-lost record.

Following is a summary of the scores of the JV's games: Pius 9, Miego 2; Argentine 13, Miego 0; De La Salle 19, Miego 7; Turner 20, Miego 7; Rockhurst 51, Miego 0; O'Hara 7, Miego 0; Rosedale 19, Miego 7.

Mr. Murphy, coach, said one reason for the poor season was that the mainly sophomore squad played junior teams.

Mr. Murphy and Mr. Mohlman, JV coaches agreed that good performance had been turned in all season long by Larry Thies, Hank Bauer, John Garner, John Miller, Rick Landers, and Mike Reilly.

THE IMMIGRIANT

Film Shortage Felt in Kansas Schools

It has supposedly always been the policy and purpose of libraries to make their services available to the public. Previously, the lending of films for school use was among one of these services, but the Kansas City Missouri Public Library is no longer extending this privilege to Kansas schools. The result has been that these schools cannot acquire films needed for some aspects of classroom work.

It is true that there are many branch libraries in the surrounding area, but the majority of these have very few, or no films at all, to supply the need. With the main library so close, it almost seems ridiculous to be denied these films. Also the mere fact that Kansans pay the Missouri earnings tax and contribute a vast amount to the state's business is another consideration to be studied.

The main argument given by the Missouri Library is that it can no longer meet the needs of both the Kansas and Missouri schools. Forced to make a decision, it naturally chose to lend the films to the Missouri schools, and deny them to the Kansas students. Was this, however, the only recourse available?

On the other hand, the Johnson County Library, fully aware of the situation, has so far taken no action to acquire new films. An adequate money appropriation would undoubtedly be an incentive.

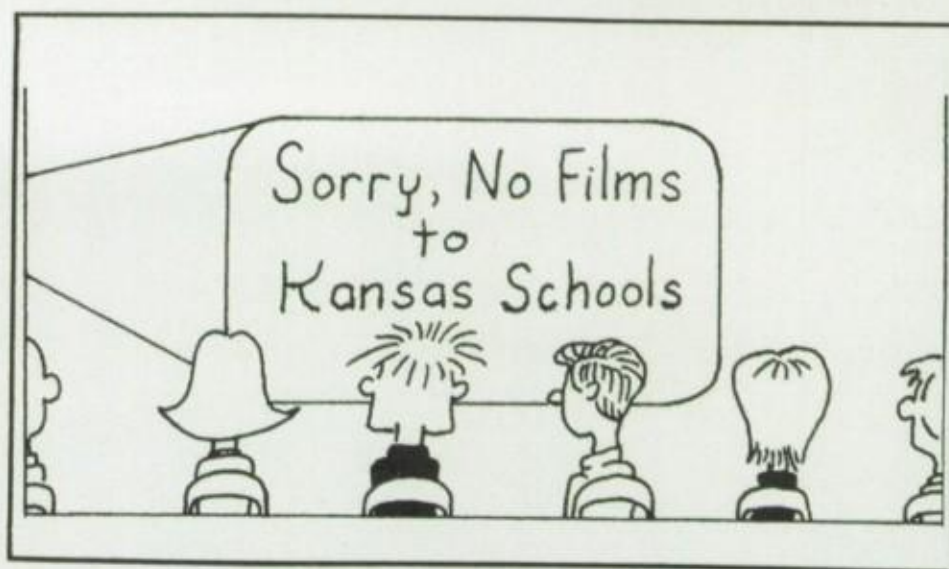

As students eager for new and better methods of education, we should not sit idly by and accept this decision as final. It is hoped that some initial action will be taken to remedy the situation.

Christmas Parade In KC Lacks Vitality

If anyone went downtown to view Kansas City's Christmas parade there was probably some disappointment. The parade was made up of bands and marching girls from the Salvation Army. Giant balloons ranging from Donald Duck to dragons were also displayed. This was the extent of the main part of our city's Christmas parade.

In a city of Kansas City's size and population, it seems that something could be done to improve the parade which is the start of the Christmas season. The parade, itself, needs to develop vitality, and should excite Christmas spirit into the citizens of Kansas City.

To improve the size and originality of the parade, the idea has been voiced that schools in the Kansas City area should participate in a contest for the best float, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. This contest should be judged on originality and the work that was put into the construction of the float. The contest would create competition among schools, and each school would be striving for a better Christmas parade, making this a better city.

Will Christmas Be Merry For GI Joe?

The joyous Christmas season is upon us once again --- jingle bells, holly sprigs, softly-lit crib scenes, and "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

In the midst of all this holiday atmosphere, we often may stop and ask ourselves with discontented hearts "... peace on earth? Where? When? How?" With earnest intent we rather sadly turn our thought to our boys in Vietnam fighting bravely for the values which make our Christmases; indeed, our every season — our every day — as free, as joyful, as American as they are.

Many G.I.s will spend this Christmas away from their families and their loved ones. Some will perhaps spend Christmas reading a letter from home over and over again. Some will undoubtedly spend it lying in infirmaries with a wounded leg or arm, shooing the flies away and dreaming of a white Christmas. Others will perhaps remember Christmas 1966 as a day they spent dodging enemy fire and fighting V.C. guerillas.

A lucky group may remember Christmas as being spent laughing at Bob Hope's jokes and gazing at a pretty young starlet—seeing in them a small fragment of their beloved America.

As we enjoy the blessings of Christmas, let us not forget our men overseas, who are making it possible for future generations of Americans to experience truly joyful Christmases.

Christmas scene on cover was designed by Carol Feldman and Kathy Phillips. It was drawn by Tom Koetting.

In Paradisum

Kenny Lutz, freshman, died Saturday, December 10, from a brain tumor after a six month illness. Kenny was able to attend Miego for only a short time but it was an important time to him. While attending St. Pius Grade School, he was a very active baseball pitcher and was also on the B-team in Basketball. Kenny spent much of his spare time working with the Mission police department as a police cadet. During his illness he was visited by the Mission police, Kansas City Chiefs, and the Athletics. Kenny will not only be missed by his parents, two sisters, and a brother, but also will be missed by his friends at Miego. Funeral services were held December 12, at St. Pius X Church. May he rest in peace.

Commercialism Takes Priority over Christ

"What has happened to Christmas?" Many would say nothing. They would be so bold as to insist it is the same as it has always been. But commercialism is taking over the whole spirit of Christmas.

As far back as September, some stores were displaying aisles of Christmas ornaments and wrapping paper. On Monday, November 21, a Christmas parade was held in downtown Kansas City—three days before Thanksgiving! Then on Thanksgiving the Plaza lights were turned on. In all of this fuss over gifts, parades, and lights, not one mention was made of Christ. Is Christmas the same as it used to be?

During Advent the big Christmas rush began. Thousands of Kan-

A Senior Remembered

On Friday, November 18, Maxine Cramer, a senior, died of Hodgkins Disease, after three months of illness.

Maxine was a true Miegian and when she died she took a piece of Miego with her and left a memory in its place. During her three years at school Maxine was an active member in the Pep Club, Honor "M", PoVo, Girls' Glee Club, MACA, Homecoming Committees, Prom Committee, Young Democrats, and was also on the Honor Roll.

We wish to offer our sincere sympathies to the Cramer family and to all of Maxine's friends and relatives.

The day after Maxine's death Mr. Cramer wrote a letter to the school. The Miegian staff felt that his letter had a very important message for all and should not be forgotten. For this reason we are reprinting his letter which reflects both his and Maxine's feelings toward Miego.

Father Sullivan, Staff, and students of Bishop Miego.

As you know we have lost our Maxine. She held you all close to her heart. In those months of her illness her foremost thought was to graduate with her class. She did receive her class ring and pictures, they brought her much joy.

It helped her to know you thought of her and prayed for her. She was supported by your prayers. We know, for not once did she complain or question God's will. Her courage was tremendous. If this is what your religion can do for you — cherish it.

So that some good can come of her death I know she would want me to ask that each of you be kind to each other, be charitable and understanding in the days to come. If you will do this you will give her joy and our grief will be greatly lessened.

Thank you all,

Mr. & Mrs. C. R. Cramer

In Memoriam

Mrs. Ernest G. Petersen, the mother of junior Mike Petersen died December 14. She was a member of St. Pius X parish. Services were held at the church December 17, and interment was in Resurrection cemetery.

Mr. John C. McMillan, father of John M. McMillan, senior, died Tuesday, December 13, of a heart attack.

Mr. McMillan was a member of St. Pius Parish. However, funeral services took place in Herrington, Kansas, on December 15.

Editorial comment

The staff of the Miegian would like to express their condolences to the families of Mr. John C. McMillan and Mrs. Ernest G. Petersen.

Short Story — first place

Riding home in the car with my mother, I sat there in a daze, staring straight ahead. The two of us, now silent, had been shocked when, about a half hour ago, Dr. Rufe had informed us that I would go blind in approximately twenty-four hours. Twenty-four hours! After a wonderful life, in just twenty-four hours all would be black! I was afraid. Sure, I had seen blind people, but I never thought I'd be one of them. Then, just like that, one little car accident . . . and poof! The car wasn't even damaged, nor the streetlight Dad ran into. But my door had to fly open, causing me to slam my head into the metal frame.

I don't know what made me do it, but then and there I resolved not to let anyone, especially me, feel sorry for me. I brightened up a little as we returned home when all five little kids came running out of the house to greet us. I ran inside to see how long I had left. It was eight o'clock. One precious hour had already slipped by. I called up my best friend, telling as best I could about my fate. Her voice sounded sympathetic, so I made it short. I wasn't going to put up with any pity. It would be impossible to continue my life as usual, but Mother said I could try continuing at Mige, and see how it worked out.

We had a quiet dinner; no one mentioned anything about it. I went to my room and pulled out my treasure box which had in it all my childhood pictures and papers. After looking through them all, I dressed for bed. As I predicted, I couldn't get to sleep, so I got out my book, "Helen Keller," to read. I was really very lucky, compared with her. Helen Keller was blind and deaf since she was a baby. Consoled by Miss Keller's true story, I finally dozed off.

Never was I more grateful for a beautiful sunrise as that morning. It would be the last I would see. I dressed in a bright dress and walked alone up to six o'clock Mass. I studied the priest, the beautiful stained glass windows, and the marble altar. I made another resolution: to come to Mass as often as possible. As I ran home, I planned the day. First a visit with some friends, and then, maybe a family picnic. At home, people were up and dressing for eight o'clock Mass. I asked mother what she thought of the picnic, and she agreed. I called my friends and invited them over. At about ten-thirty they arrived with some candy and flowers. I was embarrassed about accepting them, but soon the girls were acting normally, and we had a grand time. My mother had invited my grandmother to the picnic, which made it more fun. At Shawnee Mission Park, we had a terrific time eating cold fried chicken, playing kickball and then going out in paddleboats all over the lake. Time had gone by fast, and I was shocked when I realized it was five o'clock. Just two more hours! I suppose Mother realized it too, for we soon left for home. It was a day I'll never forget.

Title: Operation X.M.A.S.

Class: Junior

Gentlemen, gentlemen, may I have your attention please. As you very well know our world is facing the greatest crisis in its history. Our people grow farther and farther apart each day. Something must be done!

In the next room I have a man who came to me the other day with an idea. After hearing his suggestions I invited him here to tell you about himself.

Good morning, gentlemen, I am Kris Kringle. I have come here to present to you a plan which I believe to be a solution to your problems. I call my plan operation X.M.A.S. Its objective is brotherhood remembering

i sit in the brown crackling leaves and watch the wind caressingly take the summer from the trees and the clouds are gray and heavy with the rain that will paste the summer to the earth, making us remember, yet forget.
it sit and the wind blows the leaves through my hair and in my face and i remember and remember all the autumns that have yet to come and the first part of the day is past.
this dying is so beautiful because of what has been and what will be.

For this year's literary contest twenty entries were submitted from all classes. The three categories were poetry, short stories, and essays. Each category had first and second place winners and, as a result of a tie, two second places in poetry.

The contest was judged by Gilbert Rees, an instructor in the school of education at U.M.K.C. where he acted as consultant to the English department. He has written two books and also the script for Tense Imperfect, which was filmed at Mige and won a Silver Medal, second place, in the New York International Film Festival.

Short Story — second place

"No! I don't believe it! It could never happen! It won't!" I screamed to my shocked family. I choked back a sob and ran out the house down the winding stairs that led to the landing under the upraised foundation. Following a secret path that led to a small wooded area, I ran hysterically, now letting loose my choked back sobs.

Finally reaching my destination I threw myself on the ground and cried bitterly. "They're crazy! The whole mess of them! They're foolish to prepare for an attack from the aliens! They won't come! I know it and I'm not going to run from nothing!"

I rolled over on my back looked up at the gray sky. Smog, I thought to myself. My mother said that when she was a girl the sky was blue.

Glancing around I saw what once had been a creek. Ever since 1996 there had been a great water shortage. That was ten years ago and still there was no fresh water. I sighed wearily and murmured softly "I won't run" and fell into an exhausted sleep.

When I awoke it was nearly dusk. I must have slept at least six hours. Getting up I noticed how quiet it was; an eerie, sort of silence. Thinking that there was a reasonable explanation, I hurried home. Running up the stairs I opened the door. The suitcases were still opened and not quite packed. "Mom?" I cried. My voice echoed through the house. "Dad?" Hey, isn't anyone home?"

Starting down the stairs I mused aloud, "They must have gone to town. Yes, that's it!"

Reaching the street, I once again became aware of the queer silence. I noticed something else that was strange. No kids were playing outside. Usually they terrorized the whole neighborhood.

Surely someone must know what's going on. Mrs. Merog! She'll know! I spotted her house and ran up the inclined sidewalk that led to her front door.

"Mrs. Merog?" I called uneasily. No answer. I hurried back to the street and thought wildly. "They must have gone to town."

With that thought, I began running the quarter of mile way to town. As I half-stumbled and half-ran I noticed that no where were there any sign of people.

Finally I reached the town. There wasn't a soul in sight. The sidewalks were right in the middle of the street with no one in them!

Frantically I ran into a department store and stopped right in the doorway. With one swift glance I could tell it, too, was empty. And then with a sudden anger, I pushed over a small table containing bottles of perfume. As it fell to the floor, shattering the bottles, I ran outside.

"Oh my God!" I moaned and crumpled to the sidewalk.

After several minutes had passed I realized that it had begun to get dark. I raised my head. The first thing I saw was the Center Building. I remembered how proud my father had been when he was appointed chief engineer when the building was being constructed. And then a glimmer of hope began inside of me. "Why hadn't I thought of it before? Why everyone's at the Center! A meeting must have been called!"

Running towards the building my thoughts were racing ahead of me. When I get there they'll all turn around and cry joyfully "There she is! There's Charolette Mezander!" And they'll all cluster around me and tell me how worried they were about me.

Reaching the building I hurried up the stairs and paused before the huge doors. I opened it. I heard a scream. It was my own for no one was there.

Slowly I walked down the stairs as if I was in a coma. But wait what was that? A shadow maybe? Don't be a fool, I told myself. No one's here and you know it!

But now I came to my senses. There was something moving along the hedge. I saw a form emerge from the foliage and I smothered a scream.

Downstream

The lake was like a sheet
Of polished glass,
Shining and glittering
Under the summer skies.

A trout jumped
In the middle of the lake
Sending a rush of ripples,
Disturbing the reflections of the pine trees
And making them seem
To shiver with delight.

Overhead a flock of geese
Winged its way southward
Through the deep blue sky.

They were in V formation
And I watched them
Until their honking faded away,
And they were mere specks
On the horizon.

Time, always intruding,
Disturbed my thoughts
I dipped my paddle into the water
And continued my way
Downstream.

Types of Laughter

Technically, I suppose, each person has his own laugh, like fingerprints, but most laughs will fit into four general categories.

In the first category is the Loud Laugher who sounds more like a jolly fog-horn than a person laughing. A Loud Laugher thinks he is the life of the party. It is more likely, however, that he will be the death of the party, since other people usually become so annoyed by the Loud Laugher's nerve-wracking guffaws that they simply leave. The Loud Laugher laughs at anything and everything whether it is funny or not. This is mainly because he can't distinguish between something that is really funny and something that is absolutely humorless. He usually solves this dilemma by laughing at everything.

Most of the people who fall within the first category are men, but there are a few women who certainly qualify for membership. Of course, the women don't have the same volume as the men, although some have come close, but women Loud Laughers are just as obnoxious as the men. In some cases they are even more annoying.

The Quiet Laugher has a soft, whispering laugh. It took me quite a while to decide if the people in this group were just grinning or actually laughing. The only way to tell if a Quiet Laugher is laughing is to see if he has a wide grin on his face and is rapidly exhaling in a series of short breaths. If the Quiet Laugher keeps going long enough, he will become doubled over from lack of oxygen. For those who don't already know, it is because you don't breathe deeply that you get a pain in your side after doing something strenuous. Now that I've let you in on the secret, whenever you see a smiling person doubled over you'll know why.

Silence

It was a man! A very old man! But a very real person! I ran towards him and as I did he slumped to the ground.

"Hey mister! Where are they? Where did you come from? Oh gee, mister, I was never so glad to see anyone in my life! Hey mister, is something wrong?"

"They're, they're gone. The aliens came, took them away. Gone, just like that." He was struggling for words. "Just faded away; my son, he's gone. . ."

"Hey mister don't go out on me I don't want to be alone. The silence it bothers me! I hate silence. . ." I stopped. I stared at the man in bewilderment. Why he was fading. Just like he said the others had.

"Please mister don't leave me," I cried. I reached out to grab him but he was gone.

"My God!" I cried. "What am I to do?"

Silence was my answer.

Moose Pack Raises Spirits

The Moose Pack made its home debut at the Rosedale game which the team won handily 66-51. Donning their new hats the pack yelled in the support of the team. Backed up by continuous loud drumming, the Moose Pack let their presence be known with continual loud cheering and bellowing. Even the pep club was at times caught up in the chants of the pack, and seemed to enjoy it. Mr. Dickey, who has helped greatly in organizing the Moose Pack said the boys really did some great cheering and that they controlled themselves well during the game. Even a member of the opposite sex thought that the Moose Pack was a great thing and showed the boys spirit was just as great as the girls.

Class Studies Stocks

"The Dow Jones average for today is up 7.52." Mr. Dickey's sixth hour journalism class is currently studying the stock market. The class is divided into groups which investigate the stocks of different companies. Each person is responsible for following the stock market and keeping up with the gains or losses of their company.

The field of advertising is also being discussed in this class.

Adult Classes To Begin Here

Miege will initiate an Adult Education program sometime in January. This program, which is being sponsored by the P.T.O., is open to the public. The courses are being offered strictly for enjoyment and personal betterment, as no college credit is being offered.

Teachers from Miege, along with other qualified people, will teach a variety of subjects ranging from beginning bridge to furniture refinishing to conversational French.

Christmas Vacation

Christmas Vacation begins today and runs through January 3rd.

God Wills It

When we got home, we all watched TV for half an hour, but my mind drifted from the show. One more hour! My stomach was upside down. I was scared again. I watched everyone in my family for the last time. I decided to take the easy way out. I dressed for bed, kissed my parents good night, and retired to my room. I said extra long prayers that night and just sat by the window. Remembering a phrase my father continuously said, "God will it," I went to sleep. Morning came. Afraid to open my eyes, I lay in bed for about fifteen minutes. When I got enough courage, I peeked. Nothing. I rubbed my eyes. Still nothing. Not alarmed a bit, I got up and dressed for the day.

which in your situation must be gained gradually.

With this in mind I have drawn up a master plan for operation X.M.A.S. To begin with we must have a day, an expression of our objective, and a man. We need a day dedicated to our objective, brotherhood, an expression of our objective such as gift-giving, and a man who is to the people a perfect example of brotherhood. For my plan I have picked the twenty-fifth day of December and a jolly, white-whiskered, old man.

The master plan goes into action early in July. At this time retailers will start ordering great quantities of items which are suitable for one person to give to another. The retailer will next start a massive advertisement campaign on the last Thursday of November. This gives the people close to three weeks in which to shop. Such a short time to shop pressures the people. Gentlemen, I can not emphasize enough this pressuring of the people. The twenty-fifth day of December must be a day of some relief in order that the people will connect brotherhood with some amount of enjoyment.

If, gentlemen, you have any doubts please feel free to check the files on the history of Earth. This system has been used for many years. Good day, gentlemen, and good luck.

Santa's Secret Life

As you all know Santa Claus is busy for one day of the year. Well, has it ever occurred to you to wonder just what he does with his time for the other 364 days in the year? Perhaps you are thinking that he makes toys, well that's an old wives tale. He has approximately three thousand dwarfs to help him. The following are just guesses at what he does with his spare time, but there might be some truth to them.

Maybe Santa plays for some pro football team with a physique like his you might as well take advantage of it. Or perhaps, he just practices sky diving in case his sleigh hits a tree. Maybe he is a volunteer fireman and around Christmas time just glues some cotton on his red thermals or perhaps he is a very active member of the "metrecal for lunch bunch."

It doesn't really matter what he does to amuse himself just as long as he is the good will ambassador to the world on December the twenty-fifth.

Running Wild

Running Wild

Wild as the wind on a nowhere mountain,
Reaching for a star-twinkle
That illuminates God's midnight sky,
A star-twinkle to pull apart the drapes of night
And show me a day path for running wild on.

No time to stop, not even to catch my breath,
No time to pick the tempting gold-gilt flowers,
That grow by the road path,
For they wilt in evening sun.

I have but one day to journey,
From the spring to winter of my years.
One day to love and hate my people and my world.
So I must hurry, running wild.
Wild as the wind

on a nowhere mountain.

Christmas All Year

Every year at Miego students participate in a drive to collect food and clothing for poor and needy families.

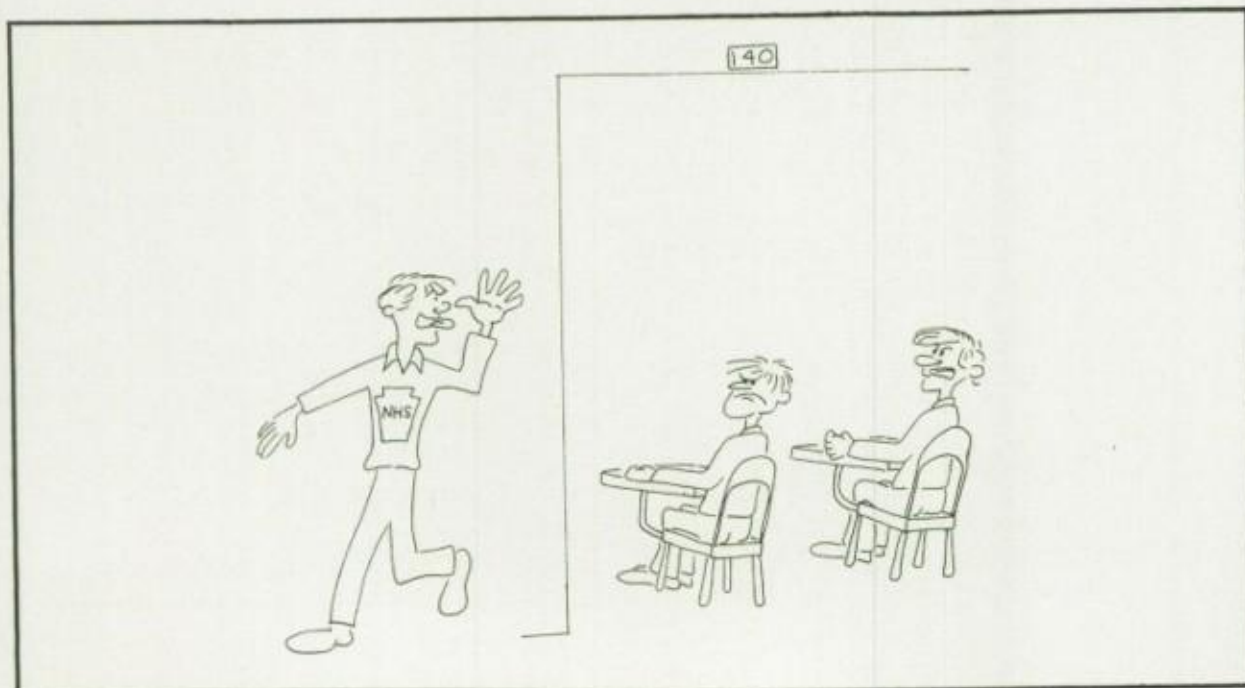

Each homeroom is assigned to one family, and the students do their best to make Christmas happy for that family. This year, however, in addition to this, the service committee has organized a project which will bring Christmas to these families all year long. Students have been urged to bring canned goods to room 123 every first Friday. These goods will later be taken to Catholic Charities to be distributed as needed. In this way, Miegians can help people whose needs they are not aware of. "Maybe, through our example, others will be inclined to keep such projects going throughout the year," stated Kathy D'Agostino, chairman of the service committee.

Project Christopher Comes to Miego

A representative from Project Christopher recently visited our school to discuss this foundation and to recruit any teenagers that may wish to join.

Project Christopher was founded by Father John Brayley as a non-profit organization which challenges young teenagers to give of themselves to the less fortunate. The summer home of Project Christopher is located in Bethlehem, South Dakota. Teenagers spend two months there, of which time they live on less than $1 a day. They are completely on their own, with no adults to organize their activities. Their main objective is not to help, but to share in community life of a Mexican, Negro, or Indian.

One young writer stated: "Project Christopher . . . offers teenagers the opportunity to escape the "cradle" of the home and to stand and think for themselves . . . They are given an opportunity to serve others."

The Inward Laughter is the most mysterious of the group because he laughs only in his mind. His face is expressionless, almost like stone. If an Inward Laughter has any side comments, as most normal people usually do, he keeps them to himself. A man who is an Inward Laughter could actually die laughing and no one would ever know the real cause.

The final category is the Quiet to Hysterical Laughter. I have saved this one until last because I feel that this type of laughter is the most unusual. A Quiet to Hysterical Laughter starts out as a Quiet Laughter. He only lets out a few giggles or low ha-has. Then he progresses to a stage about midway between the Quiet Laugh and the Loud Laugh. This stage is, of course, called the Intermediate Laugh. I couldn't make a separate category for the Intermediate Laugh because what could I say except that it is halfway between Quiet and Loud? Which is completely off the subject any way you look at it. To get back on the subject, the Quiet to Hysterical Laughter keeps getting louder and louder. He passes the the Loud Laughter stage and goes into a hysterical fit. In the process, the Quiet Hysterical Laughter usually manages to fall out of his chair at least three times. If he doesn't fall out it is probably because he remembered to fasten his seat belt, which takes some talent in most chairs since they don't even have seat belts.

In conclusion, I would like to say laughs can be fun. I mean watching people laugh can be fun. In other words, the next time you feel like laughing don't watch the people around instead. Actually, you will probably be better off if you forget everything I've said and go out and have a good time. Laugh it up.

Shoppers Find Prices Vary

The general business students in Miss Murphy's second hour recently compared the price various stores charged for an identical article.

Gary Campbell found that a winter jacket which sold for $25.95 at a men's store in Mission and $24.95 at another store was only $19.95 at a department store.

Kenny Lane compared the price of a sweater. At one clothing store it was sold for $14.95. At a men's store on the Plaza it was regularly $13.50 and on sale for $7.50. The same sweater was sold at another men's store for $13.95.

The class came to the conclusion that the main difference was because the smaller stores had to charge more overhead and they aren't able to buy in large quantities.

Diane Fox and Steph Durand pack toys for their family's children.

Homemakers Active

Homemaking Club with Mrs. Koch as moderator is very active. This year's officers include Steph Durand, president; Vicki Rogers, vice-president; Kathy Bianchino, treasurer; Mary Lou Conrow, secretary; Diane Fox, historian; and Joyce Tebbe, public relations.

Eighty to one hundred members have collected toys for needy children as a Christmas project. At the end of the year the club plans to sponsor a fashion show for all those who have been sent invitations.

Atchison Hosts Pep Conference

Ten students from Miege attended the first Northeast Kansas Regional Pep Club Conference in Atchison on November 12. They were Patty Huddleston and Barb Latz, seniors; Dianne Sayers, Barb Shannon, Lisa Miller and Mic Hetzel, juniors; Anita Martin, Bob Latz and Gary Fischer, sophomores; and Marilyn Miller, freshman.

Other schools that attended were Shawnee Mission East, Shawnee Mission South, Topeka West, Olathe, Atchison, Washington, Ward, and Seaman.

Directories Distributed

The 1966-1967 Student Directories were distributed this week.

Funds from the Student Congress treasury were appropriated for the directory. Therefore, there was no cost for the first copy. But students requesting an additional copy will be charged 25¢.

The student directory committee, chaired by Mike Helvey, collected the phone numbers and alphabetized the names, and Vessels did the printing.

On Discovering A Person

Like a special place in the woods I've come to call mine:

Where, I know every tree--- how they've bent with wind's weight til by its touch they arch over, roofing a stream's deep places.

A place where I feel I fit--- like a smooth river-stone whose heft and roundness fills your hand.

Just to be there is good—and I should.
I belong.

Where light lances through leaf roof and stipples the shade with shafts that shatter on wood and water,

rim-lighting rises and shadowing hollows;
lines curving, converging, emerging in freshness, tracing a view

thats similar, but new each time I explore.

A place that calls, "Come! As You are! Come see who you are

when you're free."

And there I am lost — but find the me I am,

in

Students Visit Other Schools

A program of student exchanges between Miege and other schools began December 14, when a group of Miegiens went to Rockhurst High School. The delegation included Joe Dold and Bill Weiss, seniors; John Dold and Rick North, juniors; Don Flaspohler and Mark Risco, sophomores; Mike Milazzo and Mark Scanlon, freshmen.

Then on December 15, representatives from each class went to Immaculata High School in Leavenworth. They were Ann Williams, senior; Mark Herlock, junior; Jeannie Craig, sophomore; and Sue Ripper, freshman. These representatives were selected on the basis of a paper telling why they wanted to participate in the program.

Later in the year, Immaculata will send students to Miege. Another exchange will include Ward.

Junior Girls Select Rings

The junior girls voted last Friday as to whether they wanted to change their class rings. Jane Dewees, Barb Glennon, and Barb Shannon had been wearing the rings so the girls could see them before they voted. Results of the voting were not available at Miegian deadline time.

Bits and Pieces

As semester time nears, many teachers are assigning term papers for their students. This requires much time in the library. Sister Julianna is already preparing for this overload of research. She has purchased many books in such fields as psychology and natural sciences. She is also able to help students find information applicable to their paper in both magazines and books.

During the month of December, Sr. Anna's physical science classes were working on a term paper about any related scientific topic, which was due December 19. Her chemistry students are working in programmed texts and are learning to be proficient in the use of slide rules.

"I hate these Vietnam runs!"

Tony Dolman studies in the student congress room.

Senior Places in National Test

Tony Dolman, senior, has been named a finalist in the National Achievement Scholarship Program. After being informed last year of his eligibility, Tony was asked to fill out a character sketch of himself and his community. This qualified him as a semi-finalist.

Then he took what he described as a "run of the mill" test. Besides the test, three teachers had to fill out character sketches of Tony. Sometime in February or March is the scheduled time for the announcement of scholarship winners.

Of 30,000 students participating in the program, ten thousand were named semi-finalists. Tony was among 1,150 finalists named in November. Out of these, 250 will receive scholarships of one to six thousand dollars per student.

Give It Up

The heading on your paper looks like American Misery instead of American History.

You get a mouth full of bubble gum everytime you want a drink.

Mr. Rost stops cracking the joke about Michael Wigglesworth.

You don't like World's Finest Chocolate.

The freshmen get any bigger.

Alan Funt raids the student lounge.

Mr. Schwerdtfeger loses his Bunsen burner.

Howdy Doody goes back on the air.

Santa forgets to wear his longjohns.

We ever lose Monsieur and Madame Thibaut.

Everyone stops being afraid of Virginia Woolf.

The government outlaws mistletoe.

Help is Wanted

One of the most beneficial organizations here in Kansas City seems to have lost its vigor in publicizing itself—this group being Junior Achievement. But even if we don't hear much about it, we must keep in mind that J.A. is a very worthwhile club in that it teaches those students of high school age the functions and operations of a business. It is in this organization that an individual can learn both how a real corporation is run, and how to run his own.

But this knowledge of business operations is not the only thing obtained from Junior Achievement; there is also profit involved. All seven students from Miego who have been in this organization within the past two years have reported a profit ranging from a dollar refund on the return of their stock, to as much as thirty dollars pure profit from vigorous sales. This by itself shows how worthwhile such a club can be.

And together with the learning and profit, J.A. also provides enjoyment for all its members by various social activities. Combining all three of these together, it is very obvious that this organization is an extremely good one.

It is unfortunate that more opportunities are not presented to the students for membership arrangements into this organization. But some information of this matter can be obtained from the office.

Doesn't just one night a week for the whole school seem worth it?

Miegians Spread Christmas Cheer

Miego again follows the Christmas traditions as they prepare to distribute baskets to various needy families in the greater Kansas City area. Each homeroom was assigned a family, and they collected things that were needed.

The families were picked by contacts through parish priests, charities, and the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

In addition to food, clothing, and toys, each family received a Christmas tree and decorations.

Members from each homeroom delivered the gifts after school today to the Catholic Charities.

Kathy D'Agostino and Nancy Tipton hold the certificate they accepted for the Service Committee.

Service Committee Outlines Projects

The Service Committee is currently working as hard as ever on many projects. It is involved in a committee of five area schools, Rockhurst, De La Salle, St. Theresa, and Sion which work together to help the aged. Mrs. Smith, a woman who is also interested in helping the aged, has donated unlimited funds for that purpose. With this money the five schools, working together, have gotten hearing aids and seeing-eye dogs for those in need of them.

Miego's Service Committee has started a program called "Meals on wheels" in which they bring a hot meal to a poor family and eat with them. Members have visited about 50 homes and orphanages playing guitars and singing and have gone to Cerebral Palsy Centers, and homes for the blind and mentally retarded.

The proceeds from the talent show which is coming up will be used to help pay tuition of students who can't afford it. Another project will be caroling in hospitals and old folks' homes.

The Optimist Club recently invited representatives of various schools to meet during Youth Appreciation Week. Kathy D'Agostino who was representing Miego was given an award for outstanding community service.

First Christmas

Christmas started long ago,
As we have all been told
In a little place called Bethlehem
In a stable, dark and cold.

It was there a Child was born,
On this first Christmas day.
A Child who came to save us all
In a very special way.

Now there are those who wonder,
How the ideas came to be
Of the exchange of presents
And the lighted Christmas tree.

I think that this all ties in
With the incense, myrrh, and gold
That the kings brought the Infant
In that stable, dark and cold.

Choral Groups Perform

On December 10, the choir, directed by Mrs. Dennihan, presented a concert for 250 couples at Hickory Grove school. The concert was held at 9:00 pm and a variety of Christmas songs was presented.

Also during the Christmas season the girls' and boys' ensemble cheered many shoppers at the Plaza, and sang for the patients at St. Mary's hospital.

Finally, the smallest performing group at Miego, the Chambray Singers, carolled at homes in the surround area.

Paper Places

John S. Chandley, managing editor of the Kansas City Times, awarded The Miegian second place in the Photo Journalism Workshop held last month.

The main criteria for evaluation was the effective use of photographs.

Our paper was in competition with other high school newspapers in the Greater Kansas City area; and none, with the exception of Truman's, was up to par with The Miegian.

The staff will now try to make The Miegian "number one."

Juniors Select Yearbook Queen

Lois Ruhl, the yearbook queen for '66-'67, was crowned by Joe Dwyer at a mixer November 23. Last year's queen Mary Pat Kelly presented her with the flowers. Both are members of the yearbook staff, who sponsored the mixer. The music for the mixer was provided by the Emeralds.

The junior class, which won the Ad Campaign, selected the queen from the six nominees, Jane Dewees, Lisa Miller, Cindy Myers, Renee Ring, and Barbara Shannon.

Composition Success or Failure?

In regard to the addition of a composition course in the English classes this year, many questions have been asked. To help answer them, the opinions of the composition teachers have been sought.

Miss Lucas thinks there is a lack of communication between teacher and students. She says that the students feel they write well enough to get by, therefore they think they are wasting their time in a composition course. In addition, many students don't like to write.

Motivation is the biggest factor now. Miss Lucas thinks if the students can be shown that their writing must be improved (if for no other reason, just to get through college freshman English), then their attitude will change.

Mr. O'Connell feels that the Basic English Composition course started this year is a good idea. But it is his opinion that the course needs to be more interesting. This could be accomplished by changing the methods and techniques the teachers use. Also more personal attention needs to be given to the students.

Both Mr. Murphy and Mr. O'Connell think basic composition ought to be offered at the freshman level. They also feel a semester is enough time to accomplish the goals of the course.

One suggestion that Mr. Murphy had was to offer a novel or literature course first semester and composition second semester. This would give the students a chance to see how professional authors write, give them a chance to study individual style and also provide a broader source of subjects for compositions.

However it is too early to tell whether the composition course is a success or failure. The real value will be judged when the students must apply their skills to writing themes.

Chemist Speaks

On Wednesday, December 7, Robert Koch, husband of Mrs. Koch, the Miego home economics teacher, came to Miego. Mr. Koch, who was a graduate from Notre Dame, is now a chemist from Chemagro. He talked to the Chemistry classes during second, third, and fifth hours, and gave demonstrations on the activities of isotopes and radioactive substances. The demonstrations proved to be interesting and informative to all students involved.

Junior Dues to Go Up

Junior class dues will go up from $4.00 to $6.00 after today. The dues will be used to pay for the junior-senior prom. All juniors are urged to pay their dues as soon as possible.

One of these little children is a member of the faculty. Do you recognize her? If not, look for the answer on page 11.

The halls of Miede resounded with the holiday spirit today as the school's music department said, "Merry Christmas!"

"Little Drummer Boy" gave the boys' ensemble their first chance to perform for the student body. Then Kathy Doran sang a solo of "He Shall Feed His Flock."

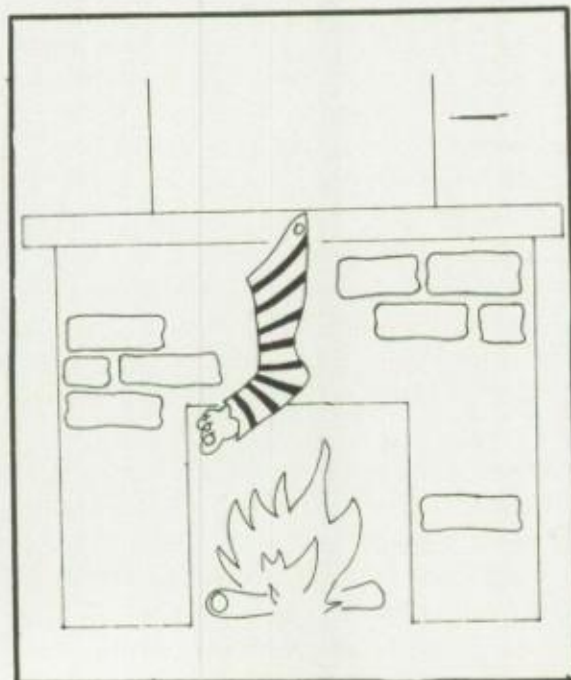

Then the spotlight shifted to the girls' glee, whose program consisted of "Christmas Gloria," "Still, Still, Still," "A Christmas Folk Song," and "Calypso Noel."

Winding up the program, the entire choir sang "Psalm 150" and "We Wish You the Merriest." As a recessional they sang "Silent Night" to the applause of the audience.

Speakers Receive Ribbons

Winners from Miego at the contest were as follows: Janie McEwen and Nancy Tipton received third place in duet acting. In the lower division, Jean Craig received first place in poetry and Linda Hutzenbuhler took second in the upper division. John Walchter received second place in dramatic interpretation in the lower division. Patty Parker also took third in that division.

Miege Matches Wits

"Categories"

Six students have been chosen to represent Miege on "Categories," a general knowledge program.

The contestants are: Jim Gendron, Mike Helvey, Linda Hofman, and Tom Koetting, seniors; and Mike Weilert, junior. Nancy Gaines will serve as an alternate.

"Categories" will be televised Saturday, December 24, at 12:30 pm on Channel 4. Representatives from Southeast High School will be competing against Miege. The program was taped December 14.

Contestants were selected by the National Honor Society on the basis of general knowledge in all high school subjects.

The plan for the television program actually had its beginning with the "Battle of Wits" contest at Miege between Miege and Ward High School in the spring of 1961. The contest was sponsored by the Bishop Miege Albertus Magnus Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Miegians Attend Science Institute

Park College held their third annual Science Institute on the campus in Parkville, Missouri, Saturday, November 19. The students representing the various departments from Miege were Tom Koetting, math department; Betsy Centner, biology department; and Pat Boyle and John Baker, physics department. Accompanying them was Sister Dolores, a sponsor from the math department.

The day began with registration at 8:15 after which everyone attended a lecture on either biology, chemistry, mathematics, or physics followed by a lab period. Lunch was served at 12:30. A lecture and demonstration were given after lunch and a tour of the science hall wound up the day at 4:00.

Alum News

Nancy Miller '66 was elected freshman All Student Council representative at K.U.

Patty Chatterton '63 and Jay Walsh '63 were married last summer.

Pam Broski '66 is now working as an artist for Hallmarks.

Sue Glennon '64 and Kathy Adams '64 are presently employed as airline hostesses.

Pat Doherty '66 joined Dan Watkins '65 in playing varsity basketball at St. Mary's of the Plains.

Julie Dold '63 and Susan Cushing '63 were selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

In the following year, the moderator of the National Honor Society, Sister Stephen, contacted WDAF-TV with a suggestion that the station sponsor a program between schools in the Kansas City area similar to the network "College Bowl Program."

There are now approximately 60 schools represented in the contests and the questions have been obtained from the faculty members of the participating schools. The questions are taken from the following categories: art, current events, personalities in the news, vocabulary, drama, literature, music, science, mathematics, and sports.

Miege has appeared on "Categories" seven times and has a record of two wins. However, the '61-'62 team set a record for the highest score, 32 which was held until '64-'65. Representing Miege on the winning show against Shawnee Mission East were Jed Kee, Dave Fortin, Dan Furst, Patrice Krampff, and John Wheeler.

Volunteers Tutor Underprivileged

Sister Dolores and a group of students from Miege attended a tutorial workshop Saturday, November 12, for students and teachers interested in tutoring underprivileged students.

Sister and sixteen Miege students are now tutoring students in the inner-city area of Kansas City, Missouri, on Saturday morning. Each tutor has one student who needs extra help in reading, math, spelling, or English. The tutors are Kathie Condry, Diane Dalton, Sharon Dalton, Marilyn Esser, Louise Federspiel, Sue Federspiel, Nancy Gaines, Tom Koetting, Ann Muehlbach, Peggy Ryan, Pam Santee, Harry Satoriano, Barbara Shannon, Pat Swartz, and Denis Viscek.

Also tutoring are Sister Angelica, Sister Maria (teacher at St. Agnes), Carol Feldman, and two of the foreign exchange students, Ivonne Riveria and Maria Elena Renteria who have been teaching Cuban Refugees English on Tuesday nights at Holy Rosary School.

Homemaker's Test Ability

Twelve senior girls from Miege took the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow test on Tuesday, December 6. The girls were: Pat Orr, Beverly Yeado, Stephanie Durand, Barbara Ritter, Kathy Saragusa, Pam Shepherd, Joyce Tebbe, Connie Clifford, Diane Fox, Vicki Lucas, Pat Murphy, and Susie Wurttemberg.

The test questioned the girls about different areas of homemaking. It was 50 minutes long, and any senior girl who has had some homemaking or is now enrolled in it could take the test. The girl who has the highest score in the school receives a pin, and the highest scorer in the state wins a trip to Washington, D.C. with her homemaking teacher.

Schools In The Spotlight

This month Sunset Hill will participate in their Yuletide Tea and hold their Waiffl Bowl. Donations from the Waiffl Bowl are distributed to various charities. Christmas Vespers and Revels will take place right before Christmas. During Revels the younger girls masquerade, the senior play is presented, and the choir performs. A senior girl is chosen to be the Jester and select songs. Vacation begins on December 16.

On December 23 the Drama Club will present "Green Pastures" at St. Theresa's. Their Christmas program is held on December 21. Junior Homeroom E is sponsoring an open mixer December 26, at Visitation School. The money from the mixer and the slave day auctions are to be used for Prom financing. Marilyn Strayer was crowned Avila Queen. Lunette Agnew is the Rockhurst homecoming queen, and Bonnie Fitzgerald is her first attendant. Paula Meyer is De La Salle's homecoming queen. Earlier this month the seniors were required to take their Betty Crocker Homemaker Test.

On December 4, 5, 6, Ward presented the senior play, "I Remember Mama." Members of the student body participated in a speech meeting at De La Salle. Ward's Christmas basketball tournament will be held December 27, 28, and 29 at the Interscholastic Fieldhouse.

Pem Day seniors Tim Curran, Clem Knipmeyer, and Ralston Mixon have been named head committee members of the Yuletide Tea at the Hotel Muehlebach. In their Invitational Tournament, the Raiders placed second. On December 27 they will participate in the holiday basketball tournament. The Pem Day Christmas assembly will take place at the Nelson Art Gallery.

Journalists Attend N.S.P.A.

Representatives from the Miegian and Hart staffs attended the thirty-ninth Annual Publications Conference November 24, 25, and 26, in Chicago. The conference was presented by The National Scholastic Press Association and the Journalism Education Association at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

The talks, panel discussions, and special sequences covered virtually every phrase of scholastic newspaper, yearbook, and magazine production.

Career Corner

VISTA is a domestic Peace Corps which was created to operate in the United States as part of Lyndon Johnson's anti-poverty program. The letters stand for "Volunteers In Service To America."

Volunteers are recruited by the Office of Economic Opportunity. Anyone who has reached the age of 18 may apply. They serve for one year, including four to six weeks in a training course. Local private and public organizations and colleges train the volunteers for assignments. A monthly living allowance, which varies according to local conditions, is given, and all medical and dental expenses are paid. When volunteers leave the corps, they get a readjustment allowance of $50 for each month of satisfactory service performed.

VISTA volunteers are sent, at the request of local agencies, to any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and United States territories. While living and working with poor Americans, they pass along to them their trade and professional skills. Some of the places they are assigned to are schools, hospitals, migrant worker communities, Indian reservations, and institutions for the mentally ill.

Vista's 35 year old director, Glenn W. Ferguson, was one of its principle planners. He was also a former associate director of the Peace Corps.

Students Review Modular System

Three Miega students, Mic Hetzel, junior, Kathy O'Connell and Cathy Waechter, seniors, spent Thursday, November 3, as visiting students at Bishop Hogan High School in Missouri.

The purpose of the trip was to view the kind of modular curriculum that Hogan has recently adopted into their school program.

A school day which starts at 8:00 and ends at 4:00, consists of a schedule of twenty-four twenty minute modules.

Each student's schedule is regulated to fit in with the modular system. Besides lecture classes that usually range from 40 to 60 minutes in length (2 or 3 modules) students may attend formal or informal seminars in specially designated rooms.

Other modular time is spent studying independently at resource centers, where reference material can be obtained on the specific subject that the student is studying. There are five resource centers at Hogan: Religion, English, Social Studies, math and biology. The girls were especially impressed by the freedom that students had in regard to studying on their own.

The modular system may be adopted at Miega in following years.

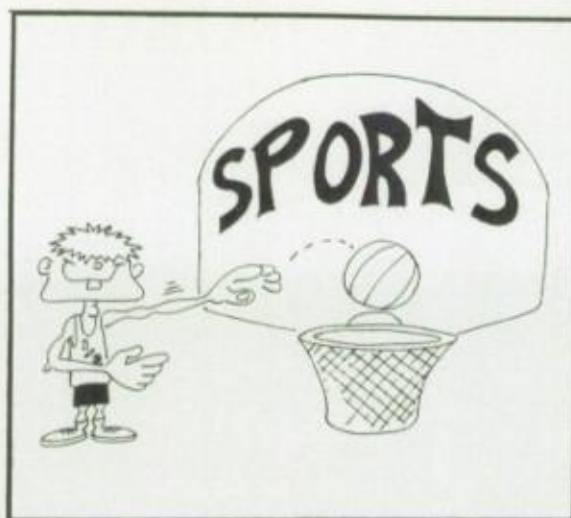

Pigskin Review

It is time once again to look back on another football season that has passed all too quickly. This is a very important part of the school year and the whole student body laments its passing. Particularly grieved by the end of football season are the team members. Their emotions were vividly shown on the night after the last game. For most of them, this condition will last through the rest of the year.

The players do, however get some satisfaction out of the close of the season. No more will they have to attend nightly practices. No more will they have to follow training rules. No more will they have to fear at the sight of Koob-Thies "Night Patrol."

The responsibilities of being co-captains have been passed on by Tom Koob and Daryl Thies to Mark Geraghty and Rick Cain, Mutt and Jeff of the '67 squad. (This means that Tom will finally be able to let his hair grow.)

The Stags proved their toughness by not suffering any serious injuries. The only thing of any seriousness was the skin chafing received by the majority of the players after taking showers and drying themselves with their rough towels. Perhaps, instead of a "Soap Scrimmage" the school should hold a "Fabric Softener Scrimmage."

Seriously, this years team was an outstanding one, and as is the case with any team, not all the victories show up on the won-lost record. The schedule was a tough one, but no team was too tough to overcome our will to win. If games were won by determination and spirit, we would have had an undefeated season.

Congratulations to the team members and coaches for giving Miego a team it is, and will continue to be, proud of.

Christmas Tournament

Starts December 27

Cage Season Opens

With the change of season, Miego's sports interests switch from the football field to the basketball court. The Miego basketball team started practice on the first of November and has been working steadily since then. The squad is again under the supervision of Coach Gannon. He has the assistance of Coach Hennier, former Miego and Rockhurst College star. The Junior Varsity is coached by Coach O'Connell.

This year the Varsity boasts the return of three Senior lettermen, John McMillen, Joe Dold, and Dennis Bova. These three, along with juniors Terry English, Mark Geraghty, Pat North and John Dold make a good season very probable.

"Things may not fare as well for the Junior Varsity this season," commented Coach O'Connell. "Inexperience is a major hurdle that must be crossed. But, if the junior players develop swiftly, and we can put into some good sophomores, we may not end up with too bad of a season."

The five probable starters are Rick Lander, Joe Birch, Jerry Cetura, Ron Adams, and Charles Andreopolous.

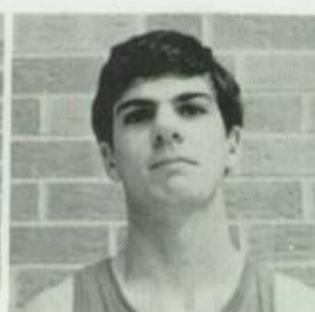

Dennis Bova
Senior Forward 6'3"
Dennis could be the surprise of the year. His good shooting, his rebounding and defense have improved.

Our strongest rebounder. He has good speed and agility for his size. He is beginning to develop a shot though.

Bob Chatterton
Senior Guard 5'10"
He has a very good jump shot. His present knee injury puts him in a bad spot. Could be a help against zones.

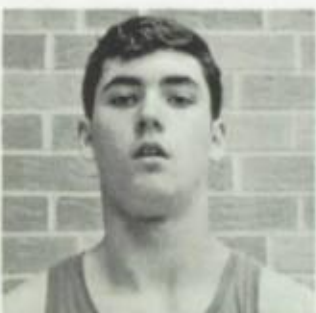

Joe Crosterosa
Senior Forward 6'1"
Does a little bit of everything fairly well. He's handicapped by a lack of size, but makes up for it with hustle.

Joe Dold
Senior Forward 6'2"
Joe is deceptively quick and should score a lot on the second and third shots. He is one of our best defensive men.

John Dold
Junior Forward 6'0"
John is a very capable reserve ballplayer and can play well at almost any position.

Terry English
Junior Guard 5'10"
Probably our best playmaker. He has the ability to see the open man, and get the ball to him.

Mark Geraghty
Junior Guard 5'8"
Mark is our best shooting guard. He also plays defense well. He is a real competitor.

Don Link
Senior Forward 6'2"
Don has had very little actual playing experience, but his attitude and willingness to improve is a benefit to the team.

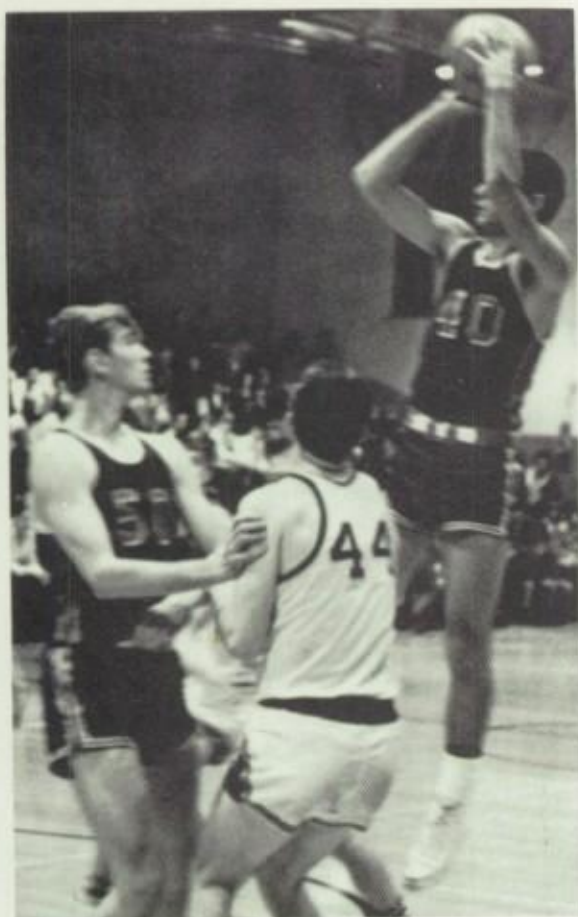

John McMillen
Senior Center 6'4"
John has a deadly head fake and jump shot which are combined with good speed and strength.

Pat North
Junior Guard 5'11"
Pat is one of our best defensive players. He also handles the ball well under pressure. A deceptive passer.

Mike Whitmore
Senior Guard 5'11"
A dedicated and hard working ball player, with a little more ability, he could be pushing some starters.

Dold goes up for another score against Argentine.

Stags Take Opener

In the basketball season opener Miede handed the Argentine Mustangs an 82-69 pounding. The score, fairly high for the opening game, was built by the scoring in double figures of four of the varsity starters. Joe Dold was high scorer with 20 points, John McMillan bagged 18, Dennis Bova with 15, and Mark Geraghty with 10. Good defensive play by guards Pat North, Terry English, and Mark Geraghty helped the Stags put away the victory. The Stags proved their ball handling skill and hustle by overcoming a full court press in the second half.

Soccer Outlook

With the 66-67 football season completed it is now time for the mighty stags to begin another victorious soccer season. This year Coach Moleman will be guiding our toe-men into the new season.

Approximately 85 boys are out for soccer now. This year soccer will be played on an intramural basis having 2 freshmen teams, 2 sophomore teams, 1 junior team and one team consisting of both juniors and seniors. From these six intramural teams 44 players will be chosen to make up Miede's varsity and junior varsity teams. There will be approximately 5 varsity and 3 junior varsity games played this season. The opening games, varsity and junior varsity, will be played against Rockhurst, on Jan. 7 at Swope Park. The varsity will begin at 2:30 P.M. and the junior varsity will begin at 1:00 P.M.

Thirty-One Letters

Greg Kierst, John Mullins, Greg Farrell, Terry McGill, and Jim Dunn were awarded letters as managers. Other awards were: Most Valuable Back—Steve Scanlon, Most Valuable Lineman—Terry Dunn, Most Valuable Player—Bob Hrzzenak, Most Improved Player—Gary Rittenhouse, and Strongheart Award—Tom Shannon. Co-captains for the 1967 season are Mark Geraghty and Rick Cain.

Stags Skin Wildcats

Miede handed the Rosedale Wildcats their third defeat of the season as the Stags triumphed 66 to 51 on their own court December 9.

The Stags, after leading at the half 25 to 24, pushed harder in the second half and at one time held a 20 point lead over the Wildcats.

High scorers for Miede were John McMillen with 21 points and Joe Dold with 18 points.

Miede Extends Streak

The Stags made it three in a row with the defeat of the Truman Patriots on Tuesday, December 13, by a score of 71-62. Scoring honors went to Joe Dold who pumped in 34 points and to Dennis Bova who contributed 16. Miede kept control of the ball through the majority of the game through the defensive efforts of guards Mark Geraghty and Pat North.

Dold, Rich Cain, and Dennis Bova also helped greatly on the boards, although faced with taller opposition.

The victory was a major one, considering the absence of star center, John McMillen, who missed the game because of his father's death.

Frosh B-ball Opens

The frosh B-ball squad this year is composed of 14 players who Mr. Hennier, frosh coach hopes will produce a winning season.

Steve English, Chris Mercer, Conrad Kraft, Jerry Federspiel, and Bob Rosberg will be competing for the starting guard positions. Mr. Hennier is highly confident of these ability to handle ball and get the offense started.

The front line is ably manned by Jamie Lanter, Hank Kaiser, Jim Holsty, and Tom Dennis. Mr. Hennier looks for these boys to add a few more inches and hopefully provide the height which the team needs.

One of Mr. Hennier's most pleasant problems is what to do with Steve Bova, Bill Ruge, and Mark Scanlon. These 3 boys are excellent ball handlers who also are capable of playing forward. They should work right in with Mr. Hennier's interchanging offense.

The center position is held by Tim Hale, a product of the intramural program. Backing him up is Phil Larkin.

While Mr. Hennier could not make any specific forecast, he stated he felt the team would be highly entertaining.

Toe-men practice for upcoming season.

Coach Moleman seemed quite optimistic when questioned about this year's soccer team. His comments were: "We're a young team with only eight seniors out, but with the great number of boys participating this year we have the potential to have a very good season as far as our win loss record is concerned."

Customs Around the World

Although the customs of Christmas in America are familiar to everyone, many do not realize the origin of these customs.

Decorating with holly, mistletoe, and evergreens goes back to an early custom in northern Europe. Burning a great Yule log is another custom that grew up in northern Europe as a part of the mid-winter celebration.

The idea of Christmas trees come from Germany; however, a little manger scene may take the place of a Christmas tree in many lands. The French people call a scene of this kind a creche.

Instead of children hanging up their stockings on Christmas Eve and hope that Santa Claus will fill them with toys and good things to eat, the Dutch children put wooden shoes in front of the fireplace for St. Nicholas to fill the night before his feast day, December 6.

In many parts of the world Christmas is likely to be a time of ice and snow. But in warmer regions there is no snow at Christmas time. South of the equator December comes in summer, so Christmas day may be a hot summer day, and Christmas dinner may be a picnic on the beach.

Little Things

The time between Thanksgiving and New Years is a time of joy. People the world over experience a warm sense of happiness which they have at no other time during the year. Boys and girls especially have this feeling. It can be seen and felt through various experiences which ordinarily would mean very little, experiences such as:

- your first view of snow
- the Christmas tree on Christmas morn
- Christmas vacation
- wrapping presents
- getting baskets ready for the poor families
- Christmas caroling at the neighbors
- a warm fire
- stringing popcorn
- family dinner
- sleeping late
- shopping
- new years parties
- receiving Christmas cards from old friends
- family excursions to look at Christmas lights

So, as we are now in the middle of this wonderful season, let's look for the joyful things which are happening around us.

The Meaning of Christmas

Colorful lights and ornaments, multicolored packages, scarlet candles, jingling bells, and the mild smell of fresh evergreen— Christmas season is upon us again.

But is Christmas really this superficial? A day so full of joy and the spirit of giving must have a much deeper meaning.

Christmas is a day when we celebrate the birth of Christ— God's Savior to the world. It is a day when we experience the spirit of giving in the same way God gave His Son to the world. It is a time for rejoicing and merrymaking with the remembrance that we have a chance for salvation because Christ was born for us.

Christmas is a day when Christians throughout the world join together to adore the Newborn King who made salvation possible for all men everywhere.

Where Is My Santa?

Poverty hurts; but on Christmas morning, nothing hurts worse than the confusion and disillusionment of a small child who thinks Santa Claus has forgotten him.

As the child sadly peers out the window he wonders, "Why doesn't Santa Claus ever bother to stop at my house? Don't I deserve to be as happy as the rest of the kids? Why is it always like last year and all years? Am I really bad?"

This scene is the exception rather than the rule; nevertheless, it does take place in some homes every Christmas right here in our own country. Children brought up in impoverished families may grow up without ever having a merry Christmas. They may never know the satisfaction that comes with the true spirit of giving. They can just wonder what all the joy and merrymaking is about.

Meanwhile, in the comfortable living rooms of the more fortunate, a warm fire flickers brightly in the early morning as people joyously exchange gifts with families and friends.

Perhaps these people will experience the true spirit of giving. Perhaps they won't. Maybe they haven't even given a second thought to the fact that somewhere a small child is broken-hearted because his Santa Claus has not come to him. Perhaps they've never even cared to take the time to wonder about it. But someone should.

The world needs more people who don't like to see disillusioned little children wondering, "Where is my Santa?"

Christmas Is Red And Blue And Silver

What does a child think of Christmas? Red, blue, and silver sparkling decorations adorning the Christmas tree.

Candy canes, cookies; scarlet stockings laden with small treasures. Awaiting the arrival of their favorite friend from the North Pole who will bring special gifts with a priceless meaning. This is what a child thinks of Christmas.

What does a teenager think of Christmas? Parties, laughter, delectable foods, good company. Mistletoe. Receiving the gift that was asked for. Giving a gift to that special person. This is what a teenager thinks of Christmas.

What do parents think of Christmas? Shopping day's which grow shorter and shorter. Finding the perfect gift for the right person. Where to hide the Christmas presents so they won't be detected. The joy and happiness on their children's faces when they open their presents on Christmas morning. A family reunited once again to spread the Christmas spirit and love throughout the holidays. This is what Parents' think of Christmas.

What does a Christian think of Christmas? The night when God was Made flesh, and born to this world to bring love and redemption to all. For this is what Christmas is; love.

THE MIEGIAN J.D.

Chance Dared At Mardi Gras

Mardi Gras, which marked the last event on the school calendar before the Lenten season, was held on February 4.

Each class and club participated by setting up booths. The senior class held a night club and gambling casino in the student lounge. Last year, the biggest attraction was the Marriage Booth and this year a new attraction was added by the junior class called an Annulment Booth.

The popular Cherry Tree and refreshments were the money-makers for the sophomore class. The freshmen's picture taking booth attracted a lot of carnival goers. The Lettermens' Club put spice in the evening by jailing anyone for "one thin dime." And an auction of students was sponsored by the Varsity Pep Club.

Among the games were, Hoop Toss, Penny Toss, Ring-Money Toss, and The Turtle Race. Other attractions were the Computer Matching, the Popularity Poll, which was taken to find the most popular class in school and refreshments awaited all in a small cafe sponsored by the Honor M.

Crescendo Reached With Philharmonic

On February 3, a concert was presented to Miegians by the Kansas City Philharmonic. The program was arranged to include various pieces which would be of interest to high school students. Selections included Wagner's Prelude to Die Meistersinger, Schubert's Last Movement of Symphony No VII in C major, Copland's Quiet City, Rossini's Overture to William Tell, and Lalo's Last Movement of Concerto for Cello, which featured Joshua Goldman as a soloist. The orchestra was under the direction of Jack Herriman.

This is the second year that the Philharmonic has performed for Miegians. Mrs. Dennihan, music director at Miego, has, for two years, been active in bringing various musical groups to Miego, to help acquaint students with different types of music, and for their enjoyment. This is the third program which has been presented at Miego this year, the first two being the Pembroke Boys' Glee Club, and the Rockhurst College Glee Club and stage band.

Tuesday Nights Set For Films

Beginning March 28, and continuing for six weeks, six feature films will be shown to the students of Miego, their parents, and anyone else who wishes to come. They will be shown every Tuesday night, and a nominal fee to cover the cost of the films will be charged. Mr. Dalton said that the films selected will be of the best quality and ones that will be of interest to high school students.

The Student Congress has agreed to underwrite the films. Any profit made on the films will be given to them. However, if there is a loss, Student Congress will make up the difference.

Besides being entertaining, the purpose of the films is to make people better aware of what good films are. Mr. Dalton explained that the best way to learn about good films is to see them. He also hopes that the viewers will become more critical of the films they see and be encouraged to see similar movies and reject those which have no value.

"BROTHERHOOD is giving to others the understanding and respect you want for yourself."

Remember BROTHERHOOD WEEK.
February 19-26.

One of the films scheduled is "Nobody Wave Good-bye." This film deals with teenagers who are in conflict with the values of the world around them, and it shows how they solve their problems. Films of the quality of "On the Waterfront," "The Bridge," and "High Noon" will also be shown.

These six feature films are to be an extension of the series of short films which several classes are now seeing. After viewing the films, the classes discuss the content of the movie and how effectively it is presented. Four of the films now being shown also deal with what a movie is and how one is made. This should make the students more appreciative of the feature films which will be shown later.

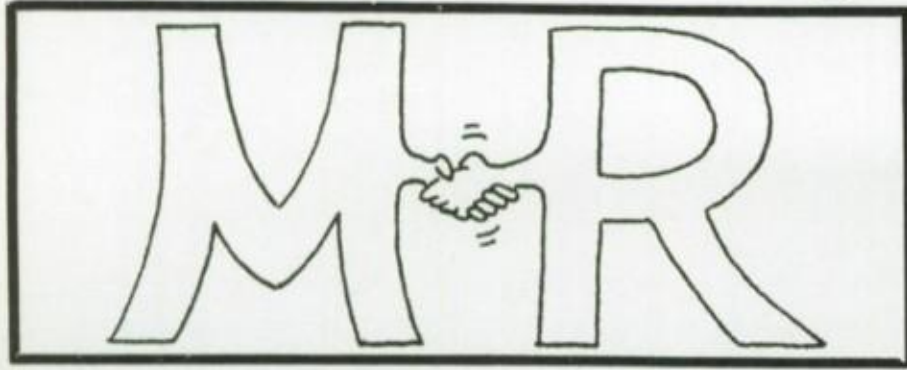

Scientists Brief Math Students

Mrs. Elain Tatham, a mathematician from Ottawa University, spoke to Sister Dolores' junior and senior math classes January 18, on the Application of Probability.

Mrs. Tatham is a participant in the visiting scientist program sponsored by the Kansas Academy of Science. Funds for the program are provided by the National Science Foundation.

Hawklet—Stag Relations Improve

However unintentional it may be, a healthy competition between two schools can sometimes turn into a bitter rivalry. Such was, we hope, the situation that "use" to exist between Bishop Miege and Rockhurst high schools.

Recently, efforts have been made by the students and the administrations of both schools to improve existing relations. In November a conference was held at Rockhurst in which six Seniors from Miege, along with Mr. Frazier, participated. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss ways in which the two schools might come to understand one another and work together. The outcome was a student exchange which took place December 14 between both schools.

Now perhaps is the best time to sit back and evaluate what thus far has been accomplished. On the whole, most would have to admit that the exchange was a success. If nothing else, it made us realize that the students, the ambitions and the goals of both schools are basically the same. It alleviated any fears of the ex-Fangos and the Rockhurst 2 percenters clashing in a parking lot brawl. It showed that the "Rock Men," as well as the Stags, take a deep pride in their school and its traditions. But perhaps most of all were the pledges made by the representatives of each school to work to maintain friendly relations.

On January 27 Miege and Rockhurst again met on the basketball court. But this time an attitude of good sportsmanship prevailed, and to prove this, both Rockhurst and Miege lettermen roped off sections of the bleachers together at half-time.

Students from Miege and Rockhurst have been met with a challenge. Both schools have proven that they can, and want to continue to build a more solid relationship. Some sort of joint activity, such as a mixer for both schools, has been discussed for sometime later in the year.

Whether the challenge will be accepted, as it so far has been, or left unheeded, is the responsibility of each individual in both schools.

Use Positive Approach During Lenten Season

"Ho, hum, Lent is here again. Another six weeks of giving up candy and gum." Sound familiar?

Every Lent millions of Christians the world over decide on some small sacrifice to make for the cause of self-betterment. They may decide to do without candy or gum or cokes and french fries, or that extra ice cream soda, all the while knowing that they could use Lent as a means of slimming down the bulging waistline.

For the average teenager today, these little sacrifices, though somewhat helpful, really are not in the true spirit of Lent (maybe they would have been if one was still eight or nine years old).

Now the teenager is no longer a child. He wants to be treated as an adult; therefore, he must carry the responsibilities of an adult. He must concentrate less on the idea of giving up and start to consider the idea of doing a little extra. Instead of slimming his waistline by doing without sweets (which he probably wouldn't miss anyway unless they were waved under his nose), the teenager should work on a positive approach to Lent. For example, maybe a student's biggest fault is cheating on tests. He could strive to remedy this situation. Maybe another student is often very uncharitable toward others—she talks about them, makes fun of them which, in turn, causes damage to their reputations. With a little more effort, she could learn to accept these people and stop criticizing them and harming their good names.

Lent is a good time for teenagers to start "training themselves" to accept responsibility that characterizes the adult person. It's a long, difficult journey, but no one can make it for you!

IN MEMORIAM

Mr. John Doran, father of Kathy Doran, senior, and John Doran, freshman, passed away December 27. He was a member of Saint Agnes Parish. Services were held at the church December 30, and burial was in Resurrection cemetery.

Mr. Shannon, father of Debby Shannon, sophomore, and two alumni, Jim Shannon '65 and Pam Shannon '64, died January 7.

Mr. Shannon was a member of Saint Agnes Parish. Funeral services were held at the church, and burial at Resurrection cemetery.

Students Change Courses

This year, at the change of the semester, the schedule has been improvised in several classes to the delight of the teachers and the confusion of the students. Government, English, and Religion are the subjects which are changed and are mainly concerned with juniors and seniors

The replacement of emotional unreasoned judgements by objective rational analysis is the step that Mr. Hennier's classes are seeking in Economics. Mr. Hennier is presiding over Mr. Reardon's government classes the first part of the third quarter, and Mr. Reardon is teaching Civil Defense the second part of the third quarter.

The junior and senior Religion classes have been put together this year because of schedule problems at the beginning of the year. In the first semester, some of the Religion classes took the text The Laymen and then changed to the subject of love and marriage the second semester. The priests appreciate this type of change, for they will only teach one of the religion subjects for a whole year and this is less pressure in preparation.

The English classes have also changed for the juniors and seniors. One of the new classes is the Twentieth Century American Literature class. The books selected for this course begin with writers of the 1930's and continue through the middle 1940's. In addition to the short stories, films will be shown that will combine the art of the novel and of the film.

Mythology is also in the curriculum of the revised English department. This course will strive to unfold the lives and ways of the Greeks and Romans that lived many centuries ago.

Contemporary novels has also been offered this year to the students. The class will aim to bring the student in contact with modern movies and novels. Books have been chosen by the teachers which will hopefully instill a desire in the student to continue reading even after the course has ended.

Seniors Paint Lounge

As many of the students at Miego have already noticed, the student lounge has been painted a dark and light blue. A few members of the senior class offered their services in the painting of the lounge, and the Student Council provided the supplies.

The lounge was painted for the first time since 1963 when the lounge was initiated. Some Miego students have voiced their opinions of the new lounge.

J. Lamasney-sr.—"It's groovy!"

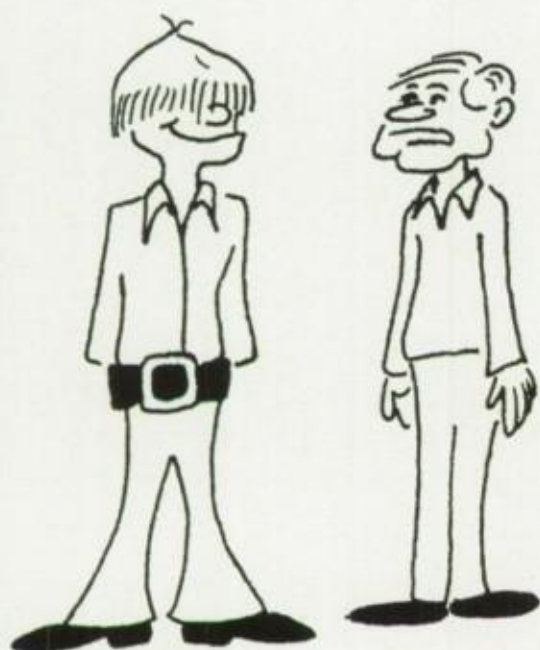

P. Kirby-jr.—"What do I think of the colors? Please, I'm eating right now."

M. Mercer-sr.—"Out of Sight!"

Patti Hickey-fr.—"Where is it?"

J. Wittlinger-sr.—"What do you mean what do I think of it?"

T. Smith-fr.—"I think it needs a new paint job."

"That's not what I meant by 'modular education,' Calvin!"

Stags Use Vocal Chords

Many Miegians attended the Speech Contest February 4 at Bishop Le Blonde High School in St. Joseph, Missouri.

Miego had entrants in all categories, which included poetry, dramatic interpretation, duet acting, extemporaneous speaking and humorous interpretation. The school picked the participants and there were no contest rules requiring so much credit in speech.

At the time the paper went to press, the results of the contest were not yet known.

Africa Lures Miegians

Mayrose Tucci, former Miego student, is now living in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Because of her father's job, Mayrose and her family moved to Ethiopia last year.

She and her brother are now attending the American Community School. This is the first year of the school's existence and the enrollment is 357.

Ethiopia is slowly changing to a more modern way of life, but many of the old ways are still seen. Although there are doctors and hospitals, many of the people still believe in witch doctors. There are modern methods of transportation in Ethiopia, yet it is nothing unusual to see a pedestrian walking along the road. In her letter to the school, Mayrose writes, "It is funny to have to stop the car on a modern highway because of a wandering cow or bull."

New Building On Campus?

Another part of the improvement project started last summer is the new building out by the track which will be used for storage of football and track equipment. This will be more convenient since the equipment won't have to be brought back and forth from the main building.

For the last two or three years, Mr. Zimola has been trying to get this building and, after the fence was put up, the building was started. When it is ready for use this spring, it will be accommodated with rest rooms, drinking fountains, an intercom, and gas heating. The building is also adaptable for a concession stand in case the field is ever used for football games.

Teachers Remark

Did you ever notice the talent some teachers have in brightening up the classroom with witty jokes and cutting statements? Here are a few examples: (Names have been withheld to save embarrassment of guilty teachers).

You came in here vertically, but you're going out horizontally.

The Ten Commandments went out with the Old Testament.

Even though I'm a Communist, I'm not an atheist.

What's the matter with you lamebrain? Are you too tired to open your book, or did they forget to put that page in the book? (By the way, lamebrain started crying).

I don't care if I was the one who lost your book report or not—I'm still going to lower your grade.

A girl had a headache. When she asked the teacher if she could take aspirin, he answered, "Well, yes, I'm glad you at least brought your head today."

I'll take a Zombie over Kansas sugar water any day.

The teacher spread the X-mas feeling when he wrote on the board, "Today is Quiz-mas Day."

Talent Show Practice Begins

The Talent Show is well under way now. Tryouts were held January 21 and 22. Judges were Kathy D'Agostino, Tony Dolman, Mark Geraghty, Kim Kirkland, Bob Latz John Silady and Peggy Spellman.

Among the groups trying out were solo singers, pantomine groups, dance routines, and bands.

Anita Daniels will be the make-up director along with four assistants.

The Talent Show, produced by the service committee, will be held on April 15. Proceeds will go to the diocese for the tuition of those who can't afford it.

'Feature Teacher'

Mrs. Sullivan, a teacher at Miego for five years, has taught English, Latin, and drama. She now conducts speech courses, and is Drama club advisor.

Mrs. Sullivan graduated from Saint Mary-of-the-Woods College. She received her masters degree in speech at Northwestern University.

She has four children, including two married sons, one married daughter, and another daughter, Kathy, who is a freshman at Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame, Indiana. On Mrs. Sullivan's grandbracelet are ten discs for her seven granddaughters and three grandsons.

Creativity Adds To Spirit

There was excitement in the halls as everyone arrived at school one morning. "Did you see Mr. Gannon's room?" "Have you seen the halls yet?" Sure enough, the school was draped with red and white crepe paper, and Mr. Gannon's room looked somewhat like a dance pavilion. Even his famed projector was inscribed with a good luck message.

"What did yours say on it?" "Did you get one?" This was the conversation after 7 o'clock Mass one morning. The basketball players were talking about the signs that were on their garage doors that morning.

Decorating and making signs are just two of the ways the Pep Club officers and cheerleaders have aroused spirit for the basketball games.

Seniors Produce Film

Tom Doyle and Sal Dasta, seniors, produced a film as a semester project for Mr. Reardon's Social Science IV class. The film, a narrative on Kansas City, Kansas, and Kansas City, Missouri, slum areas, showed the homes of poverty-stricken people. The film, complete in its production, contained a narrative and background music to explain the picture.

Sweetheart Dance Reviewed

The Tower Room in the Alladin Hotel was the scene of the traditional Sweetheart Dance last Saturday night, February 11. The dance, which has been sponsored by the senior girls for three years, was headed by Mary Hetzel. Tickets went on sale on January 5 for 5.00 dollars a couple.

The Sweetheart Dance is a semi-formal WPA with the girls paying for the dinner and dance. This year the music was provided by the Renegades.

Stork Strikes

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frazier welcomed an addition to their family over Christmas vacation—a 6 pound 7 ounce baby girl. Kelly Christine Frazier arrived at 10:02 p.m. on December 27. What does Mr. Frazier think of the new arrival? He said she's the "cutest tax deduction we've had."

Nuns Renew Habits

Keeping with the renewal policies of the Second Vatican Council, the nuns of Miego have put aside the old habit for the new clerical garb.

Sr. Georgetta expressed what she felt to be the general opinion of the convent when she said that the new "soft" clothes present a challenge to develop something more inside to offset the lost external identity.

Few restrictions are placed upon the new fashions. The outfit must consist of a skirt in blue or black, a blouse either of blue or white, a weskit, sweater or jacket in blue or black and a shoulder length veil of blue or black. The garb is to be practical, comfortable, and inexpensive to comply with the vow of poverty.

Have you wondered about the yearbook lately? How it's progressing— How it looks? The yearbook staff, with Mary Sue O'Connor and Maureen Stapleton as co-editors, says there will be "new and different" features in this year's book. The cover has been designed, and this year's color picked.

The staff has met all its deadlines on time. On November 19, 25 percent of the yearbook was turned in for publication; on January 9, 50 percent; on January 31, 75 percent of the book was due; and by March 3, the entire book will be completely finished. Trophies were won at the Diocesan Speech meet on February 4, by the following students: Sharon Dalton, John Wachter—humorous interpretation, Jean Craig—poetry, Bill Weill and Nancy Tipton—upper division, Jean Craig and Sharon Dalton—lower division, duet acting.

Toe-men Split Openers

The Miego toe-men overpowered the DeLaSalle Titans, by a score of five to one at Miego field on the thirteenth of January. This game opened the Miego soccer season with a happy note. Joe Dwyer and Mike O'Rourke each scored two points, and Kevin Hardy also boosted us with a single. After an early score, the Stags tightened their defense not allowing DeLaSalle another point.

The following day the tide turned as Miego went down in defeat against the Rockhurst Hawklets by a score of four to one. The Stag defense could not stop the outstanding efforts shown by the Hawklets, as they tallied up their four points. Kevin Hardy made the only score for Miego in this game.

Stags Outplay Pius

Miego's fourth victory in five games came December 21, when the Stags edged St. Pius, 68-62. The Stags outrebounded the Warriors 54-30. St. Pius's Jim Campbell broke through Miego's defense for three field goals in the final four minutes to reduce their deficit to four, but Mark Geraghty put the game on ice by sinking two free throws.

Thud!

That's the sound that's heard in the gym after school as seven Miego boys throw each other on the wrestling pads. Ron Riley, a graduate of Dartmouth College, is teaching the boys the fundamentals of wrestling in hopes a wrestling team will be formed next year. Mr. Riley is assisted by Mr. Ryan and Mr. McGill. Although there is no official team, Miego may have some meets with Pem-Day and Southeast to gain experience for next year.

Hawklets Stop Streak

After four straight wins, the Miego Stags went down to their fifth defeat at the hands of the Rockhurst Hawklets, 72-63, on January 27. The score was tied at the end of each of the first three quarters but due to a splurge of free throws, Rockhurst finally pulled ahead to stay during the fourth quarter.

The Miego effort was greatly hindered by an excess of fouls which determined the final outcome of the game. Rockhurst's hot hand from the charity line contributed 32 points to the Hawklets cause. John Kafka of Rockhurst was the high scorer of the game with 24. Miego's high scorer was Dennis Bova with 20 points, followed by John McMillen and Joe Dold with 14 and 13 points respectively.

Alum Places In Tourney

Jim Colbert a 1959 graduate of Miego, received a $714.00 cash prize in the Bing Crosby Golf tournament. Jim placed 21st out of a field of 52 with a four round score of 297.

Stags Take Third Place

The Miego basketball team continued their winning ways as they won 2 out of 3 games and took third place in the Heart of America Tournament at the Interscholastic Fieldhouse.

On December 28 the Stags overpowered the Southwest Indians by a score of 61-45. After a close first half, Joe Dold sprung a third quarter scoring attack to put Miego on top. Joe Dold and John McMillen were high scorers, contributing 19 and 16 points respectively.

The Stags could not fight through Paseo's zone defense in the semi-final game as the Pirates won, 59-51. Scoring honors went to John McMillen with 15 and Dennis Bova with 13.

The Stags finished in third place after their defeat of Van Horn, 71-55. Behind Joe Dold's 24 points, Miego outshot and outrebounded the Falcons in the last game of the tournament.

Miego Suffers Setback

Miego suffered its first loss of the season by losing to Sumner, 72-41. The Stags held the Spartans to a 38-34 half-time lead but faltered in the final 1½ quarters letting Sumner outscore them 34-4. Outstanding both on offense and defense was John McMillen who was high scorer for Miego with 18 points. He also held Curtis Carter, who went into the game with a 22 point average, to 9 points.

Making good use of a solid defense, good shooting, and good ball control the Turner Bears defeated the Miego Stags by a score of 59-49 on January 3. The Bears got off to a fast start and the cool shooting Stags could not catch up the rest of the game.

Led by forward Joe Dold, who had twenty points to lead the Stags in scoring for the game, the Stags staged a rally to cut the Turner lead to six. But then the Bears pulled slowly away to secure the victory.

The Star's second ranked De La Salle Titans squeezed past Miego 52-49, January 6, at the Stags' home court. Miego behind by as much as ten points in the fourth quarter fought back to within three points when time ran out. High scores for De La Salle were Sal Capra with 14, and Clark Powell with 12.

Game honors went to John McMillen with 15 points. The record for Miego now stands at 6-4, while De La Salle is 11-0.

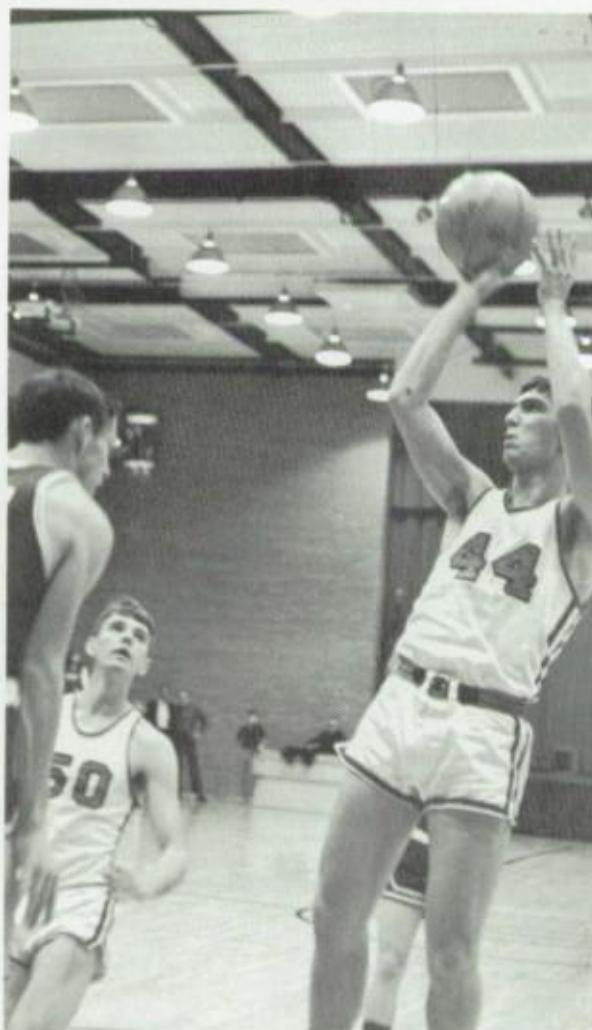

Dold shoots for two against Cyclones.

Stags Rout Rams

Sparked by a 50 percent shooting average in the second half, the Stags rallied to defeat the Hogan Rams by a score of 63-54 on January 14 on the home court. The Rams, led by the hot shooting of John Stacy controlled the first half and led at the end of that period by 13 points. But in the second half, things changed as the Stags rushed on to take the lead and held it the rest of the way.

High score for the game was Stacy with 24, while Joe Dold led in scoring for Miego with 20. One of the main reasons for the great comeback was the decision to change from a man-to-man defense to a zone which helped the Stags control Stacy. This, plus good rebounding brought on the victory.

John Dold pops two against Hogan.

Miego Clips Eagles

Miego gained its eighth win in twelve games on Tuesday, January 17, by defeating the Olathe Eagles, 81-68. The end of the first half saw the Stags down by four, but Olathe saw their scoring stymied in the second half by Miego's pressure full court defense. This defense combined with a fastbreak offense quickly put Miego on top to stay.

The Stags' scoring was paced by Joe Dold's 29 points. Others scoring in the double figures were John McMillen with 15, Dennis Bova with 14, and John Dold with 12.

Miego Massacres Mustangs

A balanced attack and a tight defense paved the way to a 80-61 basketball victory over the Argentine Mustangs on January 24 at the Miego gym. Argentines threat to catch Miego in the third quarter fell short due to swift handling and tough offensive effort shown by Miego.

John McMillen set the pace for Miego with 18 points. Dennis Bova added 17, Rich Cain 14, and Joe Dold 13. Miego led all the way and boosted their record to 10-4.

Stags Jolt St. Joe

The Miego B-ball team increased their record to 9-4 as they defeated the St. Joseph Blue Streaks on the Stags' court, 60-56. Miego relied on Dennis Bova and John Dold, who scored 15 and 14 points respectively, because they were without the services of Joe Dold who was injured in the Olathe game. Although St. Joe led most of the first half, Miego rallied to take the lead. The Stags' ended up winning by four points when the final gun sounded.

Frosh Take Lumps

The freshman basketball season is only half over and the young Stags are reporting an unsightly 2-6 record. Mr. Hennier, freshman basketball coach, is not disturbed. Experience has possibly been the biggest problem of the first year Stags. Several of the squad members had only limited game condition experience. The team has developed a great deal of maturity during the first half of the season and Mr. Hennier has been bolstered by the development of an intense degree of pride in the young Stags.

Music Students Experience Opera

On March 8 the Lyric Opera, sponsored by the "Kansas City Chapter of Young Audiences, Inc.," will present to the students of Miego a concert in the gym at 9:30.

Attending the concert will be a maximum of 400 students including the music classes. An admission price of 25 cents will be collected to pay for the cost of the opera.

The program will be arranged to include various numbers which will be of interest to high school students. Selections will include "Musetta's Waltz" and "La Bohema" by Puccini, "Flower Song" by Bizet, "Figaro Aria" by Rossini, "The Old Maid" and "Thief" by Menotti, "The Marriage of Figaro", by Mozart and "The Music Master" by Pergolesi. Alternating numbers in the program are "Unbel di" (Madame Butterfly), "Salutdemeure" (Faust), "Evening Star" (Tannhauser).

Ron Highley and his wife Joanne, who will be returning again this year with the troupe, will be featured in star roles.

The effectiveness of the program will be achieved through an informal presentation which includes audience participation. It is for this reason that the performing group will be placed close to the audience.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Dennihan, and Patty Porter, this will mark the second year that the Lyric Opera has performed for students at Miego.

Faculty To Face Disc Jockeys

March 6 the Miego faculty will play the WHB disc jockeys in a basketball game on the Miego court.

The faculty team will consist of all the school coaches: Mr. Gannon, Mr. Frazier, Mr. O'Connell, Mr. Reardon, Mr. Muhlman, Mr. Zimola, Mr. Murphy, and Mr. Ryan, along with Mr. Rost, Mr. Hennier, Mr. Conrad, and Mr. McGill.

The WHB team, along with their leader "Chicken Man", will include all the favorite Half time activities will include a contest between the two disc jockeys Ron Martin, who challenged Johnny Dolan to a free throw contest. Other events are not yet definite.

The game will start at 8:00. There will be an admission fee of one dollar.

Mr. Gannon, Miego varsity basketball coach, expects the game to be a ninety per cent profit with all the proceeds going to the school athletic department to meet expenses. The only "cost" for having the disc jockeys play against the faculty is for the teachers to take the disc jockeys out for dinner.

Sound System Tested at Assembly

Stags portray Southeast team.

A new sound system for the gym was given a trial run at the pep assembly for the Southeast game on Feb. 17 and at the game that night.

Instead of the proposed music shelf, Student Congress put a vote to the student body to decide if they wanted to install an entire new sound system in the gym. A demonstration system was installed for the assembly and game to give the students an idea of what the real system would sound like.

Third quarter tests will begin March 17.

PLAN AHEAD

The system, costing $2,600, which was designed exclusively for the Miego gym, would consist of overhead microphones placed above the stage which would pick up any speaker's voice no matter where he was standing on the stage. Also, there are various mikes and amplifiers which will enable the people sitting in the back to hear better.

To arouse excitement and spirit for the Southeast game, members of the Moose Pack put on a three-act skit. Following the skit, the choir performed three numbers: "I'm Going to Sing", "Down By The Riverside", and "Gavotte" by Bach. To end the assembly in an air of excitement and anticipation for the game, the cheerleaders led the school in a few cheers.

Pep Club, Moose Pack Boost School Spirit

Now that the football and basketball seasons are over, congratulations are in order for the Miego Pep Club and the Moose Pack. Both organizations have done outstanding work in representing our school and in giving enthusiastic support to our teams on the court and on the field.

Several praising comments have been received from officials of other schools concerning both the courtesy displayed by Miegians as students of a host school, and their conduct as visitors to other schools. Both the Pep Club and the Moose Pack can be proud of this.

Doodling Obscures School Beauty

Students at Miego have oftentimes proved that they are genuinely proud of their school. They have displayed this pride through their participation in athletics, in their academic excellence, and by electing capable leaders. But the pride the students take in the school building itself is another matter entirely.

Since last year, when it was announced that the students would be allowed to chew gum in class there has been a great concern over the conditions in which the desks have been left. When the average gum-chewer at Miego gets tired jaws, he conveniently placed his "wod" either under his desk or on the floor beside it. The result has been very sticky and much more work has been added to the already cumbersome task of proper maintenance.

Adding even more charm to the students desks, are little slogans and notes written all over the tops and backs of their chairs. Sometimes a student might even go so far as to engrave his initials so he will long be remembered. Needless to say, behavior such as this is not only childish, but damaging as well.

To see a Miego restroom is even more beauty to behold. Like the desks in the classrooms the walls in these places don't have a chance either. After seeing it all, a person might wonder how the students in our school behave when they are at home.

As part of a generation constantly preoccupied with improving, it is a curious phenomenon why the students at Miego aren't acting. It is evident the whole problem hinges on whether Miegians really do take a pride in their school.

Miego has long been noted for the superior conduct of her students. This superiority has manifested itself at games where the competition runs very high, and when other schools are not quite so well behaved. It also shows up in the sportsmanship displayed by both groups when our teams have been defeated. We are proud to say that this year, despite what other schools may say or write, the Pep Club and the Moose Pack have shown superiority in their behavior and in their spirit.

Both the Pep Club and the Moose Pack have added to Miego's public image, and to her school spirit. We can proudly say that each member of these two groups is truly a Miegian.

STUDENT SOUNDINGS

Award winning films have attacked the student body of Miego, attempting to bore the students to death. Many casualties were reported when the old lady planted her beans, and when the old man cried in his coffee because he was being evicted from a condemned building. It looks like only the strong, highly intellectual students will be able to hold off the brutal force of the projector by striking back with intelligent discussions. For the other "not so intelligent students," who think the action on the wall is pointless, defeat is certain.

The paper staff would like to hear opinions from the student body concerning this topic.

In Memoriam

Mr. C. E. Carrigan, father of Tim Carrigan, a junior, died February 14. He was a member of Saint Ann's Parish.

Mr. Edward Sweeney, father of Terri Sweeney, former student of Miego, now a senior at Shawnee Mission North, passed away February 2. He was a member of Saint Pius' Parish. Services were held at the church and burial was in Resurrection cemetery.

Patriotism Assembly

On February 22 a patriotism assembly was presented to the student body of Miego. To incite the feeling of patriotism in the students, copies of original papers were hung in the corridor by the library. These documents were presented by Mr. L. Bishop, a member of the Exchange Club of Mission, Kansas, who is responsible for Miego possessing these documents.

Two skits were also presented at the assembly. The ideas for the skits were chosen from ideas given at a student congress workshop which was held last summer.

The guest speaker for the assembly was Mike Raff, an alumnus of Miego. After graduating from high school, Mike went to Notre Dame for two years, then entered Immaculate Conception Seminary. For the past couple of summers, Mr. Raff has been doing social work in the slums of New York City and certain cities of the South. Mr. Raff presented the concept of patriotism and how it relates to the students of today. He also related to the students some of his experiences in the slums where he worked.

In conclusion the Chambray Singers and The Prophecy held a sing along of patriotic songs for the whole student body to join in.

Math Wizards Attend Meeting

Ward sponsored the Mu Alpha Theta Regional Conference at St. Mary's College in Leavenworth on Saturday, February 11. Miego's junior and senior math clubs were both invited.

In addition to the regular program, leaders from several high schools conducted group sessions. Alan Rues, a junior from Miego, talked on the trisection of an angle. Other students conducting sessions were from Bishop Ward, St. Joseph, Shawnee; Washington, Wyandotte, and Grandview.

Attending from Miego were Diane Dalton, John Mullens, Kathy Leary, Nancy Gaines, Jim Gendron, Pat Swarts, Barb Recker, and Pam Santee. The faculty sponsor accompanying the students was Mr. Wingert.

In all, fifteen high schools from Kansas and Missouri were invited.

Tours of the campus were conducted by college math majors and the faculty of St. Mary's.

Miegians Explore Mental Illness

About 180 Miegians will depart by bus for Osawatomie state hospital on March 22. Contrary to popular belief they are not being hospitalized but are participating in a Student Career Day sponsored by the superintendent of the hospital. The Career Days are open to any interested high school students. The group representing Miego is primarily from the psychology classes.

Participating students will be divided into groups with 10 to 12 to a group. Each group will have a staff member as a guide and leader. The program consists of an introduction to the grounds, meetings with some of the patients, and lectures and films.

Mr. O'Connell, psychology teacher, gave three goals as the purpose of these Student Career Days: 1) to introduce people to what Kansas is doing for mental health. 2) to introduce people to the problems of mental health. 3) to introduce students to the job opportunities in the area of mental health and psychology.

Show Business Can Be Rough

A great many people are giving their time and putting in a lot of hard work to make this year's Talent Show the best ever. Kathy D'Agostino and Nancy Tipton are in charge of the Talent Show as a whole. Heading the committees are Ric North, stage; Anita Daniels, make-up; Kim Kirkland, refreshments; Nancy Tipton, programs and publicity; and Tom Doyle and Sal Dasta, sound. Mr. Rost has also put in a great deal of work as advisor. Mrs. Mary Beth Schumacher, art teacher at Paseo, has donated her time to help design and carry out the background sets. The students who are participating in the show are practicing on Sundays to perfect their acts.

Maybe An Oscar?

Cecil B. DeMille would be very proud of the Miego Philosophy Club's latest undertaking — a motion picture.

The club, under the direction of Mr. Dalton, plans to begin shooting in almost a month. The theme of the movie will be decided on shortly.

Expert assistance with the project will be supplied by Dr. Donald Williams, an expert in film narration at the University of Missouri at Kansas City and by Calvin Studios, a leading producer of commercials and educational films.

Why does the Philosophy Club want to undertake such a project? In the words of a member, "Movies are an art form that wields tremendous influence these days. We feel that it is important to understand the techniques involved in film producing, and what better way is there to understand them than by actually using them?"

Films Scheduled

A schedule for the feature movies that are to be shown on Tuesday nights starting March 28 has been set up. It is as follows:

March 28	On The Waterfront
April 4	Rebel Without A Cause
April 11	The Bridge
April 18	Not confirmed
April 25	Requiem For A Heavyweight
May 2	Not confirmed

Mr. Dalton is trying to get "David and Lisa" for either May 2 or April 18. The other date will be filled by two hours of comedies, including Laurel and Hardy, Harold Lloyd, Ben Turpin, The Keystone Cops, Charlie Chaplin, W. C. Fields, and many others in their best performance.

Feature Teacher

Mr. Dalton, vice-principal in charge of curriculum and faculty, graduated from St. Agnes High School and received his degree in English from Rockhurst College. Later, he took time out from teaching to work toward his Master's degree in education at U.M.K.C.

Mr. Dalton has taught reading improvement at U. M. K. C., and he has published an article on the subject. He is attempting to begin a similar program here at Miego. He has also investigated such educational innovations as modular class scheduling.

Due to his efforts, a series of feature films will be shown here, and a film appreciation class has been instituted.

Outside of school, Mr. Dalton has helped with such important projects as the Fair Housing Drive.

Bits And Pieces

Tuberculosis tests will be given to the sophomore class on Tuesday, March 21. Two days later, on March 23, the students will be checked. If the area where the patch was applied has become red and hot, the person may have TB.

The national celebration of Catholic Book Week was February 19-25. Begun in 1940, it has been a tradition every year to name a week as book week. This year's theme was "Involvement Today and Tomorrow." In accordance with this week, Sister Julianna displayed posters and current books in the school library.

On Wednesday, February 8, Mrs. Sullivan's speech and drama classes went to Circle Theatre. The play was a comedy by Mary Chase called "Harvey". The classes left after fifth hour and returned about five o'clock in the evening.

Miego May Make Change

A lot has been said lately about instituting modular or flexible scheduling and team teaching at Miego. Flexible scheduling is a comparatively new idea which is being tested in schools scattered throughout the United States. Bishop Hogan and Immaculata High Schools are experimenting in this new technique of learning.

The purpose of flexible scheduling is to relieve some of the pressures placed upon students. This type of scheduling allows the student to use thirty to forty per cent of their time in independent study. This independent time may be spent in a student union where the student may relax, in attending another class, or in resource centers. These centers are divided into different subject areas, for example, social science and science. Each resource center would be equipped with tape recordings, films, newspapers, magazine articles, and books relating to the subject matter. Also, if a teacher does not have a class to occupy his time, then he would make himself available in these centers to students who may be having individual problems.

In flexible scheduling all of the classes are pre-planned and computerized into a workable schedule. Classes vary from day to day; they may last from twenty minutes to one hundred and twenty minutes depending on whether the teacher wanted to lecture, have lab, or large and small discussion groups. The system of flexible scheduling eliminates homework if the student uses his time profitably in the study centers. The reason for so many independent study times is to make available the school facilities when otherwise the students would be forced to use libraries other than the schools, which might cause some problems.

The faculty at Miego has been considering introducing flexible scheduling at Miego in the future. The main obstacle in setting up this system for next year is lack of time. More information must be gathered and analyzed before this system can be worked out. Another obstacle is lack of space. Miego does not have enough appropriate rooms for large lecture groups. Still another problem is lack of teachers. There should be approximately one teacher for every thirty students.

Miego may institute a modified schedule for next year which would entail having six hours a day, the same as this year, but rotating the hours so that you may carry six subjects and one independent study time. For instance, on Monday you would attend hours one through seven and on Tuesday you would attend hours two through seven. So you would be attending the same class four times a week instead of five.

Mr. Dalton, vice-principal, believes that if Miego could overcome the obstacles that were mentioned before that Miego students could profit extensively from it, they would learn to accept responsibility and to spend their time profitably.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Messina recently became the proud parents of a 9 pound 12 ounce baby boy. Christopher Paul Messina arrived Monday evening, February 13, at 10:00. Christopher was also welcomed by a sister, Brenda, and a brother, John.

Juniors Plan Fashion Show

Juniors will sponsor a fashion show on March 31 in the Miego gym. Fashions supplied by Cricket West will range from sportswear to date and prom. Kathy Connelly is chairman of the fashion show.

Models from Miego are juniors Connie Cramer, Susie Garner, Mary Lou Kraft, Julie LaGue, Cindy Meyers, Lisa Miller, Lois Ruhl, Melanie Stone, Nancy Tipton, and Kathy A. Walsh; and seniors Mary Pat Corcoran, Mary Pat Kelly, Cheryl Mehan, and Ann Williams. Models will also be chosen from the Shawnee Mission high schools. Ten escorts will be picked from Miego.

Tickets went on sale around March 1 for 75 cents and can be obtained from any junior girl.

Cheerleader, Mini-sized

Marietta Lowry, 2½ year old basketball mascot, recently helped the cheerleaders in completing the 1966-67 basketball season. "She practices her cheers at home and looks forward to the game each week," reported her sister Chris Lowry. Although Marietta has often tried to do the splits during games, she is now practicing cart-wheels which somehow result in a somersault.

Point System A Success

This year there have been two new additions to Miego's Pep Club: a new uniform and a Point System. The new uniforms, which must be worn for a member to be counted at a game, was voted on at the final Pep Club meeting last year. There have been a total of 253 uniforms purchased.

The Point System is a method whereby a Pep Club member may gain or lose points depending upon how active that member is. At the beginning of the year each girl was allotted 30 points; if her points drop to below 15, she has to turn in her patch and may not join the Pep Club next year.

During the summer a letter was sent out to all of the Pep Club members which outlined the Point System. This system was voted on and initiated into the Constitution.

The thirty girls who receive the most amount of points will comprise the Honor M next year. Any girls that receive any points are to give Patty Huddelstun a written notice of the work which they have done.

This year's officers are satisfied with the Point System and are confident that it will help determine who deserves pepster and initiation into Honor M.

Stags Active in NCCJ

The National Conference of Christians and Jews, NCCJ, is a civic organization seeking through education and discussion to promote mutual understanding among people of all religions and races.

Three Miego seniors, Mary Sue O'Connor, Mal Nees, and Pat Boyle are members of the youth division. They participate in panel discussions and plays which are presented at area high schools, P.T.A.'s, and various Church youth groups. Mary Sue and Mal are members of the panel, with Pat participating in the play.

Commenting on the program Mary Sue O'Connor said, "NCCJ enables you to come out of your own shell and learn to associate with people from many different backgrounds."

College Corner

Although few students are familiar with Hollins College, it is a liberal arts college located in Roanoke, Virginia. The enrollment is 926 undergraduates, with students representing 42 states and 17 foreign countries. The four-year program offers 27 majors and special programs including study at the University of Paris, courses about the U.S.S.R., and also creative writing programs.

Staff Views Artmaster

The Miego paper staff set out for a field trip on February 16. Destination: Artmaster Yearbooks, Inc.

When the staff arrived, the students were shown the complex procedures involved in putting out a yearbook or a paper. With only 60 persons, Artmaster produces 300 yearbooks and 13 newspapers (of which the Miegian is one) in a year.

FORM 1040A?

Strange sounds emerge from Room 237 during fourth and fifth hours. Bizarre figures are plastered across the blackboards. What are these mysterious carryings on? What is the story behind the door of Room 237?

It seems that Mr. Reardon (that famed founder of Reardonism) has begun the second semester with a new approach to Government class—teaching taxes!

Everyday his students increase their knowledge of the complex system of income taxes. By working out sample income tax problems based on real situations, his students gain a better insight into the ways citizens go about paying their fair share to maintain a "civilized society".

Though much work is involved in learning all about income taxes, and moans and groans tell of the frustrations involved, nothing is more rewarding than to see the bright cheery face of a student who got a problem right.

The college prefers students that rank in the upper two fifths of their graduating class. Tuition and board for resident students costs $2900 a year. For non-resident students, the tuition alone is $1000. Financial aid in the form of scholarships and jobs are available to many of the students.

For further information about Hollins College, see Mr. Messina, college adviser.

Pros and Cons

Student Congress is an organization run by the students for the improvement of the school. In many ways it is a great success; in other ways not so successful. A consensus of the students opinions has been taken and the results show both pro and con.

Pro

Student Congress has accomplished a lot this year. They conducted a successful candy campaign in which enough money was raised for improvement of the school. They have had successful exchanges with two schools, Rockhurst and Immaculata.—Renee Ring, jr.

Overall, Student Congress has done a tremendous job. It makes an honest attempt and succeeds as well as can be expected.—Mr. Frazier Student Congress is effective to the students who are interested and care to get involved.—Tony Dolman, sr.

The representatives have really done a good job this year. More outsiders should be encouraged to attend the StuCo meetings.—Anna D'Agostino, soph.

Student Congress is better this year than last. There seems to be more unity.—Laurie Todd, soph.

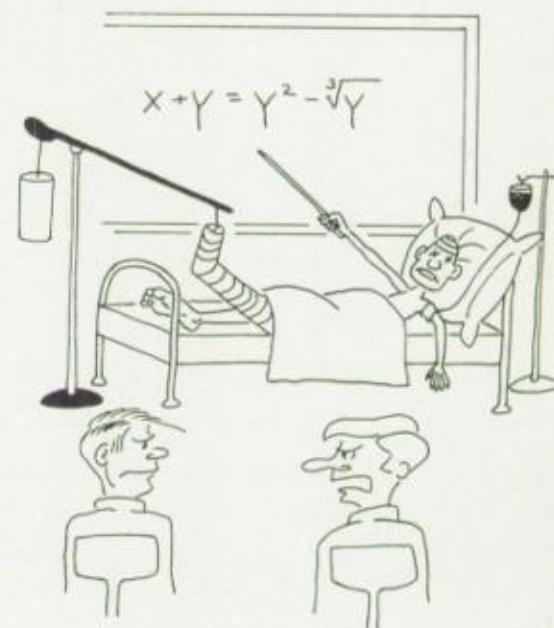

Con

Student Congress isn't close enough to the student body. Usually the officers and representatives are the only ones who know what is going on.—Betty Brooks, sr.

Many times if an idea is expressed and the representative doesn't agree, he talks it down and expresses only the ideas he likes at the meetings.—Kathe Condry, jr.

Student Congress could be more effective but many times they don't follow through on ideas. The students should be better informed on the activities they can participate in.—Dave Nees, fr.

We need more homerooms so we can find out what is going on.—Mary Lynn Dierks, soph.

"I hate teachers with an over-developed sense of duty!"

New Editors Take Over

Assistants to the present Miegian section editors have been named. Some editors retained their positions and were given assistants, others were changed to different sections. Each editor has the equivalent of one page but generally both will work together on their pages.

Covering the picture pages and features are Patty Asher and Cathy Crimmins. Editorial editors are Mary Ann Kathrens and Carol Feldmann. Their job is the front page and editorial section. All news items will be covered by Laura Booker and Jan Dierks. Greg Marino and John Carnelia are responsible for the sports section. Anita Daniels is the exchange editor. The new editors helped edit this issue and will also help with the April and May issues.

begins at noon March 23

"Senioritis?"

It seems that a rare disease has infested the senior class of Miego. As time draws near for graduation, senior after senior is coming down with this dreadful illness which, due to the lack of a medical name, is diagnosed simply as "seniorites".

One of the most prominent symptoms of seniorites is a severe aversion towards their studies. Because their thoughts are turning to the anticipation of prom and graduation, they find it difficult to concentrate on their studies. In almost every class the teacher is confronted with a blank stare, fixed on their faces. When not busily engaged in a conversation with another senior, the suffering seniors are looking at the classroom clock, calculating the hindering minutes until May 20.

Although this contagious disease has no medical cure yet there is still a remedy. This remedy is, of all things, time. Many ex-seniors who have experienced this odd ailment say that by the time May 20 rolls around the seniors will have completely recovered.

Super Blue?

If you happened to see a white-caped, white haired creature with big yellow sun glasses running through the downstairs hall one afternoon you aren't really crazy. It was only Tom Montgomery playing the part of the ghost of Mr. Blue. Mrs. Meis' fourth hour Contemporary Novels class decided to put on skits to show the true character of J. Blue from the novel Mr. Blue by Myles Connelley. One group put on a trial to see if Blue was insane or not. The other group put on a skit at Blue's funeral. By playing his friends and relatives they told what a good man Blue was. The students may put on other skits for the other novels they will read.

Classes Compete

A few issues past, the results of class competition points were given for the first quarter. The results included the soap scrimmage, the United Campaign, and the Ad Campaign. The results showed the sophomores ahead with nine; the frosh were second with eight; the juniors were third with seven; and the seniors were last with six.

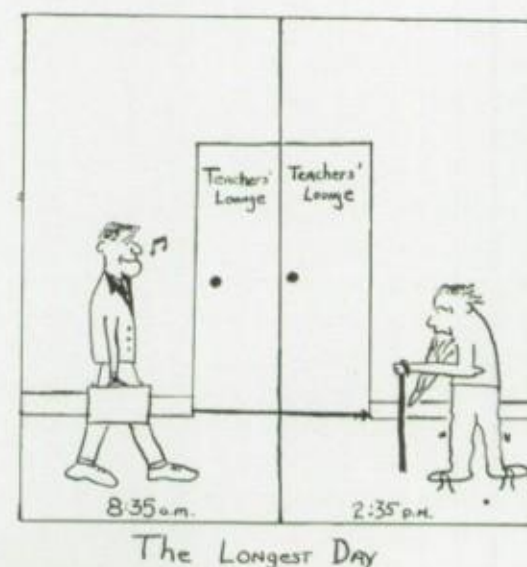

During the second quarter, projects which were based on class competition points were clean-up day, lounge cleaning during the first semester, the chocolate sale, and class projects. Clean-up day was won by the freshmen; cleaning the lounge by the seniors; the chocolate sale by the freshmen; and the seniors and sophomores each have a point for a class project. Adding up the points the classes stand as follows: the frosh and sophomores are tied for first with seventeen; the juniors are second with fifteen; and the seniors last with thirteen.

Project Christopher

What can we do? This question is often asked and seldom answered by teen-agers all over the U. S. and Canada. So much emphasis has been put on the Peace Corps and Lay Apostolate but with very little emphasis on what we, as teen-agers, can do. Now, there is something, Project Christopher.

Founded in 1960 by Father John Brayley in Montreal, Canada, North Americas first Teen Age Peace Corps volunteers begin their training in Bethlehem, South Dakota for about two weeks. From there they go to places in Canada, the U. S., and Mexico to serve where they are most needed by the community.

"Their smile, their ready hand of friendship, their spirit of joy has brought new happiness and understanding wherever they have gone. They have come home more matured, with greater understanding of their fellowmen."

VISTA Sponsors Coffee House

Three VISTA volunteers serving in the Kansas City area are starting a coffee house which is to be located at 41st and Prospect. The purpose of this coffee house is to create communication between students in inner and outer Kansas City. The coffee house will be open on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, and soft drinks, coffee, and packaged items such as potato chips and pretzels will be served. It will be open for three months on a trial basis; if it is a success, it will continue.

The coffee house will be fixed up by the kids interested. Chairs and tables will be donated as well as other items. Hallmark has already agreed to donate the paper goods such as plates and cups for the three months trial. An advisory board of seven adults of various occupations will have charge of the coffee house.

Several money raising projects to get the coffee house started have been held but money is still needed. There have been bake sales and dances sponsored by various schools, and a rummage sale is now being planned. Personal donations by various companies and individuals have also been made.

Anyone who is interested in helping get the coffee house started or wants to sponsor a money raising project can contact one of the VISTA volunteers. Nancy Wisniewski and Marcia DeLeonard can be reached at their home, PL 3-0195, or at WA 2-1029, and Dick Meeker can be reached at VI 2-7355. Any help would be greatly appreciated by them.

Career Corner

As summer gets nearer, more and more high school students start worrying about summer jobs. Right now is not a moment too soon to go job hunting. Here are a few suggestions on how to find a job. Ask the local Chamber of Commerce which businesses in the area have summer programs. See high school counselors and read the classified ads in the newspapers.

Some jobs that always have openings are department stores, filling station attendants, and babysitting. Also the post office offers temporary summer jobs filled by those who pass a qualifying test and are at least sixteen years old.

If students are interested in jobs that don't pay in the respect of money, but the satisfaction of helping others, hospitals, children's homes, and nursing homes always need the assistance of helpful students.

Whatever job a student hopes to land, it is time right now to go searching for these jobs.

Students Preform Surgery

In Sister Martina's Biology II class her students are undergoing an experiment on establishing and maintaining frog embryos. As the picture shows, the class along with Sister's help did surgery on the male frogs to remove the testes. While removing them the class also took out the heart and digestive system and watched it maintain action in a specified solution (Holtfreter's solution).

There were quite a few ooh's and ah's from the class when surgery was performed on the live animals. Although there were many sighs for the dead frogs their were also many smiles a week later when the eggs hatched and tadpoles started swimming in the solution.

The results were gratifying. In addition to the frog experiment, the biology lab is also conducting experiments on chicken eggs and on plants.

Memorable Moments

Remember when...

The senior boys saw the freshmen for the first time and almost died laughing. . .until they saw the freshmen girls.

Those first thirty days of Thirty Days to a More Powerful Vocabulary.

I.Q. Highbrow won the "Most Daring Research Award" in second hour chemistry for his scholarly experiment entitled: "Will an Alka-Seltzer Tablet Dissolve When Dropped Into a Glass of Water?"

The infamous raid on the teachers lounge occurred. When the fuzz asked one teacher what was happening he replied: "I take the fifth," whereupon he was handed a bottle of Old Crow by a teacher who didn't know the party was over.

Math Club Enjoys Activity

The Junior Math Club, under the moderation of Mr. Wingert, is small but busy. At their club meetings, the members learn strange mathematical proofs, develop home-made theorems, and discover about new number systems.

On November 8, the group went to Electro Dynamics, Inc. They were informed on the creating, developing, and finishing of the crystal for color-T.V. sets.

Early in December, along with the Senior Math Club, they toured the K. U. Medical Center Computer System.

January 10 was the date for a field trip through the Midwest Research Institute facilities, and on February 14, the group toured the Western Electric plant.

Senior Art Contest

Hallmark Cards is sponsoring an art contest for all high school seniors. The grand prize is $1,000, second is $750, third is $600. There is $2,350 worth for scholarships. Only oils, water colors, pastels, and mixed media may be in by March 15. Entries are being worked on now by Dave Lanter, Mal Nees, and Mary Pat Corcoran.

Schools In The Spotlight

Representatives from Saint Theresa's Student Council will attend the Student Council Convention March 7-9. The Mardi Gras, sponsored by the Athletic Club, recently made $150.00. The Mardi Gras started out with everyone coming to school in costume. Many senior girls just got back from the senior ski trip to Winter Park, Colorado.

Pembroke Country Day will present "West Side Story" on March 9, 10. The lead characters are Sam Blackwell, Kevin Woodlings, Ray Goldstich, and Jane Pollack from Sunset. The Glee Club will make up the chorus. Spring vacation begins March 10 and ends on the 27. Many of the boys are going to Aspen or Nassau.

On February 20 and 21, the girls at Center were made slaves and were given their freedom at the WPA on the 21.

Sunset's Play Day series of basketball games with Barstow will take place this year on March 13 at Sunset. Senior, Amy Soslind has been accepted at Briarcliff college.

"How to Succeed in Business," the senior play at Southwest, will be presented March 3 and 4. Don Emery, senior has been chosen as one of the outstanding class members. Don was on the all city football team, sports editor, and Quill and Scroll among other activities. Some time this month, the Letterman's Club will hold their Sweetheart Dance.

Stags Crush Raiders

Pem-Day became victims of a balanced Miego scoring attack as the Stags ripped the Raiders by 31 points, 85-54.

Pem-Day scored first in the game but the Stags quickly took the lead and built the Pem-Day deficit to 24 points at half time. Top scorer of the game was John McMillen with 17 points. He was followed by Joe Dold, Dennis Bova, Rick Cain, and Pat North who all scored in double figures for Miego.

Cain soars over opponent for two.

Toemen Balance Record

The Rockhurst Hawklets again maintained their mastery over the Miego Stags through their slight one to nothing score on Saturday, February 4, at the rainsoaked, sloppy Swope Park field. This was the second and final match between the Hawks and the Stags.

On Tuesday, February 7, the Stags gained their second victory over the De La Salle Titans by a forceful score of four to one. Miego began the first quarter with a series of missed shots, but the score quickly came to life in the second quarter with a goal by Mike Mercer. At the start of the second half Miego kept the score growing by another goal; however, soon after in the third quarter, the Titans broke the Stag defense scoring a quick goal. Miego then dominated the game in the fourth quarter with their third and fourth goals. Outstanding offensive play was shown in this game by Mike Mercer scoring three of the Stag's four goals; Mike O'Rourke also added one goal to boost the Miego score.

This game climaxed Miego's Varsity soccer season in which Miego played a total of four games; two against the Hawks and two against the Titans. The Stags close their season with a record of two wins and two losses.

Sophs Have Tough Season

Lack of experience hampered the sophomore Stags as they closed their basketball season with a 5-10 record. About half of their games were lost in the closing minutes because the young Stags lacked this experience. Mr. Conrad, sophomore coach, said that despite inconsistency the sophomores showed definite improvement. He also stated that Mike Shirley and Mike Doherty were two of the more promising players.

Wrestling News

Wrestling, high school style, is just in the experimental stages at most of the area high schools; but it seems to be catching on. Miego is one of the schools where this sport is just coming into its own. The Miego wrestlers are being helped along by Mr. Ron Riley, a graduate of Dartmouth College, who was on the college wrestling team, and also wrestled in high school. Two Miegians, Mark Anwander and Wes Hickman, took part in a district tournament at Topeka, and faced with more experienced foes, were downed in their attempts.

In a dual meet against Pem-Day, the Stags matmen broke even against the Raiders, each winning five matches.

JV HAS IT ROUGH

In looking at the junior varsity's won-loss record, it appears that they didn't make a very good showing this year. However, Mr. O'Connell said that it was not a disappointing season because the J. V.'s had played better than he had expected. Playing, for the most part, bigger and more experienced teams, the J. V.'s are sporting an unpleasant 5 - 9 record. Their best showing of the season was a 59-51 victory over Turner which they won in overtime.

Mr. O'Connell also explained that much improvement has been shown as the season progressed especially by sophomores Jerry Cetura and Rick Lander.

CYCLONES TAKE LATE VICTORY

Sparked by the play of John Burns, the Cyclones of Ward chalked up their 11th victory in 14 games at the expense of Miego in a tight battle ending in a 58 - 50 embarrassment for the Stags.

Although the Stags, playing on their home court, led all the way until only 4:55 remained to play, Ward took advantage of those lastseconds and dealt Miego their 6th loss in 16 attempts.

Terry English led the scoring for the Stags with 19 points closely followed by John McMillen with 18.

STAGS KNOCK KNIGHTS

Joe Dold came through with 23 points to help boost Miego to a 58-53 victory over the Southeast Knights on the Stags' home boards. In the tight contest the balanced offense of Miego, along with the standout rebounding of John MacMillen and Dennis Bova, simply outlasted the Knights.

Taking advantage of Southeast fouls, the Stags picked up 24 points at the charity line, but came out on the short end of the field goal statistics 20 to 17.

Scoring in double figures along with Dold was John MacMillen who put in 15-11 of those courtesy of Knight fouls.

TRACK TEAM BEGINS TRAINING

One of the sure signs of Spring is the sight of the Miego trackmen in training for the new season. Practice began on Monday, February 20, under the supervision of Coach Zimola.

The Stag track team will participate in eleven meets this season. This includes the State Indoor on March 25, and the State Outdoor at the end of the season. After the State Indoor meet the team will participate in the Ottawa Relays on April first.

NHS Welcomes New Members Curtain To Rise For Annual Show

Sunday evening, April 9, the induction of Miede students into the National Honor Society was held. Formerly the induction was held at an all school assembly. The reason for the change to Sunday was to give the family and friends of the new members a better opportunity to attend the induction ceremony.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the cafeteria for the new members and their parents.

These outstanding students were chosen for membership by a faculty board on the basis of four qualities: scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

Miede's fifth annual Talent Show, which is sponsored by the Service Committee, will be presented April 16 at 7:30 in the gym. Approximately twenty-one acts, ranging from rock and roll bands to folksinging groups, will be featured. Among the highlights will be a piano performance of the "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Kathy Centner. Also to be included in the program will be a recital of German songs by the foreign exchange student, Chris Munch. Another added treat will be the slapstick song and dance routine, comprised of such old time favorites as "Mother," performed by the Boys' Octet. Bill Weiss and Mike Helvey will act as M C's.

Unlike past shows, a new addition has been inaugurated. Led by Anna D'Agostino, there will be an audience participation sing-along in the middle of the show.

The proceeds, which are expected to rise over the $1000 mark, will go to the diocesan fund for the education of needy students.

When asked about the successful prospects of this year's Program, Kathy D'Agostino, director of the show, commented, "I think the Talent Show will draw a larger crowd this year because of last year's success."

Percussion Ensemble performed for the students of Miede March 20. Directed by Charmine Asher, head of the percussion section at the University of Missouri at Kansas City, the group of musicians played their music on percussion instruments only. This group of musicians, which is the largest group in the world, use percussion instruments only. Some of the different instruments used in their program are: pianos, drums, cymbals, marimba, triangles and blocks.

Sponsored by the University of Missouri at Kansas City, this was the second time that the percussion group has performed at Miede.

How Do You Feel About Stuco Elections?

Student Congress elections, for most of the students at Miego, have become a yearly venture into politics. Each year the competition grows keener, and the campaigns of the various candidates are more elaborate and ingenious.

It is a good idea to evaluate the results of the previous campaigns, to see whether they are really teaching students good, effective political procedure, or whether they are merely a farce.

On one hand, the campaigns are extremely beneficial to the student body. The competition arouses student interest, and there is a great deal of student participation involved through poster parties, and a sincere interest for some students to "put over" their candidate.

Students, through choosing their own representatives in such a way, also learn how to evaluate much more wisely the candidates themselves, and their basic qualifications for office. The elections offer practical preparation for students who will later be responsible, voting citizens voicing their opinions in community affairs.

Disorganization Causes Confusion

Businesses and corporations must be run with efficiency. They have developed systems to insure best production. Just as these organizations must have order, so must a school.

Yet, at Miego is there actually this order which is so essential for the smooth running of the school? It seems obvious there is a definite disorder in the school. Activities, which should be planned far ahead are quickly arranged at the last minute, with no one being sure of exact dates, times or schedules. How can things be carried out efficiently if no one, not even the top officials, knows what is planned?

If Miego is to be the best, Miegians must make it so. Everyone must work together so that we can have an organized and truly great school.

On the other hand, however, the week of competition also adds a few bad notes to the whole picture. The defacing of posters mars the true spirit of competition, because students soon become more interested in which poster is the funniest, rather than which poster has the most to say about the qualifications of the candidates.

Finally, the campaign indicates a lack of interest on the part of some of the students when it comes time to vote. Every year a large percentage of the students don't vote, which illustrates that some students don't care about who is going to represent them in formulating the ideas and achieving the goals set up by the student body at Miego.

Here are the facts. Do we want an organized campaign that will seriously lead us to the right man for the job, or do we want a fun week, some entertainment posted along the halls?

Student Soundings

Dear Miegian,

In reply to your article "Student Soundings" by Dave Ketter, concerning the movies which have been made available for student viewing, I'd like to say that I strongly disagree. As the article itself pointed out, these films are award winning, award winning for their artistic excellence. Has it become so seldom that we are exposed to a really superior movie that we no longer recognize it? Does a movie need an intricate plot or a handful of celebrities to hold our interest? I hope not. These movies had so much more to offer, a tender feeling effectively portrayed, a pitiful condition existing in our world-today of which many of us were unaware, or an insight into the nature of God Himself.

I'm sure that the majority of my fellow students will join me in applauding the foresight of Miego in being one of the pioneers in extending the scope of education beyond the limitations of textbooks.

Juniors Plan May 5 Prom

Spring is the time when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of... Prom! This year, the junior class has already begun work on the dance to be held May 5 at the World War II Memorial, Linwood and Paseo.

Committees have been formed and the chairmen are decoration, Lois Ruhl; bids, Melissa Tierney; and refreshments, Robbie Golub. Under Lois, heading subcommittees, are Lisa Miller, Sharon Nunnick, Renee Ring, Mickey Harnden, Pat Mitchell, Chuck Miller, Dianne Sayers, Judy Gampper, Peggy Wilkes, Susie Barnard and Peggy Clune. The Bob Murray orchestra will provide the music.

In the words of Ric North and Tom Novick, junior class officers, "The class of '68 is presenting undoubtedly one of the most unique, colorful and impressive junior-senior proms that this school has or ever will see. Not participate in or attend, just see!"

Jazz Band To Miego

The Kansas City All Star Junior Kicks Band presented a concert at Miego on March 31 at 9:30. The band also played at the Kansas City Jazz Festival, April 3 through 9. The group is led by director-pianist, Chris Mayer. The members of this group consist of seventeen professional high school students.

Seniors take game away from Faculty

Seniors Pass B-Ball Test

The Senior Class successfully passed the faculty b-ball test, Friday night, March 17, by a score of 57-54. The seniors led most of the way until the closing minutes of the third quarter, when the faculty took the lead. However the seniors came back in the fourth quarter to regain the lead and post a victory. This ended the faculty's three game winning streak, which dates back to the Senior-Faculty and Chiefs' games of last year, and the WHB-DJ game of this year.

Jim "Naismith" Gendron, that great b-ball expert, who coached the senior team, had the following comments on the game. "First of all, I would like to compliment the faculty and the seniors for their spirit and sportsmanship displayed during the game. The deciding factor of the game had to be those cheerleaders. Our game plan was to fake 'em out with an unorganized game plan." A sad note to the game, Jim Gendron retired as basketball coach after the game. He compiled the spotless record all coaches dream of, a record of one win and no losses.

State Representatives Chosen

During the week of March 13, Miego chose delegates for Boys' and Girls' State. To Boys' State Miego is sending Steve McGill, Ric North, and Tom Novick; to Girls' State, Jane Dewees and Renee Ring.

Besides the friendships made; the Stags will be experiencing city, county, and state government. Other students who were chosen as alternates were Mark Herlach, Allen Rues, Mike Weilert, Peggy Clune, and Barb Shannon.

Both are held on the campus of Kansas University, at Lawrence. Boys' State will be the first full week of June, Girls' State the week following.

Tom Koob, one of last year's delegates, commented, "It takes about two days to get used to everything, then it becomes a meaningful experience."

Miego Math Team Tries For First

A team of five students from Miego will participate in Creighton University's fifth annual Mathematics Field Day on the campus in Omaha, Nebraska, April 15.

Those chosen to attend by their scores on a special test were Tom Koetting and Jim Gendron, seniors; Tom Buglar and Mark Herlack, juniors; and Dennis Kellerman, a sophomore.

Each school may enter one or two five-member teams or a partial team each composed of juniors and seniors and at least one sophomore.

Trophies will be awarded the best teams in each of three classes based on school enrollment. Individual winners are given prizes of books, and all contestants will receive certificates of participation. The awards will be presented at the closing assembly.

The games and contests are designed to challenge the student's comprehension, ingenuity, and abstract reasoning as well as to offer them an opportunity to relax and have fun in the individual games.

Office Staff Serves School

Probably everyone at Miede has had some contact with the ladies who staff the main office, but how many are acquainted with the various duties these ladies carry out?

Mrs. Scofield does clerical work for Father Sullivan, and keeps track of various fees needed to operate the school. She also mimeographs for the faculty.

Mrs. Koob is in charge of all academic records, including report cards and transcripts. She also dittos off copies of anything that requires large distribution.

Besides serving as the school nurse, Mrs. Gannon takes care of Mr. Frazier's clerical work—recording of absentees, tardies, and discipline points.

Bad News Is...

1. Returning home and seeing your father standing in the driveway holding the three inches of rubber you stripped off the new tires when you left.
2. Breaking your garter when you're walking in front of the student body at an assembly.
3. A State Trooper in the car you've just been dragging.
4. A runny nose and no tissue.
5. A watery coke.
6. Getting a whistle from a cute guy, then finding out he is going steady.
7. Tripping in the hall when the boy (or girl) you've been after, all year, walks by.
8. Finding out the girl you blew $30 on last week-end is going steady with your best friend.
9. Freshmen girls in the senior john.
10. Being a senior girl without a date to prom. (hint-hint)

M + R = Victory Over Chiefs

Miede and Rockhurst faculties combined their skills to form the team that conquered the Kansas City Chiefs with a score of 64-60 in a basketball game played Friday, March 22, on the Miede court.

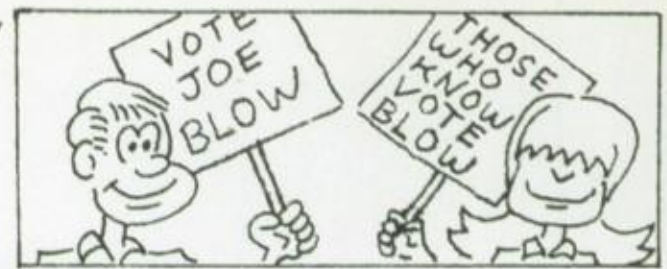

Throughout the game the Chiefs were ahead, but with only one minute and thirty seconds left in the game, the faculty team pulled out of a tie and took over the game by the shooting of Dick Hennier with his two successive half court shots.

The faculty first string team consisted of three Miede teachers—Jerry Gannon, Paul O'Connell, and Steve Ryan, along with two Rockhurst lay teachers—Marion Nickel, a math teacher, and Don Laeffelholtz, a history teacher. None of the Jesuit brothers played.

The Chiefs first string was made up of five team members—Bud Abell, Dave Hill, Jerrel Wilson, Bobby Ply, and "The Hammer" Williamson. Other team members were Fred Arbanas and Buck Buchanan.

This was the second time the two teams have met. The faculty team also won last year over the Chiefs by a small margin.

Admission charge to the game was one dollar. Any profits obtained from the game after paying the Chiefs' charge will go to the schools.

Campaign Begins Soon

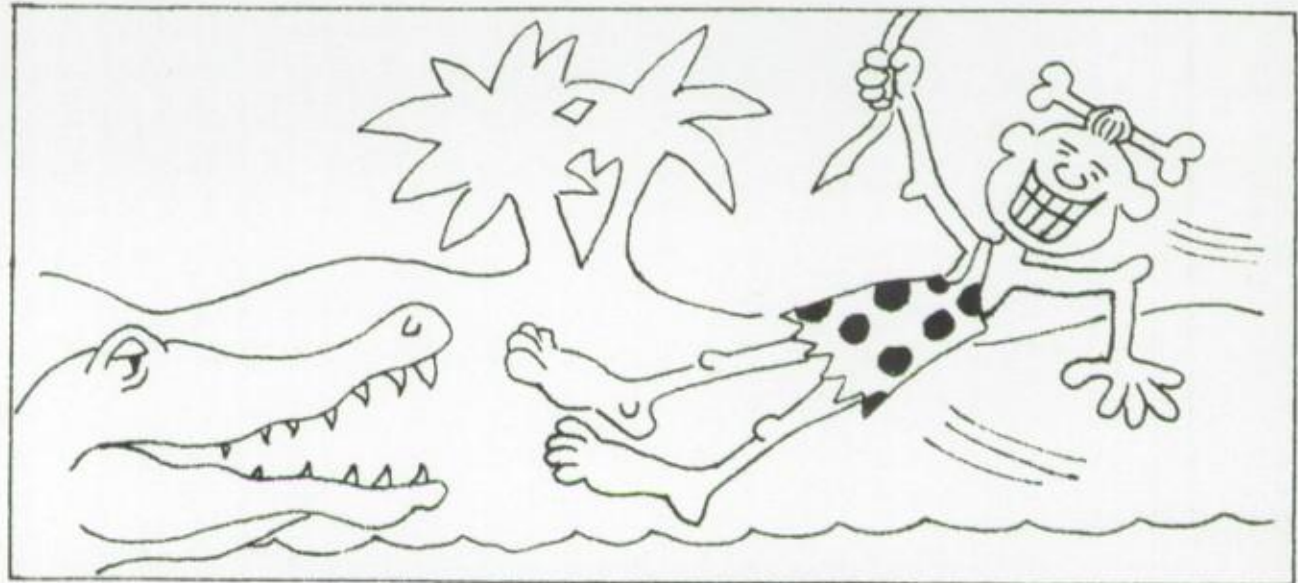

It's that time of year again when everyone is nominating, campaigning, and electing.

Last Friday the students picked their class representatives for the nominating committee. Then on April 14, these representatives along with the senior nominating committee will pick the candidates for Student Congress offices. The results of this meeting will be announced April 17.

The week of April 17-22 will be devoted to making posters, and on the 23, the masterpieces will be displayed on every empty wall space.

At an assembly on the 26, the candidates will give their final speeches. The decision is made by the students on the 27 and 28, and the results of the election will be announced at a mixer Friday night, April 28.

Don't forget to bring canned food for the needy to Room 127 on the first Friday of the Month. They depend on you for life.

Seniors Discover Secrets

Feature writers have long been known for their ability to uncover well-hidden facts. Here it is, the secret of the year—the theme of the Junior-Senior Prom.

The theme of the 1967 Prom will be "Tropical Rain Forest." Jungle vegetation will be imported from the Congo, and sound effects will be provided by members of the freshman class hiding in the trees.

A jungle river, consisting of water from Brush Creek and occupied with live crocodiles - imported from Tanganyika - will flow across the entrance. In order to enter, guests must swing across the river on grapevines suspended from the ceiling.

The sophomore class will provide entertainment dressed as jungle wild life, while music will be provided by the drum ensemble, giving their interpretation of "I Left My Heart in Leopoldville," playing on hollow log drums.

One corner of the room, designed as a native village, will be the site of a native Watasi war dance, enacted by the faculty.

An after prom splash party will be held in Meyer fountain, which will be filled with tropical man-eating fish. The highlight of the evening will be the submergence of all those junior and senior boys refusing to go to the prom.

Feature Teacher

Sweater snatching, football coaching, and physics teaching are only three of the many duties performed by Mr. Frazier. He first began teaching at Miege six years ago after graduating from St. Benedict's College in Atchison, Kansas.

After two years of teaching math and science, Mr. Frazier was appointed Dean of Boys. He held this position until this year when he was appointed dean of students and vice-principal. Two years ago he was appointed head football coach after serving for four years as assistant coach.

Mr. Frazier is married and has two children, a boy and a girl. He is currently attending the University of Missouri at Kansas City and will receive his Master's Degree within the year.

Mr. Frazier seems to be an indispensable person around Miege whether he is in the faculty lounge, his office, or his classroom.

Bits And Pieces

Mr. Schwerdtfeger, Biology teacher, was nominated by the sophomore class for the Apple for Teacher contest on WHB. The teacher and the class both received two bushels of apples. Mr. Messina was the first Miege teacher to win this contest.

Choir Sings Way To Success

This years choir has been very active in the past months. The choir first attended the Avila Music Festival on March 6, along with eleven other high school glee clubs. Their performance rated a 2.3 or excellent rating which warranted their singing at the Music Hall on Sunday March 12. The program began at 3:30 and lasted until 5:30 with the Miege Choir performing last.

The third event the choir attended was the Atchison Music Festival held on Thursday, March 16. The buses left school at 7:45 and arrived at Atchison in time for Mass at 9:30. Rehearsals with the other schools began after Mass and lasted until 12:30 and resumed again after the lunch break. A performance for the public was then staged at 7:00. The buses arrived back at school at 10:30.

Teacher Types Vary

Have you ever noticed the marvelous variety of teachers at Miege? I'll bet we have more variations in teacher's personalities than you could count on both hands. But some are just too good to let go unmentioned.

For instance, the witty, always-got-a-pun type English teacher. This type of teacher is interesting, smart, and never lets the day go by without repeating the same joke to all his classes.

Then there is the intellectual, true-to-Darwin type Biology teacher. He pushes his students until they learn to crack a book, and ends up with their respect and thanks in the end.

Interestingly enough, there is the jolly, open-your-mouth type Speech teacher. Before you leave the class, you should have mastered the art of opening and closing the mouth.

Another amusing teacher personality is the gay, time-to-take-a-timing type typing teacher. She always smiles, though some of her students deal her a fit; and she loves Girl Scout cookies.

A real interesting teacher personality is the riot, take-out-a-half-sheet-of-paper type Government teacher. He's full of little goodies and clever sayings and frequently surprises his students with fun quizzes.

There are many, many more teacher type personalities that could be mentioned here. But, let it be said to all teachers everywhere —we love you!

Sister Anna Honored by National Science Foundation

Sister Anna, Chemistry and Physical Science teacher, has been offered a grant to the University of Portland for study eight weeks this summer. The grant, which was offered by the National Science Foundation, is for the study of integrated Physics and Chemistry classes: an attempt to offer Physics and Chemistry together over two years in the high schools.

She was also offered an alternate to Bemidji State College for the study of nuclear science and radio active techniques. Sister has decided to accept the grant to the University of Portland in Oregon.

Officers, Cheerleaders

To Be Elected

This year the pep club officers and cheerleaders will be elected on the same basis as last year, with some exceptions.

Any girl who is in good standing with the pep club may write a short essay on why she wants to be a pep club officer. From these essays the former senior officers and the pep club moderator, Miss Murphy, choose the most capable girls for the nomination, then the entire pep club votes for the officers.

This year girls who want to try out for the position of cheerleader will be taught a special cheer at a clinic held after school. These girls will also have to formulate a cheer of their own. Each girl will try out in front of an elimination board which will be on April 12, and the finals will be April 19.

The pep club officers and the cheerleaders will be announced at a special assembly on April 28.

Clothing Class

Shows Work

The girls in Mrs. Koch's first and second year clothing classes will model the clothes they have made in a fashion show on the evening of April 11. Attendance will be by invitation only.

The theme will be A Girl Looks Into the Future. The show is being planned by two committees. One will be in charge of designing and arranging the scenery and the other will write the script. Stephanie Durand, a senior, will be the commentator.

The young boy in the picture is known around school as a leader of men and a follower of women. Without him the junior class would be missing one of its most valuable assets. This class leader is also a member of the basketball team.

(The answer is John Dold)

Ugly Men Boost Bishop's Relief

Seniors held their Ugly Man contest again this year for the benefit of the Bishops relief fund. Anyone could vote and each vote cost one cent. The winner, or perhaps the loser, was Mike Whitmore with John Bremser coming in a close second.

The other classes held money-raising projects also. The freshmen held several bake sales and the sophomores held one at the Chiefs-Faculty game. Other money for the Bishops Relief Fund came from collections during homeroom and lunch.

The Freshmen were first with 92 cents per person, the Sophomores were second with 73 cents per person, the Juniors were third with 64 cents per person, and the Seniors were last with 61 cents per person. The final total was $809.92.

"Sicker Yet, Sicker Yet"

The Mexicalises were a farming race, dependent chiefly on their corn production. For many years, Demeter smiled upon them and blessed them with a fruitful harvest. After each harvest, a great festival of gratitude was held. Gradually, the Mexicalises took the excellent production for granted. They felt that they originated their own prosperity. This capital crime of hubris offended Demeter greatly and she determined to punish the people for it. She ground up the vile plant tobacco, and she removed the corn from the soon-to-be-harvested crop. Filling the husks with the weed, she cursed: "May those who eat of this corn be plagued with gastric discomfort, and may those who otherwise handle it become sicker yet." The nymph Echo heard her curse and repeated, "sicker yet, sicker yet. . ."

One afternoon, several days before harvest time, Winston, son of the god Vulcan and the mortal Tarytona, was wandering through the fields as meal time approached. Feeling that the corn would be good so close to harvest, he plucked several husks and began to roast them. As the husks grew hotter, a wonderful aroma arose from them and a faint glow rather than a flame burned at the ends of each husk. Winston shared his father's delight with all kinds of fire. He picked up a husk and sucked it to see if a flame would arise. He saw that the glow only grew brighter. He continued to savor the flavor despite the cough the smoke evoked, and he forgot completely about his meal. In the nearby woods, he heard Echo repeating "sicker yet, sicker yet. . ." Misunderstanding her words, Winston called his discovery the cigarette. To this day Demeter's curse prevails. Due to smoking, people become "sicker yet" with lung cancer and respiratory diseases.

Schools In The Spotlight

Schools in the spotlight this month are Southwest, Shawnee-Mission North, Shawnee Mission East, and Westport Night School. Within these schools, many people have noticed a change that has taken place in the boys. They are bald. Greg Woodward, Shawnee Mission-North Senior, and Pat Magee originated the head shaving rage during a hair cutting fight that got out of hand. By the end of that day eleven boys from various schools about town were bald and appeared on the news. Roger Twibell, Shawnee-Mission North, discovered a dent in his head and Pat Zullig, Westport Night School, found his to be pointed. Other members of the group are Joe Margio, Rick Inthrator, Dave Maroos, Dave Tebow, Ned White and head guitar player for the Glaxies, Dave Chapman who was shaved by force.

RITERS MAIKE MISSTEAKS TWO

Is it rite or rong? Winegart or Wingert? Moleman or Mohlman?

Over the past year, the Miegian has striven for perfection. But the staff has proven to have a mental block about certain things, and the problem of misspelled names has habitually arisen.

To the faculty and student body of Miego, the staff wishes to extend their most sincere apologies.

I.A. Members Display Homes

Bob Jones, senior, and Tim Orr, junior, had entries in this year's model home contest Wednesday, April 5, at the Municipal Auditorium.

Bob's entry was a ranch design and Tim's was a circular model. They were judged according to type of home. Furnishing was optional. Both homes will be on display from April 2 to April 9 at the Greater Kansas City Home Show.

AIS Sponsors Trip To Europe

Instead of the usual trips to the Ozarks or to some resort two hours away, some Miego students are really going to travel this summer. Sponsored by the Alliance for International Studies and chaperoned by Mr. Fiorella, these students will study in Europe.

For only $830, they will spend five and a-half weeks touring such famous cities as Vienna, Geneva, Venice, Rome, Florence, Perugia, Paris, and London.

Besides attending classes, they will have time to themselves. They will visit Versailles and take a midnight excursion down the Seine River. They will tour such well-known places as the Colosseum, the Louvre, Westminster Abbey, and the House of Parliament. In Italy they will spend a day attending the Italian House of Parliament. They will see the location of the filming of "The Sound of Music" in Vienna.

Besides the experience of living in Europe and learning the customs, the students will receive a transcript of academic credit and this can be accepted as a half credit.

Father O'Brien Joins Faculty

A new addition to Miego's faculty is Father Michael O'Brien. He has taken over Father Doebele's duties as assistant pastor at St. Agnes Church and as teacher of three religion classes here.

Father O'Brien was born in Kansas City, Missouri. He was ordained in 1963 in Staten Island, New York. For three and one-half years, he was at St. Anthony's Church in New Haven, Connecticut. Father O'Brien speaks Italian fluently and this aided him when he worked in Canada for two months helping in missions near Montreal.

Father Doebele has been transferred to St. Peter's Cathedral where he is assistant pastor. He has also been appointed assistant chancellor for the archdiocese.

Stags Take Third In B B Regionals

Miege finished its basketball season in winning style by bringing home a third place trophy at the class AA Kansas regional tournament.

In the first game with S-M East, the Stags saw four players hit in double figures. Mark Geraghty led the way in scoring by pumping in 14 points. He was followed by Terry English with 13 and Dennis Bova and Joe Dold with 11 and 10 respectively. Shooting at a 49 per cent clip, the Stags overcame an 8 point first quarter deficit and went on to a 68-57 victory.

The second game of the tournament was the heartbreaker for Miege. The Sumner Spartans led by Don Franklin won in overtime, 70-66. Miege overcame a 10 point deficit in the fourth quarter and took a 2 point lead in the final 9 seconds. Sumner gave the ball to Franklin who sank a 25 foot jump shot from the corner to tie the score at the end of regulation time. In overtime, Miege could not hold Franklin who iced the victory with a 20 foot jumper and two free throws.

Joe Dold led Miege to third place in the tournament by scoring 24 points in an 81-68 victory over Fort Scott. Others scoring in double figures for Miege were Terry English with 15, Mark Geraghty with 17, and Rick Cain with 12.

Miege Clips Falcons

In their last game of regular season play, the Stags were victorious over the Van Horn Falcons and finished with a 13-6 record.

With an offense that sank 58 per cent of its attempts and defense more than containing the Falcon drive, Miege left the boards with a score of 73-65 on the record books.

John McMillen was high scorer with 34 points and Terry English was next with 23.

TRACK TEAM SHOWS PROSPECT

Again this year Coach Zimola will be guiding our athletes to another great season. Some of the probable point winners filling this year's positions are hurdlers Mike O'Rourke and Bill Wiess; sprinters Tom Koob, Rich Cain, and Dave Bertuglia; milers Mike Bock and Allen Floyd; and two milers Paul Justus and Kevin Harris. Throwing the shot will be Jim Lisky and Rich Cain; discus throwers will be Rich Cain, Steve Bower,

Linkers Ready For Season

With the coming of spring, the Miege golf team of '67 prepares for its new season. At the helm of the varsity team are co-coaches, Mr. Dickey and Mr. Hennier. They have done much to organize the team and both are optimistic about a good season.

Through the courtesy of Milburn and Indian Hills country clubs the members of the team are allowed to practice twice a week on these courses. Some of the contests this years team will be entered in are the Shawnee Mission regionals, and the state championship, and conduct dual meets with other area schools.

and John Mullens. High jumpers will be Tom Koob and Steve Bower. Pole vaulters will be Joe Dold and Kenny Hare. Broad jumpers will be Dave Bertuglia and Jim Gendron. Pat Larkin, John Shigouri, and Terry Dunn will throw the javelin.

Faculty Dazes D J's

Miege's faculty, always on the ball, displayed their superiority in basketball by downing the WHB D J's, 63 to 62. In this hard fought contest, the faculty led the whole game with the exception of a few minutes in the fourth quarter when the dizzy DJ's caught the older Stags taking it easy. However, 'Dangerous Dick' Hennier, who was top scorer with 14 points, sewed up the game for the faculty with his superb one man gun attack.

Before the game, Johnny Dolan and Ron Martin engaged in a free throwing contest. After getting off to a slow start, Dolan, urged on by all his "diggers," overcame Martin, 6 to 4.

Five albums and a transistor were given away as door prizes after the game. Also, to the joy of numerous souvenir hunters and to the dismay of the "Winged Warrior," Chickenman was plucked.

Awards Presented To Miegians Seniors Await Final Ceremony

At the Awards Assembly on May 16, four types of awards will be presented to outstanding students. The first of these is the Scholastic Awards given to the boy and girl with the highest grade point average from the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior class. Next the Service Awards will be presented to the students who have demonstrated the most outstanding service in the school.

Each department will present an award for excellence in the field. The BUSINESS DEPARTMENT AWARD will go to the outstanding senior girl who has taken two years of shorthand, at least one year of typing, and secretarial practice. The highest average to all business courses in addition to the above determines the recipient.

The student having the highest grade average for four years of English at Miege will receive the ENGLISH AWARD.

The ART AWARD will be given to a second year art student who through effort and talent achieves the highest degree of originality, creativity, and art quality. The student must also use his talent for the benefit of the school.

The student having all required projects completed and work of superior quality will be honored by the HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT.

The INDUSTRIAL ARTS AWARD is given for a two year sequence of work. The student must have maintained a B average and exhibited exceptional cooperation.

Any freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior may receive the MATHEMATICS AWARD. Requirements are a B average in Math, outstanding class participation, original and creative thinking, and an original paper or proof. The choice is made by the Math faculty.

In the MODERN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT, the student must have taken two years of Spanish or French and maintained a B average to receive the award.

In the field of PHYSICAL EDUCATION an award will be presented to the student who has proven himself outstanding in the following areas: attitude, behavior, improvement, class interest, ability, leadership, cooperation, knowledge, and sportsmanship.

The SOCIAL SCIENCE AWARD requires three years of social science, a B average during the three year sequence, and exceptional interest and cooperation.

The final division will be the AQUINAS AWARDS, the highest honor Miege can bestow on a student. Aquinas winners are determined by the faculty and is given to 4% of the senior class, which will be thirteen students this year. Consideration for this award is based on:

- 1.) scholastic achievement according to ability
- 2.) unselfish service to the school
- 3.) courtesy
- 4.) character

On May 3, an assembly was held in the gym to present athletic and scholarship awards. Service awards were also presented to students who were picked by Student Congress.

The class of 1967 will graduate from the Kansas City, Kansas Memorial Hall on Saturday, May 20. This will be the second time in the history of Miege that the commencement exercises will not be held in the gym. Last year's graduation was also held in Memorial Hall. This is due to the large number of students in the class—260 graduates last year, and 244 graduates this year.

The ceremonies, as in the past, will begin on Friday, the nineteenth of May, with the Baccalaureate Mass. As the plans stand so far this year, the Mass will be held Friday morning at nine o'clock at Saint Ann's Church.

Following the Baccalaureate Mass will be the Baccalaureate Breakfast. The breakfast this year is scheduled for ten o'clock at the Town House Hotel in Kansas City, Kansas.

The graduation exercises will commence at eight o'clock the following evening. In addition to the distribution of diplomas, the ceremonies will also include songs sung by the choir and, if possible, a speech given by a guest speaker. If there is not a guest speaker, the tradition speeches will be given by members of the graduating class.

Stuco '67 Recaptured

A lot can happen in the last two months of a school year and very often it is this part of the year that can either "make it or break it." So as I write this in March, in order to meet the paper's deadline, I sincerely hope that it is read in May only as a partial evaluation by a far from impartial student.

Although I was asked to evaluate this year's Student Congress, I have found it extremely difficult to keep from drifting to an evaluation of the year in general. But this is as it should be. For if our Student Congress has made progress toward the three overall goals, which were set up at the beginning of the year: 1) to foster, promote, and develop good citizenship in democracy as a way of life; 2) to promote the general welfare of the school and good human relations in the school community; 3) to assist in directing and managing student life activities, then it should be difficult to separate the accomplishments and shortcomings of the Congress from those of the entire school.

There are, of course, some areas of the school which are totally unaffected by Student Congress, but I feel that these few areas have become even fewer this year. A foul counter for basketball games, a used book sale, a sound system for the gym, feature length movies—areas which seem unrelated, to say the least, to student government, have been explored for the first time.

I don't offer this as an excuse for my inability to evaluate Student Congress itself, but when I try to rate this year's Congress I can't help but think of some factors which are not directly related to it, I think of our outstanding athletic records and the overall spirit which we used to hear so much about, but which we now see in our Moose Pack, Pep Club, or just in a car parade to the regionals. These are things which I can't erase from my mind in order to give an "objective appraisal of Student Congress."

Although I do think that our overall accomplishments far outweigh our setbacks, I do recognize many areas which need improvement. One of these areas has been the lack of proposals from the student body. The majority of new ideas have originated within the Congress itself. The reason for this is undoubtedly the very small amount of time we have had for homerooms. Due to scheduling difficulties we have had to use every second of homeroom for set business, thus leaving little time for students to voice their opinions and propose new ideas. This and other factors have led to a related problem in the area of communication.

I am sure that these and other problem areas which have arisen can be resolved by the upcoming All-School Council. The Council, an idea originated with Father Sullivan and developed by Mr. Frazier with the cooperation of Student Congress, should, by the time this issue is distributed, have reevaluated nearly every area of school policy and revised it where necessary. If this project is successful we will have made a great step forward in achieving the fourth goal which was set up specifically for this 66-67 school year: 4) to evaluate the old ideas of our school, keep those which are found to still pertain to us, now, and to conceive new ideas to cope with the new problems that have arisen, Nova et Vetera, new and old.

Seniors Stage Legal Walkout

On April 19th the class of '67 staged a walk-out, more commonly referred to as Senior Skip Day.

Although the idea for the skip day itself was not original, the initiative and action taken by the class was unprecedented. By securing permission from the proper authorities, the Seniors rested assured of skipping legally.

But even more important was the fact that the Seniors had the courtesy to ask for this permission. Because they didn't just take it upon themselves to leave school was undoubtedly a reason for the administration's generous cooperation.

For the Seniors, their free day was one to be long remembered. It is hoped that they started not only a yearly tradition but a new means of communication.

PAF Plans Events

The highlight of the Performing Arts Foundation's festival will be the appearance of Eduard Strauss conducting an orchestra of 100 musicians in a free promenade concert on the Liberty Memorial Mall later this month. Strauss is the great-grandnephew of the Viennese composer, Johann Strauss, jr. The date and time of the promenade, which will be opened to the public, are yet to be announced.

This year's festival is to be entitled "A Nineteenth Century Affair." The other two musical events will be a new production of the Offenbach operetta, "Orpheus in the Underworld," May 26, 28, and 30 in the Music Hall and a soiree musicale May 27 at the William Rockhill Nelson Gallery of Art. Attendance at the musicale at the Nelson Gallery will be by invitation to the foundation's contributing sponsors.

The Performing Arts Foundation was established in 1965 with the aims of bringing to Kansas City performances of high artistic standards and developing an annual festival of several performing arts events and finally to create proper housing for all the performing arts in Kansas City.

Seniors Earn Way To College

Each year at this time many colleges and universities award scholarships and grants to high school students who are worthy both scholastically and financially.

Miegians who have received some of these awards include Pam Santee and Mal Nees, partial scholarships to St. Marys college in Xavier, Kansas. Fontbonne College in St. Louis has given Nancy Carr a scholarship and grant. A grant was also given to Mary Hirt from Avila.

Ann Williams was named as alternate for a tuition grant at Mount St. Scholastica College in Atchison and a scholarship to St. Benedicts in Minnesota.

Mike Helvey received a scholarship to the University of Kansas in Lawrence and was a National Merit Scholarship finalist.

Tom Koetting was also a National Merit Scholarship finalist.

Junior Rings

To Be Distributed

Class rings will be distributed to the juniors the last week of school when they will become the senior class of Miego.

The class of '68 is the first class at Miego to receive their class rings at the end of their junior year. Former classes have always received their rings at the beginning of their senior year.

The rings are still the traditional blue sapphire set in a gold band. The name of the school is engraved around the stone and the school crest and mascot and the year are engraved on the sides of the band.

The girls' rings are $21.58 and the boys' are $25. A five dollar deposit was paid when they were ordered and the balance will be due upon receipt of the rings.

You Know Graduation Is Near When. .

- Fewer and fewer seniors come to school.
- The prominent tune in the halls is "We gotta get out of this place."
- When the senior boys start to show their draft cards.
- When the seniors go out and get drunk every nite.
- When you have a term paper done in one nite.
- When the senior girls start showing off their engagement rings.

- When you develop an acute case of senioritis (better known as sheer laziness).
- When half the senior track members end up in Lawrence for the nite.
- When all of the seniors have ten points apiece.
- When non-NHS members start skipping classes.
- When the teachers start coming ten minutes late and leaving twenty minutes early from class.

At last I've graduated, nobody is gonna tell me what to do. . .

Ann Williams Rules at Prom In Park Theme

Ann Williams and Daryl Thies were announced prom queen and king at the Junior-Senior Prom on May 5. The queen's attendants were first Mary Sue O'Connor, second Patty Porter, third Teri Patterson, fourth Barb Latz. Their escorts were Gary Rittenhouse, Joe Dold, John McMillan, and Tom Koob. Ric North presented the queen with a bouquet of yellow roses and the attendants with baskets of daisies.

The mood was set in the theme "Central Park by Moonlight." An old fashioned bandstand was used as a revolving throne. Different sections of the World War II Memorial Building were decorated as a sidewalk cafe, a mall, and a duck pond. Spring was portrayed by the abundant use of colorful flowers.

The Bob Murray orchestra provided the music with Mark and the Marksmen adding some popular music.

Seniors Add To Miege

The Class of '67 has compiled a fine record in its four years at Miege. Contributions to the school by individuals in the class are too numerous to mention, so this article will touch on more general contributions of the Seniors.

In the field of sports, Seniors formed the backbone of the varsity football and basketball teams, both of which enjoyed fine seasons this year.

The student lounge was given its first new coat of paint in four years by members of the Senior class, a service rendered to the entire student body.

The Seniors have always ranked high in the areas of citizenship and school spirit, and this year has proved to be no exception. The Seniors, in their position as leaders of the school, have shown themselves to be one of the most responsible classes ever to attend Miege.

Mystery Book Still Secret

Will it be blue or green, textured or smooth? Who will be the victims of candid attacks?

Tension continues to mount as students and faculty await the yearbook. Mary Sue O'Conner and Maureen Stapleton smile knowingly to the questions asked about the book.

One thing is known. Seniors and faculty will probably receive theirs before graduation. Also, a supplement containing graduation, senior activities, track, and golf will be mailed in June.

Feature Teachers

Every class at Miege has two moderators. It is their job to attend all the class meetings and assist the officers in carrying out class projects. The senior moderators for this year have been Sr. Anna and Mr. Messina.

Sister Anna began teaching chemistry, physical science and math at Miege five years ago. She attended college at Kansas State in Pittsburg and St. Mary's in Xavier in addition to attending several science institutes in various states. Sister currently teaches 3 chemistry and 2 physical science classes. This is Sister Anna's first year as senior moderator. She believes that "this year's senior class is comprised of many wonderful individuals who have great potential for becoming outstanding leaders in the future."

Mr. Messina began his teaching career four years ago at a small school in Sedalia, Missouri where he taught civics, world and American history and an American Problems course. He graduated from Hogan High School and attended Benedicts and Rockhurst Colleges. This is Mr. Messina's first year in the Guidance Office and he wishes to clear up the misconception that he is available solely for matters concerning colleges. He wants the pupils to feel free to see him about any matters that concern them. In August Mr. Messina will complete his Masters Degree in Guidance and Counseling. This is also his first year as a senior moderator and he believes that "The senior class has displayed a great interest in attempting to improve the school and help all students have more pride in Miege by their fine ideas and efforts this past year."

School Year Ends Traditionally

A low hum of voices buzz throughout the school as anxiety mounts. Fidgety students watch the clocks as the endless minutes drag on.

Then suddenly, the dismissal bell rings and swarms of students pour into the halls for the final farewell.

The first stop for every student is the faithful old locker. That locker which underwent kicking and bruising to fulfill its role to its student master. That locker which overheard many a secret. That locker which sometimes needed a helping hand from Harold. Now stands that locker—empty and alone—while its contents are spread carelessly across the floor from one end of the hall to the other.

But there's no more time to dwell upon memories—all head for the annual Parking Lot Rally, complete with the return of the loyal seniors. Now goodbyes and farewells are expressed to all friends and acquaintances who may not be seen again until next year. For the seniors, it is a final farewell for a good many of them. Yearbooks are signed, confetti is thrown, memories are stored.

Cars are loaded up to capacity. Leading the final farewell salute, the seniors start the car procession. As the signal is given, the blaring of horns is begun. Slowly, one by one, the cars fade into the distance, leaving alive behind them many memories of the past school year.

Spring Festival Enchants Students

The Miege choir and glee club sponsored the Spring Festival of music on Wednesday, May 3, in the school auditorium. Dave Lantner and Daryl Thies headed the program committee, while Dianne Sayers and Cathy Doren planned the decorations. Several selections of the choir were "People," "Everything Is Coming Up Roses," and "America Is Calling." The girls' glee sang "Nocturne," "Summertime," and "Shadow of Your Smile."

Several solos were included in the program, also. Betsy Centner, Kathy Centner, and Ann Werder played solos on the piano, and Nan Loftus and Cathy Doren each sang a solo.

Field Day A Success

On May 3, the students of Miego were roaming the campus. The event was Field Day, which is held annually. The day began with inauguration of the newly elected Student Congress officers for the 1967-1968 school year.

Following that, the Student Congress scholastic and service awards for the second semester were presented.

After the awards were presented and the Student Congress officers installed Field Day began. Some events held during the day were tug-of-war, balloon toss, baseball, basketball, and others.

The four classes were hoping to individually win the events. The class who accumulated the most number of points from the contests was declared the winner of Field Day. The classes were then awarded class competition points for their respective finishes.

Besides the contests held during the day, refreshments were served at various locations around the school.

The object of Field Day was to give the students not only a rest from school work, but also to provide a competitive spirit to the classes. This year's Student Congress officers tried to plan events which required participation for a greater number of people rather than individual events. In this way Student Congress hoped to unify the classes.

Baby Picture

"My little boy!" This mother's son will soon walk down the aisle to receive his long awaited diploma. He is probably better known to students of Miego as "Mr. President". His voice has awoken many a student in the morning with a cheerful "I pledge allegiance." More than likely, he awoke more people during sixth hour with a suddenly startling "May I have your attention please". These last few months have found him running vigorously five miles every night.

Stuco Sponsors Open Mixers

The Student Council of Bishop Miego held a mixer the 28th of April in the gym.

The Royal Coachman were contracted for three and half hours and played for a considerable crowd of students from Miego and other area high schools.

The mixer was the first open mixer that has been held all year. Father Sullivan gave his OK on an open mixer with the stipulation that each student from Miego may bring just one outside guest. This type of open mixer proved to be a success and open mixers will probably be on the schedule in next year's activities.

The proceeds from the mixer were given to the Student Council treasury and will be used by the Student Council in the 67-68 school year term.

Seniors In Science

John Mullens, has been selected as runner-up in the 1967 High School Awards Program of the American Chemical Society. John was a runner-up for the Scientific Products Award. John, along with the other winners were honored at a dinner at Rockhurst College, April 11.

Each year the Chemical Education Committee of the Kansas City Section, ACS, sponsors a "Students-in-Industry Day" on which a few local high school students observe the operations of an industrial laboratory. Betsy Centner was chosen to attend and Patti Callihan was the alternate for the event which was held May 3. They were chosen because of their interest in Chemistry as a career.

Senior Places Ninth

Bob Jones, a senior, placed ninth in the Model Home Contest sponsored by the Homebuilders Association. The contest was held for all the schools in the K.C. area; approximately forty to fifty students entered.

The entries were tested on skill in woodworking and design. Tim Ore, a junior received a honorable mention.

IN MEMORIAM

We would like to offer our sympathies to the Shannon family upon the death of Kenny Shannon on April 17. Kenny was the brother of Tom and Barb Shannon, and was an active student at Miego, graduating in the class of '64'. In his years at Miego, Kenny excelled in athletics and was on the debate team for three years.

After graduating from Miego, Kenny attended Maryknoll seminary in Glen Ellyn, Ill. for two years. Following the Seminary, Kenny attended Rockhurst College where he was completing his junior year.

"You know, I don't think Harmon has much ambition!"

WE MAYED IT!

Freshman year has long been recognized as the worst year in high school existence. The Freshman class is usually the one least known and most looked down upon.

However, this undisputed fact did not hold true with the class of '67. History was definitely made when they were Freshmen. As Frosh they opened Senior parties to underclassmen. Not only were they allowed to go to all the mixers, but these newcomers also attended Homecoming. Probably most impressive of all were the many laudable voices heard daily vibrating throughout the halls—most of these belonging to Freshmen.

Sophomore year was the one in which Biology was required. Not much else can be said about that

New Council To Involve All Students

In order to give all the students of Miego an equal opportunity to be involved in the running of the school, an All School Council has been formed with Mr. Frazier as the chairman. The purpose of the Council is to evaluate the present school policy and to discuss improvements and changes. The Council will consist of eight students, two from each class, four teachers, and four parents.

The Council is well under way. At class meetings on April 7, students signed up for committees which met and discussed various areas of school life. The committees then submitted recommendations on the subject they discussed and also nominated one person from their group to attend the All School Council. During homeroom on April 21, these people were voted on, and the two students from each class who received the most votes will attend the council.

The reports handed in by the committees will be read and discussed by the Council and finally voted upon. Father Sullivan will have the right to veto the vote if he believes it is necessary.

Junior year, however, was a much busier nine months. Along with more active participation in student government, planning and preparing Prom for the Seniors and more dates, came the realization of a new maturity and the responsibilities which came with it. Senior parties were still crashed however.

And finally Senior year is almost over and graduation is near. The trip to Atchison, Senior Skip Day, the Senior Hootenany and Senior Prom are memories which we all can share and will long remember.

What more can be expressed other than our thanks and our gratitude for these last four years?

The answer to the baby picture is John Silady.

Schools In The Spotlight

During the month of May, Sunset high school will take part in an Old English celebration of May Day and the whole school participates in a field day. The junior-senior Prom held in the middle of May will be at Sunset with the music of the Guardsman. Graduation is June 9 and the Senior Prom will be June 10 at Kansas City Country Club with music by the Emeralds. Senior Jan Larkin has been accepted at Stanford and Ellen Kirwan at Colorado University.

May 4 is prom night at Shawnee Mission North and the theme is that of the Roaring 20's. Graduation will take place June 3.

Pem-Day's Tommy Watson, who was a medalist at last year's regional, heads this year's golf team. Tom was the only area golfer to break 70. Allen Present and Drew Mitchell are also playing again this year. Kirk Gates, who won the Missouri State doubles along with his brother Lathrop in 1965, and Danny Dow are the top boys on Pem-Day tennis squad.

Patty Callihan, Jeanne Craig, and Bill Weiss review their speech book in preparation for the speech meet.

Students To Compete In State Speech Meet

Patty Callihan, Bill Weiss, and Jeanne Craig will travel to Kansas University in Lawrence to participate in the State Speech meet May 15. Each of these students received a one rating at the district meet at Emporia and because of this are eligible to travel to state.

Bill Weiss is attending state for the second year. Last year he received a one rating and a medal.

Other students who went to district but didn't receive one ratings were Nancy Tipton and Sharon Dalton.

Cagers Receive Honors

The Miego varsity basketball team was honored at the basketball dinner on March 30. The Gold Buffet restaurant was the scene of the annual event.

Guest speakers at the dinner were Dolar Rehm, head basketball coach of Rockhurst college, Dave Martin, Miego alumnus and Notre Dame football star, and Gene Hart, athletic director of Rockhurst college.

Especially honored was coach Gerry Gannon for a coaching job well done. Coach Gannon awarded the school letter to the 12 members of the team.

Special recognition also went to co-captains John McMillen and Joe Dold for their record breaking performances in their three years of varsity play. McMillen and Dold each broke five school records. The team as a whole broke ten school records and ended the season with a 15-7 record.

TRACK TAKES OVER

Miego got its first taste of interscholastic track this year on Saturday, March 25, at the State Indoor Track Meet held in Manhattan. Tom Koob set the record for the 60 yard dash with a time of 6.4 seconds. 34 schools competed at this meet.

At the Washington Dual meet held on Tuesday, April 4, Miego fell in defeat to Washington's track men by a score of 76-64. Tom Koob took first in the 100 yard dash and 200 along with second place in the high jump. Junior Rich Cain, who took third in the 100 yard dash, also brought in both firsts in the shot and discus. Tom Novick also showed great effort in this meet by clinching first place in the 880 yard run. In the 880 and mile relays, the Stags also took firsts.

At the Ottawa Relays Miego gained a total of 18 points to take seventh place out of 13 schools. Miego took second in the 880 relay and third in the medley relay.

SPORTS REVIEW

The 1966 football season, though long past, is well remembered by Miegians. Our Stags ended the season with a 4-4-1 record and always gave the fans their money's worth in excitement and spirited play.

The team started the season in winning fashion by beating St. Pius, 28-7, in the first game of the season. They followed this win by blasting Argentine, 34-0, and by holding a tough Turner team to a scoreless tie.

The tide turned in the next three games as the Stags fell in defeat at the hands of Rockhurst, 40-0; Helias, 20-7; and DeLaSalle, 13-6. This losing streak ended with 13-0 defeat of Rosedale and a 30-7 Homecoming victory over Hayden.

Miego ended the season with a 30-0 loss to top-rated Ward.

When looking back over the achievements of this past year one can't forget the Stag B-ball team who gave Miego the best win-lose record in history.

The Stags opened the season with a style which was to be seen some 15 times in all, knocking off Argentine, Rosedale and Truman. Then on December 16 came the first of that short list of seven defeats. It came at the hands of Sumner, but the Stags left for the Christmas Tournament in high spirits after downing St. Pius.

LINKERS LOOK GOOD

The Miego golf team got off on the right track in the new season by defeating the Van Horn Falcons, 156-160. The meet was held April 7, and took place at the Rockwood Country Club. Low point men for Miego were Jim Myers with 37; Dennis Hallier, 38; Bob Chatterton, 39; and Terry McGill and John Miller with 42's. Other participants of the golf team include Tom Glesner, Mark Gorman, Steve Davis, Pat North, Paul Willey, Pat Fitzgerald, and Tom Arnold.

Others on the list of Miego opponents are Rockhurst, Southwest, Pem Day, Shawnee Mission East, and De La Salle. Coaches Hennier and Dickey have also arranged for the Stag golfers to participate in the Shawnee Mission Invitational and the State Tournament.

Coaches Hennier and Dickey have also arranged for the Stag golfers to participate in the Shawnee Mission Invitational and the State Tournament. All meets, except the one with Van Horn, were scheduled after the Miegian's deadline.

In the tournament the Stag's team placed third, losing only to Paseo after crushing Southwest and Van Horn.

Coming home they received a poor welcome, being defeated by both Turner and DeLaSalle. Then the Stags got down to business knocking off Hogan, Olathe, St. Joseph and Argentine, before being stopped by Rockhurst. Ward also put the Stags down.

But Miego didn't let down. Southeast, Pem-Day, and Van Horn fell victim to the Stags who then swept to third place in the Regionals before Sumner put the brakes on with a 70-68 victory.

So ended the 66-67 basketball season, the best in history. A proud 15-7 adorns the record books.

Miego Holds Invitational

At the Bishop Miego Invitational held Friday, April 7, Rockhurst took first place in competition against four other teams. Rockhurst came up with their 78 winning points while Ward and Miego brought in 65½ points apiece to tie for second place. The Miego-Ward battle gained most of the interest of Friday's meet. Miego and Ward both took two first places in this meet. Other schools attending this meet were Argentine, coming in third with 42 points, and Rosedale with 26 points. Two Miego records were broken, one in the 220 and one in the 880 yard relay.

PLANE "PAIN"

Let Sequal Put An End To Your Fabrication "Pains," Too

On most any airline, in any part of the world, when you see an aisle serving cart odds are it's a Sequal. Tidy up in a Convair 880 and chances are the wash basin is a Sequal assembly, too.

We delight in easing any manufacturing "pain".
A phone call or letter could be a happy "Sequal" to your manufacturing needs.

Compliments of
Mr. and Mrs. John H. Raidl, Jr.

This is to ~~one~~ hell of a good guy. You know it's been fun this year but I am always glad when they opened the doors for us on Summer vacation time and let us out of this Dam place aren't you? I am not very good at writing so all I can say is have one hell of a Summer mark and stay out of trouble with the girls.

P.S. maybe we will get together this summer and do some fishing.

From one has ~~that~~ been.
